A. F. L. PROTESTS INJUNCTION

Officials Declare Order Vilates Rights of Union Labor
—To Support Miners

Protest Fails to Change Government's Attitude—Right
to Strike Not Involved

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Officials of the American Federation of Labor protested to Attorney General Palmer today against the action of the government in obtaining an injunction in the coal strike.

Samuel Gompers, president of the federation, did not accompany the delegation, but an engagement was made for him to see the attorney general tomorrow in the day.

The federation officials declared the injunction violated the rights of union labor and indicated that the coal miners would have their support in any fight brought to dissolve the injunction. Mr. Palmer reiterated that the government was proceeding solely against one union which, he declared, was trying to violate the law. He said
the right to strike was not involved.

It is understood that there will be no change in the policy of the government as a result of the representations of

PERSHING FOR ARMY OF 275,000

Disagrees With War Dept.
Recommendations For Permanent Army of 500,000

Also Favors a "Trained Citizen Reserve" To Back Regulars

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Disagreeing with war department recommendations for a permanent army of 500,000 men, General John Pershing today told a joint meeting of the senate and house military committees that he thought the number could be placed at "an outside figure of 275,000 to 300,000 and possibly less."

The cost of maintaining a large army, the general said, was an element which in his opinion would make it impracticable to set the figure any higher.

The general said the regulars should be sufficient to protect the nation against sudden attack and to meet America's international obligations both on the American continent and elsewhere, and that this should be backed by a "trained citizen reserve."

The general made a plea that the nation keep abreast of other countries in development of the air service and said it also was essential that the transport corps, nurse corps and tank corps be made adequate. He thought the number of officers of high rank provided for in pending legislation was "rather excessive."

Federal Judge Commands Coal Miners' Union Officials to Cease Strike Activities

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 31.—A temporary injunction restraining all strike activities of the United Mine Workers of America, was issued in the federal district court here today on application of the United States government. Judge A. B. Anderson signed the order on the showing set forth by C. B. Ames, assistant attorney general, that a national disaster was impending and on the broad general grounds that the government has the right to enforce its laws and protect its people from calamity.

EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY

The order was directed against Frank G. Hayes, the incapacitated president of the union; John L. Lewis, acting president; William Green, secretary-treasurer, and all other officials of the organization. It took effect when served, and will continue in force until after the formal hearing which Judge Anderson set for Nov. 8.

Service was had on Lewis, Green and several other union officials and members of the executive board at union headquarters a few minutes before noon. This was a little more than an hour after Judge Anderson signed the order.

In presenting the petition, Judge
Ames made it clear that the case will not involve the general right of workmen to organize or quit work. He said it would have no bearing on other industries and "merely involves the right of labor during the war to restrict or destroy the supply of food and fuel."

"It rests," he added, "on the broad general powers of the government to enforce its laws and to protect its people against disaster."
Under the order, the union officials are forbidden to send out any other orders, written or oral, tending to promote the strike or in any way make it effective.

COMPARING CHARTERS

Report by Board of Trade
Charter Committee—Summary of Plan B

Messrs. Francis M. Qua, Richard Brabrook Walsh and Frederick S. Harvey were appointed by the board of trade to compare the provisions of the present charter with those of Plan B. They have done so and their report has already been summarized in The Sun. The board, however, requests that further publicity should be given the report in order that the voters may get clear ideas of both charters before going to the polls next Tuesday.

As most people who are interested in the subject are already familiar with the present charter, the summary of Plan B is here printed for the information of the public.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

I. Elections

1. Primaries: No Primary. Candidates nominated by petition signed by two voters for each hundred votes cast at last election in district in which candidate is to stand, but in no case by less than fifty nor more than one thousand voters.

II. Contracts

1. Contracts are made by department heads. Contracts involving more than $200 must be in writing and must be approved by the mayor and by the department making the same.

2. Contracts for construction work or the purchase of supplies exceeding $200, except in cases of emergency, can only be awarded after public advertisement.

3. Participation by members of city government, officers, or employees, in any contract with the city renders such contract voidable by the city and is a criminal offense, but ownership of not more than 5% of the stock of a corporation making a contract with the city is not held to be "participation" therein.

4. Officials not forbidden to exceed their appropriations.

III. Initiative

1. On petition of 20% of whole number of registered voters, the city council must submit measure proposed to the people at a special election.

2. On petition of less than 20% but more than 5% of whole number of registered voters, the city council must submit measure proposed to the people at the next regular election.

3. If a measure so proposed is adopted by the people, it becomes a law.

IV. Referendum

1. On petition of at least 12 per cent of whole number of registered voters, within 20 days after the final passage of any measure, such measure must be submitted to the people, either at a special election or at the next regular election.

2. The city council or the school committee may, of its own motion, submit any measure to the people.

V. Recall

No corresponding provision.

STRUCTURE OF GOVERNMENT

I. Mayor

1. Election: By and from the qualified voters of the city.

2. Term: Two years.

3. Salary: To be determined by city council, not to exceed $5000 per year.

4. Powers and duties: The mayor is the chief executive officer of the city. He has the power, subject to the approval of the city council, to appoint all heads of departments and members of boards (except the city clerk who is appointed by the city council). He also, subject to the approval of the city council, may remove the same officers. He has a veto of legislative acts of the city council. He is not the head of any particular department and he does not sit as a member of the city council. He may, however, attend meetings and speak, and he must attend and answer questions either personally or by some officer designated for the purpose, if requested.

5. Vacancy:

(a) In case of temporary disability of mayor, the president of the city council shall act as mayor, but "shall possess the powers of mayor only in matters not admitting of delay," and "shall have no power to make permanent appointments."

(b) In case a vacancy in the office of mayor occurs before the last six months of the term of office, the city council shall order a special election. If such vacancy occurs during the last six months of the term of office, the president of the city council serves for the remainder of the term.

6. No recall.

II. City Council

1. Election: Composed of 15 members, one member elected by and from the qualified voters of each of the nine wards, and six members elected at large by and from the qualified voters of the city.

2. Term: Each member is elected for the term of two years, except that at the first election, following the adoption of "Plan B," the nine ward representatives are to be elected for terms of one year each, so that in succeeding years the elections will alternate, the nine ward representatives being chosen one year and the six members at large the next.

3. Salary: To be determined by a two-thirds vote of the city council itself, taken on a roll call, but not to exceed $500 per year for each member.

4. Powers and duties:

(a) The city council is simply the legislative body of the city. Its members are not in charge of particular departments of the government and it has no administrative functions, except concurrence in the appointment and removal of officials.

(b) All legislative sessions of the city council must be public.

(c) No yeas and nays vote called for on votes involving over $50 as in present charter.

(d) The city council by two-thirds vote may pass any measure over the mayor's veto.

(e) Every proposed ordinance or local order, except in cases of emergency so declared by two-thirds of the members of the city council, shall be published in a newspaper at least ten days before its passage, and shall be so published, as amended and completed, after its passage. No ordinance granting a franchise shall be passed as an emergency measure.

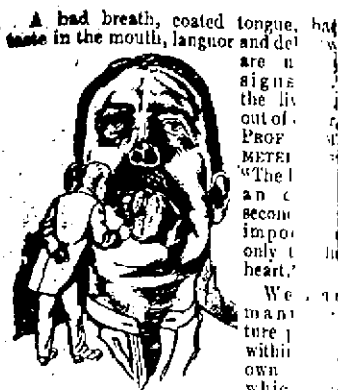

5. Vacancies: In case a vacancy occurs in the city council before the last six months of the term of office, the city council shall order a special election.

6. No recall provision.

III. Heads of Departments

1. Appointment: By the mayor, subject to confirmation by the city council, except that the city solicitor is appointed by the mayor alone. The city clerk is elected by the city council.

2. Terms: Not specified in the act.

INTERNAL REVENUE MEN ENFORCING DRY LAW

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—"The purpose of this office is to see that the law is not violated," said Acting Collector of Internal Revenue Andrew J. Casey, addressing the force of field deputies this morning as they were starting upon their second day's duties in the enforcement of the prohibition enforcement act. "I want you to handle this law the same as any other law, treating all alike. The 'big fellow' will receive no more consideration than the smallest dealer and you will not have to show favors to any one."

Mr. Casey reminded the deputies that their duties were established by the law and asserted that he would stand behind them in every way to see that the act was enforced in every detail. "From information reaching this office," continued the collector, "I have every reason to believe that manufacturers and dealers are complying with the new conditions."

Before starting out the first day the deputies were instructed in the law by Attorney Frank Lynch, head of the

EQUAL REPRESENTATION OF MEN AND WOMEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Equal representation for men and women in international councils as well as national legislatures promises to be one of the first requests to be made by the international congress of working women to the international labor conference.

A special committee of the congress today had under consideration a resolution offered by Mme. Jeanne Bouvier, a French delegate, requesting that the international labor conference permit women to be equally represented with men in all future meetings of the conference.

ADMIT DELEGATES OF FORMER ENEMIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Having decided to admit the representatives of Germany and Austria on an equality with those of other nations, the international labor conference was called on today to decide the question of granting seats in the gathering to delegates from Mexico and Finland.

Motions to give representation to both of these nations which are not named in the annex to the Versailles treaty as members of the League of Nations, were introduced late yesterday, but went over under the rules until today.

Decision to admit the representatives of the late enemy powers was reached

AVIATOR KILLED

Crashed to Death Into Side of Mountain

DOVER, N. J., Oct. 31.—John P. Charlton, piloting the air mail from Chalfonte, Penn., drove through a heavy fog and crashed to his death into the side of Schooley's mountain near here yesterday. His machine was a total wreck and Charlton was dead when help arrived on the scene.

Long Valley farmers heard the humming motor of the plane, about 500 feet up. They thought the aviator was seeking a landing place. When the sound of the engine suddenly stopped, a hunt for him was started.

FIVE STATES TO ELECT GOVERNORS NOV. 4

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Five states—Massachusetts, New Jersey, Virginia, Maryland and Mississippi—will elect governors at the "off year" elections next Tuesday, Nov. 4. A congressional election will be held in the Fifth district of Oklahoma on Nov. 3, where a successor is to be chosen to the late Representative Joseph B. Thompson.

Prohibition is the chief issue in Ohio, where the voters will pass upon two amendments and two referendums on the subject. The referendums relate to the legislative ratification of the federal prohibition amendment and the prohibition enforcement act passed by the last legislature. The amendments propose that 2 1/2 per cent liquor shall not be defined as intoxicating and that constitutional state-wide prohibition be repealed. Kentucky also votes on the question of state-wide prohibition.

Massachusetts, New Jersey, Kentucky and Maryland will elect new members of the legislature. New York will vote for members of the state assembly and justices of the state supreme HOFF'S FANCY OVERCOATINGS guaranteed all wool, colors in browns, greys, olives and green with a mixture of brown drab. These goods should have been on my tables six weeks ago. I only had a few pieces from an early shipment owing to conditions of the present day demand on mill product. I just received the balance, 12 pieces, about 400 yards, and I am going to sell them at a price, Today and Saturday, that will astonish Lowell's Clothing Buyers. Grab this special offering while the picking is good.

Hoff's Fancy Overcoatings,
All Wool, Made Any Style, $40 to $50 Value, Tailored to order for $30.00

Why hesitate? All around you is evidence of what clothing prices are; stores think nothing of asking $40, $50, $60 and up for ready mades, and they've got to do it the way the wholesale market is—a man can blow a month's salary for a suit of clothes, and yet I am continuing my offer of a suit or overcoat to measure for $27.50. But this offer lasts only as long as my stock of fabrics lasts. The woollens I talk about were bought months ago when the woolen market dropped temporarily, in quantities direct from mills and commission houses, cash buying, and cash selling. No charge accounts, no middleman's profit, and doing the biggest custom tailoring business in New England north of Boston, enable you to save $5.00 to $15.00 on Mitchell's tailored clothes.

MODEL OVERCOATS

Some made for window display models, others made in the dull season to keep help going. If I have your size you can save a $10.00 spot.

soldier that all may know that a grateful nation knew and appreciated who won the war.

The Lodge Secretary

P.G. John Orrell, secretary of the lodge, was the next speaker. Mr. Orrell said he was proud to be able to welcome back the men who had done their bit when Uncle Sam called, and added that the principles for which they had been ready to give their lives "over there" must not be allowed to become forgotten "over here" in the days to come. We must all do our share in the battle against anarchism and Bolshevism, the speaker said, and he knew that the boys who had fought for democracy in the trenches of France would wage a winning fight against the enemies of liberty in America.

Mayor Thompson Speaks

Mayor Thompson, the next speaker, said he considered it a great privilege to be present and participate in welcoming home the service men of the lodge. "I am going to give now the first military order I have ever given," declared His Honor, smilingly, to the boys who had fled out in front of the speaker's dias when he commenced to speak, and who were standing as erect as though undergoing inspection. "At ease!" ordered the mayor, and the boys fell into a more restful position.

Mayor Thompson then told of the work the women of the city had done while their brothers, husbands and sweethearts were fighting across the sea. "We were with you in spirit while you were away," he said to the line of khaki-clad men facing him. "We prayed for you night and day. And we were mighty proud of the work you were doing over there, and mighty proud and glad to have you return to us again."

"There is a great work ahead of you over here, too. The lodge of which you are members asks that you help to spread its teachings—friendship, love and truth—among your fellowmen wherever you may be, and this I know you will do. If we do this, there is no Bolshevism we may fear, and the boys who fought their battles overseas will not have fought in vain. I am proud to be mayor of a city which can produce such men as you."

duce such men as you."

Mayor Thompson then presented a handsome military medal to each of the service men, and expressed his regret that the remainder of the score of men who represented the lodge in the war were unable to be present.

Rev. N. W. Matthews

Rev. Mr. Matthews was the final speaker and told several interesting stories of the Boer war, some pathetic and others with a generous sprinkling of humor. He referred to the proposed League of Nations, and said that if we needed a league to keep the world at peace while our boys were in the mud of France and Flanders we surely needed it as much as ever now.

Interspersed with the remarks of the speakers were several enjoyable musical selections, given by well known local artists, including Commissioner James E. Donnelly, Brother Harry Leavitt, Mrs. Charles Young, R. Livingston, Messrs. Boutellier and Vennard and Bertram Neid.

The Honor Roll

The committee in charge was: James Smith, P.P.G.M., chairman; P.G. John W. Foster, secretary; P.G. Willis H. Rowles, P.G. A. J. Willis, William Mack, G.M. Richard Holden, Fred Chapman, Harry Leavitt and Harry Stack.

The medal given the service men was heart shaped, suspended from a bar bearing the three links of Odd Fellowship, by a red, white and blue ribbon. On the medal were the words, "To our brave and gallant brothers. Allied Service," and besides bore the lodge symbols and the flags of the allies.

VANITY BAGS FOR MEN

Sprinkle a Little Perfume
on Your Money To Protect It

BY RICHARD SPILLANE

Staff Writer on Business and Finance
Some capacious persons say mean things about the habit women have of carrying vanity bags in which they store perfumes and powders and other aids or supposed aids to beauty.

If they but knew it these vanity bags have virtues beyond the design of their fashioners.

For example: There came to Atlantic City the other day a lady who had as many jewels as the Queen of Sheba and who oozed money. Wherever she went she sparkled.

The second or third day after her arrival she thought she wanted a few trifles so she stuffed a lot of bills into her shopping bag along with her vanity kit and other things and got into a roller chair and had one of the obliging gentlemen who push chairs propel her along the board-walk. She stopped at various shops and made purchases. In course of time she had all the articles she desired and was wheeled back to her hotel. Some hours later she looked for her shopping bag for she wanted something in her vanity box. The bag was gone.

A hunt was made to find the wheel chair and the proprietor of the chair. He was discovered and in the chair the shopping bag reposed but the lady upon opening it declared some of her money had disappeared.

Police Captain Lippman "frisked" the chairman. He had considerable wealth. It was his own, he declared. The captain put some of the bills to his nose.

He got the scent of frankincense myrrh and various perfumes. The captain says the chair pusher confessed.

PROTEINS BUILD AND REPAIR BODY

BY HONORA COSTIGAN

The food which really makes us grow and which is converted through the process of digestion into living matter is protein.

Proteins are combinations of carbon, oxygen and hydrogen with the addition of nitrogen, sulphur, phosphorus, and other elements which are present in various amounts.

Proteins form a most important class of foods, and are very necessary for growing children. They are the bricks and mortar, or the boards and nails which build the human house.

Protein substance is added to protein substance, cell to cell until the body reaches its full growth. You can't build a very large or useful house without building materials; neither can you build a large and useful body without plenty of protein.

Protein not only builds up the body, but performs the same service to it that the repair man offers the automobile.

Proteins add to the body, and make it stronger and more useful. They also repair the parts of the body which have been used up or worn out.

Protein repairs these parts automatically. Automobiles have not been perfected to that extent, therefore, in having a body which supplies automatically the substances which have been used up or worn out we may say that we possess a most remarkable machine.

The white of egg is an example of protein. Protein is also found in large amounts in milk, meat, fish, grains, plants and in foods made from milk, as cheese and butter. Gelatin also is protein.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come:

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

If you want to know how one man made $5000 a year, go and see the novelty comedy of the same name at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week. It is presented by a very competent company, with Robert Hyman, Virginia Mann and Francis Morley. A laugh-making pair, Frank Kollman and Kitty O'Dare, who are without peers in their particular line, are on this bill, and also Clark in "Columbia and Victory," are specially good in a novelty act. The Sterling Saxophone Four pour forth good music. Others on this delightful bill are Worden Brothers, Maryn and Florence and the Althoff Sisters.

OPERA HOUSE

Of the many excellent characterizations given by the Lowell Players this week in the dramatic hit, "A Woman at Bay," which has been met with such general approval by patrons, is the characterization of the detective by Jack Bennett. We have seen him in many good parts, but this week's efforts are several degrees above any of his past endeavors. Miss Margaretie Fields and John Meehan, the former as "Vanity," the woman at bay, and Mr. Meehan as the upstanding and generous husband, are both excellent, while the other roles are in entirely capable hands. The staging of the play is done with the same care and finish as all others that have been handled by J. Francis Kirk. Order your tickets immediately for the remaining performances.

Next week's production is to be that humorous, rollicking, high-grade comedy, "Here Comes the Bride," in which Miss Fields and Mr. Meehan will be seen in their best comedy parts. And that's saying a good deal after considering what triumphs they have scored up to date. Place your name on the subscription list.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. Can you tell me the number of cases of diabetes in the United States, and the number in each state?

A. It is practically impossible to give you information concerning the number of cases of diabetes that there are in the United States at the present time. The nearest approach to such information is that contained in the mortality reports published by the United States census bureau. According to this there were, in 1904 (the latest year for which figures are available), 12,193 deaths from diabetes in the United States registration area. These were quite generally distributed throughout the country as you can see by consulting the various tables published by the census bureau.

Q. What is lumbago and how can it be cured?

A. The condition known as lumbago is a form of muscular rheumatism involving the muscles of the back. The cause of this condition has not clearly been determined, but attacks of lumbago are brought about by exposure to cold, damp and wet, and especially to drafts of cold air. In the chronic form of this trouble changes in the weather appear to have definite relations to the attacks.

Cases are also met with in which gout appears to be an underlying cause. The painful condition is usually treated best by the application of dry heat. An efficient home remedy consists in having the patient lie with his face down, covering the back with a dozen or more thicknesses of newspaper and then repeatedly passing a hot iron over the paper.

MORE HOUSES REQUIRED ALL OVER COUNTRY

There is dire need for more houses, more apartments, more buildings of all kinds, says Building Age, New York. From villages, towns and cities all over the country comes the cry for more building.

In response to this urgent demand, various plans have been advanced for the stimulation of building. Perhaps one which has received wider approval than any of the others is the proposal to exempt buildings erected now from taxation for various terms of years, usually five to seven. This proposal is an artificial stimulant, a stimulant which has little to recommend it. It will probably cause more buildings to be erected. But many of these buildings would have been erected, exemption or no exemption. Furthermore, exemption from taxation of one class of capital will only throw a heavier burden on the rest. If building is exempted, this does not mean that the revenue will not go to the government, but only that an equivalent amount of taxes must be secured from some other source. Taxation is high, and an even rather than an uneven distribution of the burden is the desirable thing.

The trouble with building is the very same trouble that is causing high prices and slackened production all over the country. Sugar coating the trouble will not remove it; any remedy that will do good must strike at the very heart of the reason for lack of sufficient building. That trouble is high prices of materials, high prices of labor, and uncertainty as to when labor will take it into its head to strike, illegally or otherwise.

A man gets paid for what he does. If he lays 1500 bricks a day, he may get $5. If he lays 1000 and gets $10, that does not mean that he is $4 the gainer. No, indeed; the extra cost is lacked on to the building, his rent goes up to meet the cost of new construction, workmen in other industries follow his tactics, and he pays more for his food, his clothing, his pleasures, and he has no more than when he was getting $5, except perhaps temporarily. The amount of money he receives is greater, its purchasing power is proportionately less. But let that man getting $5 a day lay 2000 brick instead of 1500, and the building goes up more quickly. Prices are lower, other industries speed up—food, clothing and rent come down due to the lower cost per unit. And more men are employed. The bricklayer can afford to buy more clothing, more food, more necessities, because prices are lower, and his surplus will go into savings and into luxuries that will make his life happier and his family more comfortable. Curtailment of production means high cost and lessening demand, a lessening demand that throws men out of work instead of creating more jobs.

And that is where the trouble lies—strikes and lessened production. No temporary expedient will serve to better the building situation. Any remedy that will do real and permanent good must go to the very heart of the cause of high material prices and high labor cost, not only in this industry, but in other industries also.

High wages, yes—but greater production, a production that will keep prices low in spite of the high wages paid.

PAGE THE BUG THAT EATS THE BUG THAT EATS THE ORANGES!

(N.E.A. Special to The Sun)
CAPE TOWN.—Not all the American scientists in Africa are members of the Smithsonian expedition.

The state of California has sent one over here to make investigations that will increase the production of California orange groves.

He is F. W. Rust, state entomologist, of Sacramento. His job is to find a bug that will eat the bug that eats the oranges.

Rust, who formerly was government entomologist in Peru, came over on the same boat that brought the Smithsonian expedition.

The bug that makes a meal of orange parasites is known to exist in South Africa, Rust says. His big job will be to transport a live colony of them back to California. He expects to begin sending his first specimens shortly, but he will remain here a year or more engaged in extended studies of bug and insect life that may be beneficial to general fruit and agricultural production in California.

POLICE STRIKERS

APPEAL TO COURT

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Contending that Commissioner Curtis has violated a law of the commonwealth of Massachusetts in attempting "to coerce or compel a person into a written or oral agreement not to join or become a member of a labor organization as a condition of his securing employment or continuing in employment," the 19 discharged members of the Boston Police union, through their attorneys, have petitioned the supreme judicial court for a writ of mandamus that would compel Commissioner Curtis to restore them to their positions.

The petitioners contend that in their discharge for the alleged violation of rule 35 the commissioner exceeded his authority to make all needful rules and regulations for the conduct of the department. The writ is returnable Nov. 11.

The petitioners point out that at the hearings, after which they were discharged, they admitted the facts in the complaint; that is, that they were members of the American Federation of Labor, which is an organization outside the police department of the city of Boston. The petitioners assert, however, that section 19 of rule 35 is "derogative to the fundamental rights and violative of the constitutional protection afforded by the bill of rights of this commonwealth and the constitution of the United States and the amendments thereto."

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE
NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

Weak, thin people—men or women—are nearly always nervous wrecks; thus conclusively proving that thinness, weakness, debility and neurasthenia are almost invariably due to nerve starvation. Feed your nerves and all these symptoms due to nerve starvation will disappear.

Scientific specialists state that one of the best things for the nerves is an organic phosphate known among druggists as Bitro-phosphate, a five-grain tablet of which should be taken with each meal. Being a genuine nerve builder and not a stimulant or habit-forming drug Bitro-phosphate can be safely taken by the weakest and most delicate sufferer, and the results following its use are often simply astonishing.

By strengthening the nerves, weak, thin people regain energy and vigor; thinness and angularity give way to plumpness and curves; sleep returns to the sleeper; confidence and cheerfulness replace debility and gloom; dull eyes become bright and pink, sunken cheeks regain the pale glow of health.

CAUTION—Bitro-phosphate, the use of which is inexpensive, also wonderfully promotes the assimilation of food, so much so that many people report marked gains of weight in a few weeks. Those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh, should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.—Adv.

SAUNDERS MARKET CO.
OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Under the new management of Mr. Cecil Keith, Saunders Market company opened its doors to overwhelming crowds of eager buyers at 9 o'clock this morning and certainly showed early signs of living up to its policy of doing a bigger business in a better way.

The entire store has been completely renovated and repainted and a new and brighter lighting system installed. Several energetic and courteous salesmen have been added to the sales force in order to cope with the bigger business.

A very pretty musical program was rendered by Miner-Doyle's orchestra throughout the day, so that it was a common sight to see some of the younger purchasers dancing merrily from one attractive department to the other.

Mr. Keith, the manager, has been in business in Nebraska for 20 years and is in a position to capably supervise this market and see that everyone receives good service and satisfaction.

The fruit, cooked meat, cracker and cereal, butter and egg, and tea and coffee departments are all in the front of the store. In the center will be found the roast beef and fresh shoulder specials, while steaks and chops can be seen just inside the entrance. The vegetable department is in the center with the groceries over on the right. All of these various departments may be easily located by signs which hang over them. Last but not least, the remodeled fish department in the rear of the store, where one has a choice selection of delicious seafood to choose from.

LEATHER IS THE NEWEST DRESS MATERIAL

The very latest thing in the way of dress trimming is leather. Sometimes it is used as outside facings as in the case of cuffs, outside pockets and collars. It is used as piping and is most effective. It is pierced in an all over pattern and is fashioned into whole suits. This latter does not seem so astonishing in these days of leather motor coats.

TO MEND CURTAINS
In making new window curtains of any material always save the scraps for mending. When curtains are torn, take scraps of the same material, or material as nearly like as possible, dip in thin starch, and paste it over the rent while wet. Iron the patch on instead of sewing it. ORIENTAL TRADE PRIZE

Slipping From American Hands for Lack of Pacific Passenger Ships

BY JACK JUNGMYER
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—Shortage of passenger vessels on the Pacific is seriously hampering American trade expansion in the Orient at its most critical stage.

petition the richest commercial prize in the world today.

And this concerns not alone, not even primarily, the west coast, but must affect the factory worker, the shipper and the consumer of Ohio, New York and Massachusetts as well as those of California, Washington and Oregon.

Touching Pacific ports there are now 27 passenger ships.

Of this number but three are American owned—running on a 28-day schedule from San Francisco to the Orient.

At present, and for the past six months, one in every three prospective passengers has had to be turned away for lack of berths.

Of 12,000 applicants—suplicants, rather, for large bonuses are constantly being offered for any kind of room

—783 have been accommodated, after a fashion.

Every berth, even cot space, has been sold out up to and including next March.

These applicants are the men on whose efforts and pioneering capacity our national trade expansion in China, Japan and the far east depends. Few of them are mere tourists.

The only immediate relief, and immediate relief is essential if the United States is to keep its "new front door" from rusting on its hinges, lies in allocating to the west coast vessels now under construction by the shipping board.

Twelve of the new "535" type are being built in the New York ship plant, the first to be completed about April 1. Shippers trying to clinch their precarious hold in the Orient and to expand, as well as trade experts studying world markets and America's competitive problems, contend that at least seven of the twelve "535" passenger boats should be allocated to the Pacific.

To date the shipping board has not assigned a single passenger vessel to the Pacific coast.

They ask this not as a favor, but as a just distribution and on the ground of national urgency.

That would mean a 10-day schedule to the Orient as against the present 28-day schedule maintained by the three American owned packets, and a somewhat shorter one by Japanese and British competing lines.

The American owned ships are obsolete, slow and of restricted cargo space as compared to the 8000-ton, 18-knot "535s" with their 610 passenger capacity.

Meantime Japan, running three lines and 17 passenger boats to west coast ports, is rapidly clinching the commercial supremacy of the Pacific which she has gone far to establish.

She is taking adequate care of her interests, helping her nationals realize the place in the commercial sun which she has visioned. Thousands of Americans are compelled to use the Japanese lines, for lack of other accommodations, thus helping America's only formidable competitor on the Pacific.

Freight tonnage is regarded by American shippers as somewhere near adequate, but commercial expansion in the far east depends, more than in any other quarter of the globe, on the salesmanship and personal cultivation of our trade pioneers. And, under present conditions, they must wait with folded hands, while other nations are striking root in the rich fields of the far east.

The situation is generally regarded, not alone by the west, but by a large section of the country, as having reached that stage where a few passenger ships more or less on the Pacific now may turn the entire tide of American development for the next generation.

Ben Keaveney, the Lawrence referee, and Fred Jean had it again in Fall River last night.

The New Bedford Whalers, who trimmed Lowell here, the other night, are now in first place. The team will be a hard one to overcome, but several of the other clubs are confident of leading the procession before the season is over.

JURY DISAGREES IN AUTO ACCIDENT CASE

The jury in the triple action of tort brought by John A. Saba, administrator for the estate of Asber Saba and Ruth and John Paul vs. Ames Best, which was started at the civil session of the superior court in this city last Tuesday, this morning returned a disagreement. In this case the ad damnum was for $20,000. Mr. Saba suing for $10,000 for the death of his son, while Ruth and John Paul were endeavoring to recover $10,000 for alleged injuries received by Ruth. The case was a result of an automobile accident on the Lowell-Lawrence boulevard, when a jitney owned and operated by Mr. Best crashed into a fence and went over an embankment.

The next case to go to trial was an action of tort against the Boston & Maine railroad in the sum of $14,000 brought by Isabelle Turnbull of Haverhill, administratrix for the estate of William B. Turnbull, deceased. In an endeavor to recover for the death of her husband, which she claims occurred as a result of a railroad accident at Prospect Hill crossing, Somerville, December 12, 1914.

LAFAYETTE CLUB HAS HALLOWEEN PARTY

Another of those enjoyable socials under the auspices of Club Lafayette was held last evening in the club's quarters in upper Merrimack street, probably the last to be conducted in the present quarters, for the club expects to move into its new quarters in the old Bowers castle in Wampanoag street some time next month, and as usual the event was marked with great success. Last evening's affair was in the form of a Halloween party and most of those present were attired in special costumes, some of a very pretty nature and others of the burlesque type. The party was for the members of the club and a few friends and among the latter was Mayor Perry D. Thompson, who quickly got into the spirit of the evening and provided his part of the entertainment.

The interior of the club had been handsomely and tastefully decorated.

SYRACUSE

for the occasion by Arthur G. Leveille, window trimmer at the A. G. Pollard company, who was warmly congratulated for his work. The costumes of those present blended nicely with the decorations, making the appearance of the old quarters very unique.

In the early part of the evening games were played, the feature attractions being pool and billiards, while whist was also enjoyed. A match game on the pool table, which at first it was thought would be a lively contest was staged by Eugene Labrie and Eugene Canlin, but it proved to be of very short duration, for Mr. Canlin was not even given a chance to handle the cue. The contest was for 50 points and Mr. Labrie was the first to "shoot," and he handled his cue in such an artistic and skillful manner

They Get Action at Once

Foley Kidney Pills invigorate, strengthen and heal inactive, weak and diseased kidneys and bladder. Mrs. C. J. Ellis, 508 8th Ave., Sioux Falls, S. D., writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble; used to have severe pains across my back and felt miserable and all tired out, but after taking Foley Kidney Pills I am well. I have not been bothered with kidney trouble since." They relieve headache, rheumatic pains, swollen or stiff joints, puffiness under the eyes, floating specks.

that before his opponent had time to realize it he put in 50 balls and won the match. There were other pool and billiard contests but nothing to beat the Labrie-Canlin match.

Instrumental and vocal selections were given by some of the talent of the club as well as by visitors and particularly enjoyable was the singing by Mr. Rodolphe Janson Lapalme of Lawrence. He rendered several operatic selections and each number was well received. He was accompanied by Mr. Louis N. Bullbait. Mr. Lapalme is now on a concert tour throughout New England and it is expected that within a short time he will sing in Lowell. Others who took part in the entertainment program were Dr. G. E. Calise, Urgel Favreau, Dr. A. J. Gagnon, Joseph F. Pelletier of Salem, Z. A. Normandin, Arthur G. Leveille, Arthur Brassard, Dr. J. E. Lamoureux, Dr. G. O. Lavallee, Willie Rousseau, Telephone Beauparlant, Armand Dupont and others.

In the latter part of the evening a buffet luncheon prepared by Chef Bert Grew was served and later more games were played and more entertainment numbers were given. The success of the evening was due to the following officers of the club: F. N. Labelle, president; Ovilla Morin, vice president;

Dr. G. E. Calise, treasurer; Arthur J. Lambert, secretary; F. A. Lamoureux, J. B. Pelhault, E. Gaston Campbell, Willie Rousseau and Omer J. Smith.

Tomorrow had been set by the trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. as the date for the discontinuance of the electric car service to Tyngsboro, but it was learned today that through the efforts of the board of selectmen the cars will operate as usual tomorrow and until further notice, for the matter will be thrashed out at a special town meeting which will be held next Monday night.

The matter to be discussed at Monday's special town meeting will be as

Cut This Out—It's Worth Money

DON'T MISS THIS. Cut out this enclosure with sc and mail it to Foley & Co., 2335 Sheffield Ave., Chicago, Ill. You will receive in return a trial package containing Foley's Kidney and Bladder Pills, for pain in sides and back; rheumatism, backache, kidney and bladder ailments; and Foley's Cathartic Tablets, a wholesome and thoroughly cleansing cathartic, for constipation, biliousness, headache and sluggish bowels.

to whether or not the town should assist the company financially in meeting the running expenses of the road. It is understood that the meeting will be a lively one, for there is a difference of opinion among the townsmen. The people living on the North Chelmsford side of the river feel that they should be given street car privileges even though it would cost the town something, while others, who are living on the other side of the river, and who are being taken care of by the Nashua line, are of the opinion that they should not be assessed for privileges they don't need. Unless favorable action is taken on the matter Monday night, however, it is believed that the Tyngsboro line will be ordered discontinued.

AMERICAN LEGION, BILLERICA POST

Commander Thomas Q. Nickerson presided over the regular meeting of Billerica Post 116, American Legion, which was held last evening in the town hall. Several interesting reports were received and in order to stimulate interest among the members of the organization it was decided to organize a series of social events, which will be conducted during the winter season, the first of which will be held in Union hall on the evening of Nov. 7 at which time a musical and athletic program will be given. Arrangements are now under way for the first annual Ball of the organization, which will be held in the town hall on the evening of Armistice day. On this occasion the town hall will be handsomely decorated. The Billerica chapter of the American Red Cross will be requested to co-operate for the event.

DRUGGISTS CALL BEGY'S MUSTARINE TRIPLE EXTRACT OF HEAT

But It's Non-Blistering Heat and It Won't Hurt the Tenderest Skin

Grandmother's old-fashioned mustard plaster did the work all right, but it blistered the skin and was a mighty messy remedy.

Begy's Mustarine is the original mustard prescription that has made grandmothers' mustard plaster but a relic of bygone days.

It's ten times better, cleaner and cannot blister; it is made of true, honest yellow mustard combined with other well known destroyers of pain, and a box does the work of 50 mustard plasters.

Why suffer for days using plasters or continuously rubbing on liniment when one application of Begy's Mustarine will take out soreness in chest or any part of the body and will liberate stiff neck or rusty joints. It banishes backache, toothache, headache in ten minutes—many times in five.

If you want to get rid of sore throat, neuralgia, neuritis, tonsillitis, pleurisy or rheumatic agony and swollen joints—rub on Begy's Mustarine right away—it's the quickest pain killer in the world—and the cheapest. Get Begy's Mustarine in the yellow box at any drug store. One box is equal to 50 messy, blistering mustard plasters, and money back if it isn't the quickest painkiller you ever used. 30 cents and 40 cents. Always in the yellow box.

Why suffer for days using plasters or continuously rubbing on liniment when one application of Begy's Mustarine will take out soreness in chest or any part of the body and will liberate stiff neck or rusty joints. It

SENATE BACKS UP PRES. WILSON IN STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—After nearly four hours' debate, the senate yesterday adopted a resolution assuring the administration of the support of congress in maintaining order during the "present industrial emergency."

Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, offered, but later withdrew, an amendment proposing assurance to the coal miners of their lawful rights.

As finally approved, the senate resolution, which requires the concurrence of the house, but not the approval of President Wilson, provides:

"That we hereby give the national administration and all others in authority the assurance of our constant, continuous and unequalled support in the use of such constitutional and lawful means as may be necessary to meet the present industrial emergency and in vindicating the majesty and power of the government in enforcing obedience to and respect for the constitution and the laws, and in fully protecting every citizen in the maintenance and exercise of his lawful rights and the observance of his lawful obligations."

One of the preambles retained of the many in the original Thomas draft recites that protection of life and property is the government's paramount duty.

La Follette Protest

Adoption of the resolution was preceded by debate, which took up virtually the entire session of the senate. Senator La Follette entered an emphatic protest against the resolution on the ground that it carried an intimidation and presumed that the miners were about to engage in something unlawful.

"Up to this hour, it was lawful for labor to strike," he said, adding that the strike was the only weapon labor had to deal with capitalistic organizations.

"The government moved very slowly and cautiously against the coal operators and the United States Steel Trust," said Senator La Follette, "but summarily against this body of wage workers."

Senator Owen, democrat, Oklahoma, approved the La Follette amendment, but Senator Townsend, republican, Michigan, said it singled out the miners for special consideration by name. Declaring he was "tired of seeing 10,000,000 people get down on their hands and knees and earn for 500,000," Senator Myers, democrat, Montana, declared he was in hearty accord with the evident intention of the administration to use force, if necessary, to vindicate the law.

"Five hundred thousand bituminous miners have 105,500,000 other people on their knees and a majority of 500,000 miners are ignorant, illiterate foreigners, led by designing agitators who appear to want to plunge us into industrial disturbance. Some sinister motive appears behind them."

Won't Haggle Over Verbiage

"The least the senate can do," said Senator Townsend, "is to express our approval of the president's statement and I don't care to haggle over verbiage, either."

Senator Pomeroy, democrat, Ohio, declared the issue seemed to be: "Shall the government control Lewis, or shall Lewis control the government?"

Every vote against the resolution, he added, would encourage strikes.

Republican Leader Lodge said he thought "this a very appropriate moment to have congress declare it was prepared to stand behind the administration in enforcement of the law."

"I think the administration would do it anyway," he added, "but it is a very good time to say it—and to say it over and over."

Senator Williams, democrat, Mississippi, said congress should back up the president and that the public should make itself felt. He urged merchants in the strike districts to refuse to sell necessities either to a capitalist or laborer who refuses arbitration.

Asserting that the present situation did not present a mere controversy between labor leaders and the government, Senator France defended the six-hour day and placed responsibility for the present crisis on "lack of administrative capacity on the part of the government."

AGUINALDO'S GIRL

NEW TYPE OF THE SCREEN VAMPIRE

One might call Lurline Lyons, who plays the beautiful villainess, Mrs. Taine, in "The Eyes of the World," the film version of Harold Bell Wright's popular novel which the William M. Cline company has so successfully produced for the screen, a new type of screen vampire.

In the prologue of the story, we find her a "child of shame," the daughter of James Rutledge, a married libertine who is forced to bring her to his home. Brought up in the lap of luxury and surrounded with worldly pleasures, she sees no wrong in marrying her father's boon companion, the dissolute and wealthy Taine, who bestows his riches upon her. Her conventional mode of living and her apparent devotion for her husband permit no criticism. In the eyes of the world she is a model wife. But when Aaron King, the artist, comes into her life the inherent passions of her inheritance assert themselves and she uses her wiles and ways to enthrall him. Her husband's death freeing her from the shackles of bondage in which she has lived for several years, she immediately visits the artist's studio, where she finds Sybil Andros, the sweet child of nature, whose beautiful portrait, which the young artist has painted, arouses her unconquerable jealousy and the green-eyed monster casts its sting. As if stooping from a throne to counsel one totally ignorant of the world's ways, she warns the girl of her position in the eyes of the world, and the danger of ruining the artist's career through her association with him. And the girl believes.

The part calls for restrained emotion poignantly but finely sustained. Miss Lyons' interpretation of the character invites discussion. Is she a new type of vampire? The answer must be left to those who witness her creditable performance. The manner in which she clothes her part, the potency of her repose, the depth of her despair, the smile that means so little yet so much—are only incidentals to her acting, which would grace any screen.

The "Eyes of the World" will have its first showing at the Owl Theatre on Monday next, Nov. 3.

Profiteering by inferiority

WHEN raw materials and labor cost more, the finished product costs more. And "costs more" has to go all the way thru to the consumer; it just has to, or business stops

But profiteering is another thing; it charges more in proportion to cost than a fair margin; or worse, it charges more for merchandise that is not up to a high grade. That's the meanest form of profiteering

Another Lowell Man Praises GOLDINE

Mr. Thomas McNamara, 75 years old, 707 Gorbam St., a well known machinist in this city, said: "I have suffered with kidney trouble for 20 years, my back felt lame and sore and I had to get up five or six times a night and during the day I had no control myself. I heard so many people praising GOLDINE for kidney trouble here in Lowell I decided to try it. I got my first bottle on April 21 and before that was gone I was a lot better."

Mr. McNamara

I was so bad before I started taking GOLDINE that I couldn't hold my water more than three hours and it used to distress me. Now I can go five hours or more and feel no distress whatever. I wouldn't have believed one bottle of any medicine would have done so much if I hadn't proven it. Ask Pierre Messier what he thinks of GOLDINE for rheumatism. Remember, GOLDINE is sold in Lowell by Carter & Sherburne, F. H. Butler & Co., W. P. Calise, Jr., Fred Howard, Wm. J. Kierman, Frank E. McNabb, Wm. H. Noonan, R. F. Webster, Frye & Crawford Co. It is also sold by Roland G. Wright in Billerica, John S. Wentwood in Chelmsford, Conant & Co. in Littleton, Edward A. Woodside in Wilmington and dealers in Ayer, Westford, Dracut, Tewksbury and other towns. If your dealer does not carry GOLDINE in stock, have him secure it through the Lawrence Drug Co.—Adv.

ARREST TWO ALLEGED "REDS" IN BOSTON

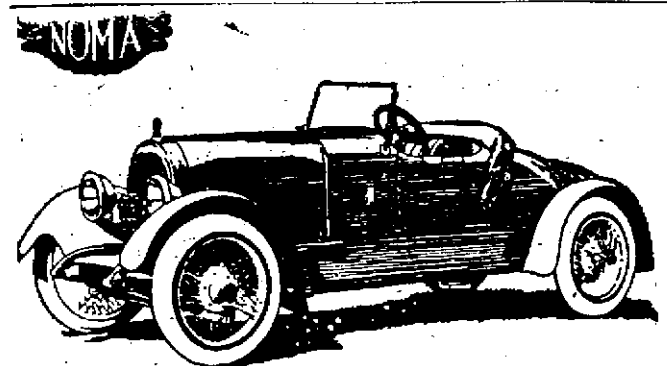

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—John R. Schuprina, 21 years, of 60 Leverett street, West End, was arrested last night by Inspector Kilday of headquarters and Lieut. O'Neill of the district attorney's office on an indictment warrant, which charges him with violating Chapter 121, Section 1, of the Acts of 1915.

This chapter prohibits "advocating, advising, counselling and inciting the unlawful destruction of real and personal property and the overthrow by force and violence of the government of the commonwealth."

It is said Schuprina violated this law "by exhibiting and distributing a certain printed document and paper styled The Voice of Labor, being the fourth number of the first volume of said paper, dated Oct. 1, 1919."

After Schuprina was locked up the two officers went to Stoughton and there arrested a man who was booked as Solomon Press, 48 years, of 54 Morton street, Stoughton, who is charged with the same offense.

It is claimed by the officers that when they went to Schuprina's house

HALLOWE'EN PARTIES LAST EVENING

Not for some time has the Y.W.C.A. planned an affair which produced so much real merriment and genuine pleasure as the Halloween party held in Kitson hall last evening. More than 100 girls in costume attended and the true spirit of the festival was manifest throughout the evening. Features, such as "The Den of Dead Demons," "Ruler of the Lower Regions" and "Chamber of Real Horrors" added to the fun and there was not an idle minute during the entire program. The building was gaily dressed in appropriate colors and Foley's orchestra furnished music for marchings, games and dancing in the gymnasium.

Dance at Highland Club

Wood's Business College

The first steps toward the forming of an alumni association among the former pupils of Wood's Business college, were taken last evening at a Halloween party held in Highland hall. There were about 100 young men and young women present and all were enrolled in the new organization. During the evening dancing was enjoyed and later refreshments were served.

Another Party

Under the direction of Mrs. Dena Colburn the young folks of the Centralville M. E. church were delightfully entertained last evening, the event being a Halloween party. Enjoyable games were played and Halloween stunts were put through, much to the pleasure of the boys and girls. In the course of the evening refreshments were served.

LISBON CLUB DANCE

The third annual dancing party of the Lisbon club was held in Associate hall last evening, and the large crowd of members and friends of the organization present were unanimous in pronouncing the event "the best ever."

Miner-Doyle's jazz band furnished music. The officers of the dance were:

THE MINERS' STRIKE

If the miners persist in making good their threat to strike, they will thereby enter upon a war against the people of this country, in defiance of the government thereof and not only this, but in violation of their own solemn contract and the laws of the nation specially made and provided.

Fortunately, the government has the power to keep the mines running should the regular force insist on going out; and it is expected that this power will be firmly used for that purpose.

We are not here expressing any judgment upon the merits of the claims made by the miners. We do not know the precise nature of their work. Coal mining must be quite laborious, and it may be that the men are underpaid or that they have other grievances, but all this would not justify them in declaring war upon the lives of the people throughout the land. They fixed a date for their strike before they presented their claims to the mine operators.

The soldiers conscripted for service during the war had to work often twenty-four hours a day and yet their pay was small. Did they threaten to strike? No, they simply followed the orders given whether that meant to enter the trenches or cast themselves upon the foe.

The miners have been receiving big wages during the war and yet they propose to break their contract and, by striking, cut off the coal supply of the country unless they are promptly guaranteed 60 per cent increase together with a six hour day and a five day week with time and a half for overtime. If these demands were granted now, it would probably be but a short time until they would make demands for another radical increase and a reduction in the working hours to three or five per day.

By rescinding the strike order, they might receive a voluntary increase from the operators, but as a result of the strike, they are sure to lose and, in addition, they will inflict a severe blow upon organized labor throughout this nation.

The time has arrived when congress must frame legislation to protect the public against strikes in all public utilities. It is the cowardice of congress alone that is to blame for the boldness shown by the miners.

The right to strike under such conditions must be overruled in the interest of all the people. When all labor strikes shall be prohibited in public utilities, the operation of coal mines upon which the people depend for fuel, must be classed under that head.

There should be a sufficient number of labor courts to which such controversies could be brought for adjudication. Only in this way can labor and capital be brought out of the fog with which their action has been enveloped by agitators and the extravagant claims and counter claims on either side. Thus eventually labor as well as capital will understand just what the law sanctions and what policies are in open violation of law and liable to bring a penalty to those who try to enforce them.

This republic has reached a point beyond which it cannot safely pass without protecting itself against radicals working through labor organizations to bring about the overthrow of our government. It is pertinent in case of the miners to find how many are citizens and, if necessary, to deport a number of the aliens—and they are in the majority—who have made no move towards getting naturalized although in this country over five years.

TELEPHONE PROGRESS

We are moving fast. The fact is indicated by the fact that the men who invented and introduced the telephone and electricity are still actively among us, although we have made vast strides upon the original inventions.

The other day in Washington, a gray-haired man in the middle sixties, fast on his feet and in his head, stepped up to the public telephone in one of the hotels and gave a number to the operator.

The young woman at the switchboard gave some facial indication of irritation, took the receiver from her ear, looked at it, readjusted

the band over her head and said in jest:

"I wish I had the man here who invented this thing."

The inventor of this type of operator's headpiece was actually before the young woman.

This gray-haired man, still active, had installed the world's first telephone exchange in Boston in 1877.

He was the man who displayed to Alexander Graham Bell the first commercial application of his own invention.

This man was Walter D. McKinney, now of Columbus, Ohio.

Under the direction of Thomas A. Edison, he wired the first public building ever lighted completely by electricity—the old Bijou theatre of Boston in 1882.

The reason Boston was selected for the first commercial application of the telephone was that it formed the hub of a very large number of New England communities, and there were at the time nearly 300 separate express companies carrying package freight by wagon or by contract with railroads to these towns and cities, almost one separate carrier for each route or town.

The first practical use of the telephone was in connecting up these separate express companies with the merchants who commonly patronized them.

The introduction of general telephone exchange service into Boston was very slow.

Even by giving free service at first, its use could not be induced; for merchants and bankers claimed it was an undignified means of transacting business.

It was not until telephones were also installed free in the homes of those who already had them in their business houses, and business men made accustomed to them by family communication, that their commercial use was started.

And just think of the progress that has given us the wireless telephone by which we can converse with persons on the other side of the Atlantic!—N.E.A.

THE REFERENDA

The people of this state made a strong fight for the initiative and referendum which has been adopted by the constitutional convention and made part and parcel of the constitution of the state. In the coming election, each voter will have to pass upon a number of important questions submitted under the referendum law for decision. It is important that all voters should realize the importance of this function of deciding such very important questions. It is a great privilege they have won and they should appreciate it sufficiently to use their best judgment in passing upon every one of these matters.

For residents of Lowell the two referendum questions of most importance are those referring to the change of charter and the double platoon system for firemen. Plan B with amendment providing for primary elections would be a good charter; without amendment there is no telling just what kind of government it might bring. Perhaps the results would be very disappointing. There is this element of uncertainty involved which the voters must consider very carefully.

On the matter of the double platoon system, the chief objection to that is that the firemen are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor although their constitution provides that under no condition will strikes be authorized. Here then is another question on which the voters should exercise their best judgment on election day.

On the question relative to instructing our senators and representatives to vote in favor of a measure authorizing 4 per cent beer, it is plain that since federal prohibition has taken effect, such instruction would be futile. It is plain that a negative vote on this question will be in accord with the law and yet cannot affect it in any respect.

The war prohibition law provides that no beverage having more than half of one per cent alcohol can be offered for sale. Hence the idea of voting in favor of 4 per cent beer is peculiarly absurd, but the question was placed on the ballot before the present law was passed by congress and cannot be changed now. Either vote no or let that question pass.

TO DEAL WITH MEXICO

Once we shall have finished up our war with Germany, it will be in order to hold a conference with one Carranza, presumed to be at the head of what is supposed to be a government in Mexico, relative to the kidnapping and holding for ransom of American consuls and other Americans who happen to be in the republic to the south of us.

Time was, when any such incident would be regarded as a clear casus belli, but of late there has been perhaps far too much indulgence exercised towards Mexico. The fact was, that with the greatest of all wars ahead of us, we did not care to be tied up with any Mexican muddle; but in a month or two we shall have wound up the odds and ends of our war with Germany and will then be ready to protect our consuls and our citizens legally found in Mexico, and ready, too, to bring Carranza to his senses by whatever line of treatment may be found most effective, barring only the paying of ransoms and the toleration of outrages upon our citizens or Americans resident in Mexico.

TROLLEY EXPRESS

It is to be hoped that the plan of establishing a trolley express service for Lowell will not fall through for want of a terminal. Local business men would undoubtedly be greatly benefited by such a service. It should not be difficult to find a proper location. Of course the task is primarily up to the company which would derive a source of revenue from the business that might help to meet the deficit on the passenger end of the service.

The petition of a local hotel to conduct dances in its assembly hall brings a question of more or less importance before the license commission. The hotels, of course, are losing the business of selling intoxicating liquors and will have to resort to other means of increasing their revenues. It is hardly advisable at this juncture to encourage the practice of running dances in hotels. If one hotel be licensed for such a purpose, it will be difficult to draw the line against others that may ask for a similar privilege. We do not believe there is any great scarcity of halls suitable for dancing purposes by select parties wishing to maintain partial seclusion from the public gaze. When, however, any organization holds a banquet at a hotel and wishes to wind it up with a dance in the assembly hall of that hostelry, we do not see why it would not be wholly permissible.

Victor Berger is to be ejected from the house of representatives at Washington. Berger is quite active in opposition to the interests of the United States when we decided to enter the war. Whether or not his final court appeal succeeds, the fact is plain that he is not a fit person to hold a seat in the congress. He is under a sentence at Fort Leavenworth which, if sanctioned by the court of appeals, he will have to serve, so that congress would be relieved of his presence in this manner without formal action of expulsion.

When Prescott street is lined with autos on either side and a few others are moving between towards the square and a few electric cars round the corner at the Sun building, you have all the elements necessary for a temporary blockade in which either the railway cars or the moving autos must back out. Is there no way of preventing this congestion? When autos are parked closely on both sides of a narrow street and electric cars pass through in the centre, there results a condition that is not only an obstruction to public traffic, but one that is likely to result in accidents.

The president of the Austrian republic having signed the treaty of peace with the allied and associated governments, the treaty becomes effective when the formal notices of ratification by Austria and three of the allied powers have been deposited in the French foreign office and the fact made public in a formal announcement. Thus, gradually, the peace conference is working towards the end of its program.

The fourteen reservations of the peace treaty will fare even worse than did President Wilson's fourteen points.

SEEN AND HEARD

Foot Man says the less you think about what you did yesterday, the more time you'll have to plan what you ought to do tomorrow.

To strike or not to strike! That is the question. Is it better To stick to the good old job, or Walk out And take a chance?

Early last spring Victor Luke of Lash, Pa., planted a little seed. It grew. And grew. Now it's some sunflower—45 inches in circumference, 18 inches in diameter and 113 inches in height.

We read that the Amalgamated Boys Combine (up-to-date a.b.c.) has served notice upon that notoriously unjust bunch of employers, Pa. & Ma, that work done after school must be paid for (time and a half), and that no Saturday work can interfere with the football team's practice.

Couldn't Hold 'Em

"Mother," exclaimed Susie McGoosey, rushing home from school, "teacher said we should eat 3000 calories every day."

"What does that teacher think we are, millionaires?" asked Mrs. McGoosey. "I never saw any such things at the market, but I'll look next time and buy a half dozen."

"But teacher said to eat 3000," Susie urged. "Land sakes, child, you couldn't hold 3000 of anything."

Shoe on Other Foot

George L. Donellan, New York lawyer, was pleading the cause of an accused pickpocket. He told the court policemen were too suspicious, always thinking somebody was going to walk away with something belonging to someone else. Then Donellan went back to where he had left his new $10 derby. It was gone. So also was one of the witnesses for the defense.

"I would suggest that this honorable court put up a sign warning persons entering this room to beware of thieves," said Donellan, with a little irony in his voice.

Missed His Dinner

The Salt Lake Consolidated Ticket office contributes the following amusing item as a recital of an actual conversation which took place in that office:

"A few days ago an elderly gentleman from 'back east,' evidently a backwoodsman, recited the following: "When I started from way down east, I brought along a big lunch. By the time I reached Denver the lunch gave out. As you know, one gets a little hungry traveling. After leaving Denver, a man came through the chair car stating in a loud voice: "First call for the dining car." I waited, but he didn't bring on any dinner; he came in the second time and added to his remark: "Last call for the dining car," and still no dinner arrived. In a case of this kind what should I do? I am pretty old and have not traveled very much. When I reached Salt Lake I was very hungry."

After being informed concerning proper procedure in relation to dining cars, he asked about sleeping on the train. He was also given information as to sleeping accommodations and, when he applied at the ticket company, the clerk asked him "standard or tourist?" he replied: "I am just an old farmer from down east." Moral: Begin traveling while young. —Railroad Administration Bulletin.

If All Dreams Came True

Would you be happier or not, If all your dreams came true? Would you have more than you have now? If all your dreams came true? Some dreams, of course, are very sweet.

But some you'd rather not repeat—For you, would it be joy complete, If all your dreams came true? You might be very, very sad. If all your dreams came true, And long for peace that you have had. If all your dreams came true, You'd better take things as they come. Although some things may jar you For other things might make you glum. If all your dreams came true. —Somerville Journal.

GIRL MESSENGER BRINGS MEDALS

Miss Gladys Sheridan of Elmhurst, L. L., yesterday presented to William P. Larkin, overseas director of the Knights of Columbus, a small jewel case containing a medal of the Order of St. Gregory.

Miss Sheridan, who was an interpreter for the legal department of the Knights in France, recently had an audience with Pope Benedict and was given three jewel cases—the medals. The other two have been presented to James A. Flaherty of Philadelphia, supreme knight and Joseph C. Pelletier of Boston, supreme advocate of the order.

It is believed that Miss Sheridan has won a signal honor in being the first woman messenger appointed to carry papal honors from the Vatican.

NOTE INVITING GERMANY TO JOIN IN BLOCKADE

PARIS, Oct. 30.—The text of the note sent by Marshal Foch to General Nudant for transmission to the German government, inviting Germany to participate in the blockade of Bolshevik Russia, is similar to that sent to the neutral states with the exception of the last paragraph. The note follows:

"The president of the peace conference has been requested by the conference to inform the neutral governments of a decision taken by the supreme council of the allied and associated powers, in regard to the economic pressure which is to be exerted on Bolshevik Russia.

"The German government is asked to take measures similar to those indicated.

"The avowed hostility of the Bolsheviks toward all governments and their international program of revolution which they are spreading abroad constitute grave danger for the national security of all powers. Every increase of strength of the Bolsheviks would increase the danger and would be contrary to the desire of all peoples who are seeking to re-establish peace and social order.

"It is in this spirit that the allied and associated governments after studying the commercial relations with Bolshevik Russia find these relations indeed, could only be effected through the agency of the chiefs of the Bolshevik government, who, disposing at will of the products and resources which commercial liberty would bring them, would thereby achieve considerable increase in their tyrannical strength, which they are exercising over the Russian populations.

"Under these conditions the allied and associated governments request the Swedish, Norwegian, Danish, Dutch, Finnish, Spanish, Swiss, Mexican, Chilean, Argentinian, Colombian and Venezuelan governments to be good enough to make an immediate agreement with them in measures to prevent their nationals from engaging in any commerce with Bolshevik Russia and to assure that this policy will be rigorously executed.

"To refuse clearance papers to every ship going to Russian ports in the hands of Bolsheviks or coming from said ports.

"To establish similar measures for all merchandise destined to be sent Bolshevik Russia by any other route.

"To refuse passports to all persons going to Bolshevik Russia or coming from it except through understanding with the allied and associated governments.

"It is the disposition, with a view to preventing banks from doing business with Bolshevik Russia, as far as possible, to request refusal by each government to its own nationals of facilities for correspondence with Bolshevik Russia by post, telegraph or wireless."

The note sent to Germany contains the following final paragraph:

"The British and French warships to change their route of ships bound for ports of Bolshevik Russia."

LOWELL WILL NEED 70 ENUMERATORS

Lowell will need 70 enumerators to carry on the work entailed in the taking of the government census of 1920. One enumerator is able to handle approximately 3000 people in his district, and is paid according to the number he handles. The work begins Jan. 2, and will last about two weeks in the cities and a month or more in the rural districts. Rates of pay will vary depending upon the locality and the character of the district to be canvassed. The average pay per enumerator at the census of 1900 was about $70. At this coming census it will probably be not less than $100.

Applications for the position of census enumerators may be still made, and men and women between the ages of 15 and 70 can apply.

The general qualifications of the enumerators should be of the best. They should be active, energetic persons of good address and must be thoroughly trustworthy, honest, and of good habits. They must have at least an ordinary education, and be able to write plainly and with reasonable rapidity. Persons having previous census experience are urged to apply. There are certain classes of people who are especially adapted to become good enumerators.

Substitute public school teachers make excellent enumerators, persons who are awaiting civil service appointments would be able to get in a few weeks' work in connection with the enumeration, and possibly from the experience gained prove better qualified for other clerical positions. Interpreters of the various languages will be selected from the applicants, and many will be needed for this district. Any person who can speak foreign languages fluently should apply.

In order to determine the applicant's qualifications for appointment as an enumerator a practical test will be given in all cities and towns in the Middlesex district on Saturday, Nov. 5. The director of the census wants to emphasize the fact that this is a simple, practical test of the ability of the applicant to make from a narrative to be supplied legible and correct entries on a schedule similar to the one he would be called upon to use in the actual work of enumeration should he be appointed.

Applications, blanks, information and instructions, will be forwarded to any person on the receipt of a post card or better hearing his or her name and address.

The supervisor's office telephone is Concord 433, and he may be reached any day from 5 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Two Big Rallies Here

figures in two big rallies to be staged here this evening, one by the democrats in Crescent rink in Hurd street, and the other by the republicans in Old Fellows hall, Middlesex street.

At the democratic rally Senator David I. Walsh, former governor of Massachusetts and for many years a close student of the state's governmental affairs, is scheduled to be the principal speaker. It has not been definitely decided that the senator will be able to be present, although the committee in charge is making an earnest effort to have him here. The senatorial illuminary at the republican get-together will be Senator Miles Poindexter of the state of Washington, who only a few days ago declared himself a candidate for the presidency.

The rallies tonight are expected to bring about the apex of the present campaign as there have not been speakers of such calibre at any of the previous rallies held here this season.

The democrats will preface their encave with an old-fashioned red fire street parade. It will be headed by those who are to speak at the rally, will have a band and will form at city hall at 8 o'clock. Everybody is invited to take part in the march. The route will be down Merrimack to Central, to Gorham, to Appleton, to Central, to Hurd street and the Crescent rink.

At the rally the speakers will include Richard H. Long, democratic candidate for governor; Major Thomas Walsh, brother of the senator; Col. John F. J. Herbert, democratic candidate for lieutenant governor; Hon. James Brennan of Boston; Charles H. McGee, democratic candidate for secretary of the commonwealth; Chandler M. Wood, democratic candidate for state treasurer; Arthur J. B. Carter, democratic candidate for auditor; Joseph A. Conry, democratic candidate for attorney general; Hon. John T. Sparks, democratic candidate for senator in the eighth district, and others.

The republican rally will have as its presiding officer Congressman John Jacob Rogers, who will also make an address. Other speakers will include Senator Poindexter, District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts, who is a candidate for re-election on the republican ticket; Fred J. Burrell, republican candidate for treasurer, and others. The Lowell Military band will be present to furnish music and there will also be community singing. Seats have been reserved for the ladies.

begin tomorrow," Mr. Wilson said, "will affect principally the soft coal miners and for the present the mining of anthracite will go on as usual. There is a reasonable supply of soft coal on hand in New England and Lowell, I think, will get her share of it."

"The government has taken a very firm grasp on the situation and I don't believe the strike will be of great duration. There is no occasion for anybody here to get gray hairs over the strike because of worry about a possible shortage."

The local mills, at least, those who have not yet started burning oil instead of coal, would be the first to be affected here were there a serious shortage of soft coal. A large number of apartment houses, office buildings, etc., also burn this coal and the street railway company is dependent to a great extent on it. However, all these have a fairly good supply on hand and look for no immediate shortage.

A great deal depends on the length of the strike and also how far it will extend. But for the present there is no occasion for local worry.

The commission on the necessities of life, a state organization, yesterday sent out communications to dealers of the state asking that they use discretion in their distribution and to give preference to hospitals and similar institutions. As soon as the local dealers receive this communication, they will undoubtedly do as requested.

public improvement committee. This committee will meet a representation of the policemen at the board of trade rooms in Shattuck street next Tuesday evening and the matter will be gone over at that time.

In making their request, the policemen pointed out the fact that chambers of commerce in many other cities had assisted the policemen in having their wages raised.

The local police recently had their wages raised 15 per cent. in common with other municipal employees, increasing their pay from $1 to $4.60 per day.

"And I don't remember nothing about it." Matthew added that he and John had reached the aforesaid heights of alcoholic bliss through the consumption of various and sundry bottles of "Jacky."

Court fined John $10 for drunkenness, and ordered Matthew, also charged with drunkenness, to furnish bonds of $500 until tomorrow, when his case will be disposed of.

CHERRY & WEBB 12-18 JOHN STREET

George Koulozeas, Catherine Georgioulis pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $5.

George said that he had met the woman, a neighbor of his, in a bakeshop one afternoon recently, and without the least bit of provocation she had bounced bottles, mugs, brushes—in fact, almost everything in the shop which wasn't nailed down—off his head. He exhibited several marks on his face as evidence that her aim had been good.

Catherine admitted that she had beat George up somewhat, but allowed that there was justification in plenty for her act.

Had not George bought some apples from her husband some time ago and failed to settle? Had he not told her to go straight to bakeshops when she mentioned the matter to him that afternoon in the bakeshop? Vorily, he had done these things, declared the indignant Catherine. And this had made her mad, and in her anger she had treated George somewhat harshly. Yes, she would pay the fine today. George had come around and paid for the apples later that day so she had no hard feelings against him now.

Peter Bishop, charged with stealing a letter, valued at five cents, from John Gordin Oct. 24, pleaded not guilty and was held in $200 until Nov. 5. The police allege that he stole the letter from a mailbox in a house in the downtown section.

LAFAYETTE CAMPERS

BENEDICT CLUB

The Lafayette Campers, a social organization with quarters at Willow Dale, which was started a few years ago and which was composed solely of unmarried men, is on the verge of becoming a Benedict club, if the number of weddings that have taken place among its members recently is to be taken as a criterion. Of course, there are a few members of the club who swear they will never enter matrimony, but those who have deserted the ranks aver that these hardened bachelors will soon follow suit.

Only a month ago two members of the club, Ernest Brown and Fred Bechard, were married to two well known young women of this city, and now comes the announcement of the marriage of two others, Joseph Landry and Larry Boule. The former will be married next week to Miss Pearl Filion of Hildreth street, while the latter will be united in marriage to Miss Jennie Payette of Gardner avenue some time in November.

Last evening the members of the club and a few invited friends gathered at their well appointed quarters on the shores of Lake Massouppie and tendered a farewell party to Messrs. Landry and Boule. Lawyer Albert J.

Blazon, who has not yet deserted the ranks, acted as master of ceremonies over the festivities and in his usual happy vein he congratulated his brethren for their choice and extended to them the best wishes of the club, but he did not close his remarks without accusing them of being traitors to the club, which, he said, was organized purely as a bachelor organization. In behalf of those present he presented Mr. Landry a handsome travelling bag, and to Mr. Boule a beautiful easy chair.

Following the presentation a bountiful dinner was served by Caterer R. J. Harvey and later under the direction of Mr. Blazon speeches and vocal and instrumental selections were given. Hubbard's orchestra furnishing an excellent musical program. Among those who spoke were Mr. Fred Gregoire, who briefly but interestingly explained to the two future benefactors what would be expected of them by their wives and he predicted that the happy days spent by both at the Lafayette camp were practically over. Mr. Alphonse Coutu also spoke briefly, taking for his topic "The freedom of a bachelor vs. the entanglements of a benedict," and his remarks were most interesting. Games were enjoyed and the party broke up at a seasonable hour, extending their best wishes to both Messrs. Landry and Boule.

Present at the festivities were Albert J. Blazon, Wilfrid Achin, Ernest Landry, J. B. Pelnaul, Arthur Pelletier, Fred Gregoire, Ernest Brown, Alphonse Coutu, A. E. Landry, Louis Payette, Louis Lebourdais, Arthur Turcotte, Henry Turcotte, Aubin Belanger, Fred J. Landry, Alfred Descheneaux, Ernest Descheneaux, George Descheneaux, Joseph Coulombe, Eugene Riard, Frank Primeau, Wilfrid Cognac, Fred Fortin, Herve D. Parthenais, Henry Landry, Arthur J. Lambert and Fred Bechard.

SUGAR EQUALIZATION REPORT ON SINN FEIN BOARD TO QUIT PARLIAMENT ISSUED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The United States sugar equalization board yesterday telegraphed Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, that it was preparing to wind up its activities in view of inability to obtain sufficient sugar from Cuba to warrant further government control.

In spite of the board's advice Senator McNary said the senate would proceed to enact legislation designed to aid the public in the sugar shortage and also provide for the continuation of the board, even if the present members resign. A meeting of the senate agriculture committee was called for Saturday to act on pending legislation.

Senator McNary said the sugar board's plans evidently were due to the committee's refusal to enact legislation to provide for the licensing of sugar refiners and dealers. The committee now plans, he said, to present a bill continuing the board and authorizing it to purchase Cuban sugar.

The board in its telegram to Senator McNary, said it was impossible to acquire "any great amount of the new Cuban sugar crop at this time at a reasonable price," and that the board was planning to close its affairs except in a minor way, including supervision of equitable distribution of sugar left on its present Cuban contract.

STOMACH O. K.

Indigestion, Acidity, Sourness and Gases ended with "Pape's Diapiesin"

Millions of people know that it is needless to be bothered with indigestion, dyspepsia or a disordered stomach. A few tablets of Pape's Diapiesin neutralize acidity and give relief at once.

When your meals don't fit and you feel uncomfortable, when you belch gases, acids or raise sour, undigested food. When you feel lumps of indigestion pain, heartburn or headache, from acidity, just eat a tablet of Pape's Diapiesin and the stomach distress is gone.

The cost is so little. The benefits so great. You, too, will be a Diapiesin enthusiast afterwards.—Adv.

DUBLIN, Oct. 31.—The meeting of the Sinn Fein parliament Wednesday night was in direct defiance of the government's proclamation and the people are interested to know what the government will do about it. The meeting being illegal, the Irish papers are forbidden to mention it.

A report circulated by the Sinn Feiners says that a national inspector of fisheries will be appointed, that a civil service scheme is being arranged to embrace all local officers and also that national arbitration courts and conciliation bodies will be formed. "Estimates for the coming financial period," says the report, "were laid before the house and the necessary votes of credit adopted."

The six Sinn Fein members for Dublin have sent to the American consul a copy of the alleged instructions for searching the effects of American seamen. The letter says: "As these instructions constitute a hindrance to lawful trade of America with Ireland, we, the elected representatives of the city of Dublin, request that you will transmit copies of them to your government."

RUSSELL, RALLY LAST EVENING AT THE PAWTUCKETVILLE SOCIAL CLUB IN MOODY ST.

William E. Russell of Cambridge, son of the late Governor William E. Russell and a candidate for district attorney for Middlesex county on the democratic ticket, held a rally in the rooms of the Pawtucketville Social club in Moody street last evening. Mr. Russell addressed the gathering in the French language and in the opening of his remarks he begged to be excused if his French was not so good as it might be for, he said, he had not spoken the language for several years until a couple of years ago when he landed at Brest, France, with the American Marine corps.

The speaker did fairly well, however, and made quite a hit with his listeners. In the course of his address he referred to the "silly-show" way in which the office of the district attorney is being conducted at the present time. He said he did not enter the contest for his own personal satisfaction, but simply as a duty and only after great solicitation on the part of many voters. In closing he urged the voters to go to the polls next Tuesday and cast their ballot for William E. Russell for district attorney.

STRAIGHT LINES FOR NEW BAGS

BY BETTY BROWN
NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—"Bags, purses, hold-alls!"

In answer to the call from business women, shopper and afternoon caller, New York designers are bringing forth new outlines and variations of the old. Sketched above are four of these new models on display in Fifth avenue shops.

First, the bags. The large one sketched with double straps extending around it, is a utility bag of moleskin. It has a patent leather finish, and fastens half-way down one side, with two firm clasps. With an inside pocket to hold letters, powder puff, stamps or cards, it is a roomy, satisfying bag, with a trimly tailored outline.

On the same side is shown a smaller bag of soft brown cordovan with straps to slip over the wrist. It fastens with a silver clasp. Within are sufficient compartments for all the needs of a woman's bag.

In the "hold-all" class is the otteloth bag with roomy depths, and neat pockets concealed in the sides. It fastens with a draw cord, and hangs from the wrist conveniently.

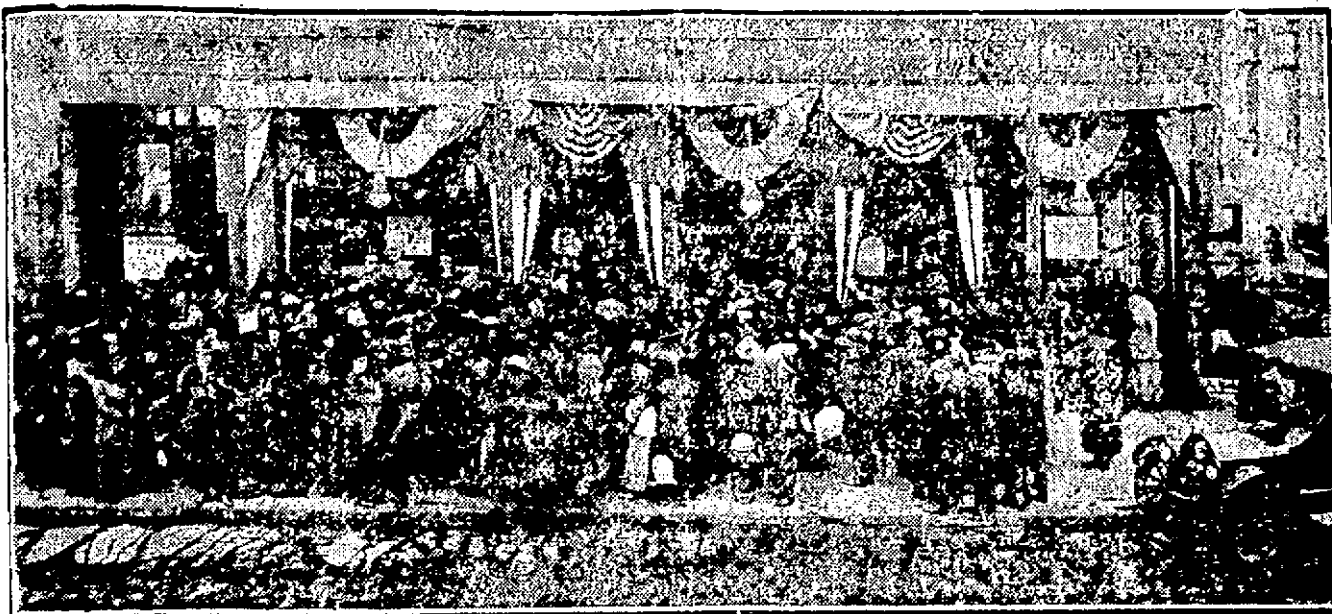

Then there must always be a small purse. This is of patent leather and is called an envelope purse, from its mode of fastening on the side.

MOLLY VARNUM CHAPTER CELEBRATES

A quarter century of active life yesterday was celebrated by Molly Varnum chapter, D.A.R., when members and guests gathered at the Spalding house in Pawtucket street to observe the 25th anniversary of the founding of the chapter. A formal meeting, presided over by Mrs. Charles E. Howe, the present regent, preceded the reception and luncheon held in the lower rooms.

Mrs. Howe introduced Mrs. Franklin P. Shumway of Melrose, vice regent of the State D.A.R., who spoke a few words of congratulation. Patriotic songs were sung by Mrs. Nettie L. Roberts. The feature of the meeting was a most comprehensive historical sketch of the life of the chapter, read by Miss Mary A. Webster, one of the charter members. It covered the organization's growth from its inception, 25 years ago at the home of Mrs. Frederic T. Greenhalge, and noted that 11 of the original 20 members still are in the chapter. Its work service and contributions to good civic enterprises were touched on and its expansion and purchase of the Spalding house as the chapter home.

Mrs. Burton H. Wiggin, a former regent, gave a resume of the service of the chapter's six regents, who were, after Mrs. Greenhalge, Mrs. Thomas Nesmith, Mrs. M. M. Thompson, Miss Ida Howe, Mrs. B. H. LONG PREDICTS VICTORY BY OVER 50,000

FITCHBURG, Oct. 31.—Richard H. Long, democratic candidate for governor, and Col. John F. J. Herbert, Worcester, candidate for lieutenant governor, were the principal speakers at a largely attended rally in Chamber of Commerce hall last night. Marcus A. Coolidge presided and the other speakers were Charles M. McElroy, candidate for Secretary of State; Joseph A. Maynard, George I. Kane, candidate for representative; Representative Ahern, Max Nash of Framingham and Sergeant Russell, who served with the Fitchburg men overseas.

Sees Republican Tactics

"The low standard to which the republican party has dropped is shown as this campaign is nearing an end. The fair name of Massachusetts and Boston, the right of free speech and decent political ideals are being sacrificed to keep in power the corrupt monopolies that have so long been plundering the public and Governor Coolidge is mistrusting the voters that so far as he is concerned the campaign is almost a secret."

"I stand for the American citizen, particularly the man and woman who works and only wants the right to live as decent individuals of the country ought to live and enjoy with all other equal opportunities under the law."

"The political framework by lobby interests of Massachusetts, conceived and worked out by unscrupulous republican politicians at Washington, will not be approved by any fair-minded Massachusetts voters."

"Even in Russia, the reputation of a candidate for office would not be so fully attacked without notice of a hearing. The republicans in their districts are using all the power of a congressional committee for law and contemptible purposes.

"Republican Chairman Graham was so surprised and confused to see me in Washington that he could not even answer the simple question, 'Did you authorize the published statement attacking me?'"

Hugs Visiting Governors

"The backers of Gov. Coolidge insult Massachusetts voters by importing governors and others from outside the state to bring further disgrace and shame on Massachusetts by charging our citizens generally with anarchy and with being reds. The voters will decide on next Tuesday, and on the one hand you will find every exponent of corrupt monopoly from the Standard Oil interests to the cheap lobbyists supporting our weak and helpless Gov. Coolidge, who is personally presenting no campaign issues for himself, and on the other side, supporting the democratic candidate, will be found all fair-minded republicans and democrats, particularly the working man and working woman, whether belonging to the labor unions or not, including city, town and state employees, teachers, clerks and others who are not now receiving a fair day's pay."

"Gov. Coolidge stands for the Prussian law and order that were used in high office to crush justice and humanity."

"Richard H. Long stands for justice and humanity and trusts the voters and citizens of Massachusetts will protect the fair name of our commonwealth and every citizen within its borders."

TEST SUBSTITUTES FOR 2.75 PER CENT BEER

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Samples of the alcoholic beverages that are being substituted for the legally extinct 2.75 per cent brand were given to a chemist for analysis today by Acting Collector of Internal Revenue Andrew J. Casey. The samples were obtained in various parts of the state during the past two days by the prohibition enforcement staff of the internal revenue bureau. A chemist was sent here from Washington to establish a laboratory for the immediate analysis of samples.

Besides the enforcement organization established from the field force of the bureau, Acting Collector Casey has requested co-operation of all state, county and municipal officials engaged in the prosecution of the criminal law in checking violation of the prohibition legislation.

GERMAN BUDGET

Passed Third Reading by National Assembly

BERLIN, Thursday, Oct. 30.—(By Associated Press)—The National Assembly today passed the third reading of the budget, notwithstanding the vote of the two parties of the Right and the Independents, and then adjourned until Nov. 20.

Mathias Erzberger, minister of finance, reviewing the financial situation, said new taxes were expected to yield nine billion marks. As the interest on the national debt would be $317,000,000 marks, Herr Erzberger said his estimate of the revenue of 1919 had previously been fully covered. He added that the national debt amounted to 20,000,000,000, and by the end of March, 1920, it probably would aggregate 212,312,000,000 marks.

U. S. TROOPS AT PARIS SMALL CHANGE CRISIS ON WAY TO COBLENZ IN PARIS AT END

PARIS, Oct. 31. (Havas)—The United States army transport, President Grant, with 5000 American troops on board who are destined for Coblenz, arrived at Brest today.

ANOTHER LOWELL SAILOR PROMOTED

Another Lowell sailor boy has been promoted, according to information received by Chief Cary of the local naval recruiting office. He is John J. Ryane, 76 Elm street, who enlisted in May as fireman, third class. Ryane's rating has been changed to fireman, second class on the destroyer U.S.S. O'Brien, where he is now serving.

Frank Connors, 188 Howard street, was the only man to be forwarded from the local station today. He enlisted for the air service as machinist's mate, aviation, and will be transferred to one of the naval aviation trade schools.

PARIS, Thursday, Oct. 30.—With the arrest today of five speculators in silver coin, the small change crisis in Paris seems to have passed. The police found the men purchasing silver coins from street car and automobile bus conductors, waiters and other persons.

The trail led to a bank where the silver was melted. One silver bar weighing 59 pounds, still bearing the marks of one and two francs pieces, was found.

At the Autleil race course today, the racing public was informed that each person must have the exact amount of the admission fee, two francs, which would be reserved for the pari-mutuel machines, which had been unable to pay several winning tickets owing to the lack of silver.

The minister of finance today opened a bureau for distributing nickels. The bureau was crowded all morning.

GOVERNOR OF KANSAS TALKS OF STRIKE

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The refusal of Alexander M. Howat, president of District No. 14, United Mine Workers of America, to negotiate with the Southwest Coal Operators' association means that Kansas will have to meet the threatening strike of miners along the lines proposed by the federal government, Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas said here today. He asserted that the offer of the operators to negotiate for a new contract for the Kansas district independent of action in other fields, made through his office to President Howat was thoroughly sincere.

The governor who came here to assist in the republican state campaign, declined to comment further on the situation until he had heard directly from Topeka.

The offer of the Operators' association to negotiate was characterized by

TOWN IN SARRE REGION FINED

MATENCE, Thursday, Oct. 30.—(French wireless service).—General De Guette, the French commander, has imposed a fine of 60,000 marks on the town of Kaiserlautern, in the Sarre region, on account of recent disorders in that locality fomented by German political agents.

YOUR GOVERNOR

Is not merely the candidate of a political party in this contest in Massachusetts.

He is the candidate of all the people of Massachusetts who believe in law and order.

He stood in the breach when law and order were attacked.

He stood for you, citizens of Massachusetts—not as Democrats or Republicans, not as Capitalists or Laborers, not as Union men or Non-Union men, but as citizens entitled to protection under the authority of your government.

It is the highest duty now of every good citizen to back him up in that stand.

Remember

The forces seeking the defeat of Calvin Coolidge are, consciously or unconsciously, seeking the defeat of law and order.

Their success would be accepted by the red radicals of the land as proof that the people of Massachusetts had repudiated their own government.

Calvin Coolidge's re-election by an overwhelming majority will be proof to all that the people of Massachusetts will permit no attack upon their sovereign authority.

Calvin Coolidge

Stands for a government founded upon truth and justice, and against a government founded upon terrorism, political mendacity and reckless promises.

He stands for Americanism.

Every Massachusetts voter who believes in Americanism, who believes in law and order as essential to liberty, should defend that belief with his ballot. Vote for

Four ladies found health and strength

Her friend for ten years

It is now ten years since I started taking RED PILLS, and they have certainly done me an immense amount of good, by building me up, and ridding me of the headaches which had made me suffer so. Under their influence, I rapidly took on flesh. Through overwork and frequent pregnancies, I had become so pale and weak and run-down that a good tonic was badly needed, as very often throughout the day, I felt so weak that I was compelled to lay down and rest for a while. I therefore took RED PILLS, which first helped me somewhat, and then gradually relieved me immensely.—Mrs. JEREMIE CHAPUT

517 Clinton Ave., Woonsocket, R.I.

The ideal medicine

I have been taking RED PILLS for years now, and thanks to the excellent results obtained from their use, I have been able to do all my own housework and bring up a family. It was through the medium of the newspapers that I learned their worth, and since taking them, I always have a few boxes ready on hand in case they should be needed. I find they are the ideal medicine and a health-building tonic.—Mrs. E. DUHAINE

456 Cartier Street, Manchester, N.H.

A mother's good advice

It is now three years since I became acquainted with RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women. Before my marriage, they proved a boon to me, by strengthening my constitution and giving me vitality. My mother had already taken them, and had obtained such satisfactory results from their use, that I was tempted to try them, and with the above result. I am taking them again to-day, to build up my strength which I have lost through some recent trouble. I feel that I will be as fortunate in obtaining good results from their use.—Mrs. HENRI CARRIER

90 Page Street, Woonsocket, R.I.

Weakness, headaches, backaches

Six years ago, I was suffering very much from general weakness, headaches, backaches, sore legs, and poor digestion, and was advised by some of my friends to try RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women. I therefore tried them, and after taking three boxes I was greatly astonished to note that I was getting much better. I continued taking them regularly and after using eighteen boxes, I was completely recovered. Since that time I have been feeling fine and have regained the strength and vitality which I had long ago.

BOUDOIR ATTIRE IN SOFT SHADES

BY BETTY BROWN

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—When hours of relaxation come, every woman enjoys them the more in the silken folds of a dainty boudoir costume. Soft colors in combination make the atmosphere of comfort complete.

In the sketch above, one of the most restful and at the same time chic, boudoir gowns is shown. Charmeuse satin, of softest lavender verging on a delicate pink, is combined with hazy blue, satin bindings at neck and cuff and streamers lying at the throat. Deep patch pockets, which give the appearance of holding down in shape the loose tunic-like house, are covered with embroidery in merging shades. Each pocket is topped with a pert bow of blue satin. A small collar of the same embroidery finishes the neck.

Suggesting the Turkish outline, the skirt is drawn into a narrow band of shirring at the bottom. French-heeled sandals are made of lavender and charmeuse satin, trimmed with shirring and small blue covered buckles.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE

End of November May See

Close of Sessions—Rumania Sends Delegate

PARIS, Oct. 31.—The end of November may see the close of the Paris peace conference, which has negotiated the peace treaties with Germany and Austria and has carried the negotiations with Bulgaria well towards completion.

Unless the conference can speedily reach an agreement with Rumania and compel it to discontinue its interference in Hungarian affairs there seems little chance that a peace treaty can be negotiated with Hungary at present, in which case the conference will probably close without making that treaty.

The Adriatic question will not necessarily prolong the life of the conference and there is no disposition among many of the peace delegates to drag out the conference much longer for the discussion of the European political questions involved in the Rumanian and Italian difficulties.

December 1 is now looked upon as the latest probable date for the adjournment of the conference. Rumania is sending a special delegate to Paris to discuss its differences with the conference and a definite settlement of the Rumanian tangle or the abandonment of the effort at disentanglement is expected very shortly.

Indications are that the Bulgarian treaty will be signed within a week or 10 days. Then the discussions will begin with Rumania in the attempt to settle the questions arising from its seizure of Hungarian property and its objection to guaranteeing the rights of minorities, which was the cause of its refusal to sign the Austrian peace treaty.

He pinned upon Rostock's coat lapel the bronze Albert medal and handed him the red leather case from which he had taken it.

Rostock thanked him, was introduced to the queen and others, saw an open door leading to the alley—and beat it.

Griffith, famous motion picture producer; Harrison Fisher, artist, and George M. Cohan, playwright and producer. It was their delightful task to review the beauty of the world's greatest city. They awarded first prize $10,000, to Miss Alice Louise Secker, a factory worker. She is 23-years old. Miss Hazel Yupp, 21, a manicurist, won second prize, $2500. And Miss Mary O'Brien, 21, a salesgirl, was third. She was awarded $1000.

Born in 1839 Dr. Caldwell Still in His Office Daily

Condent vigor of the founder of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.
Millions now use his famous prescription

ALL physicians know that good health depends largely upon proper digestion and elimination, and that most sickness results from these causes. None knows this better than the "family" doctor, the general practitioner.

Dr. W. B. Caldwell of Monticello, Illinois, was and is a family doctor. The whole human body, not any small part of it, was his practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

Dr. Caldwell in the course of 40 years' practice, for he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1873, had found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year the preparation was first placed on the market. The picture of Dr. Caldwell that appears on the package was taken in that year.

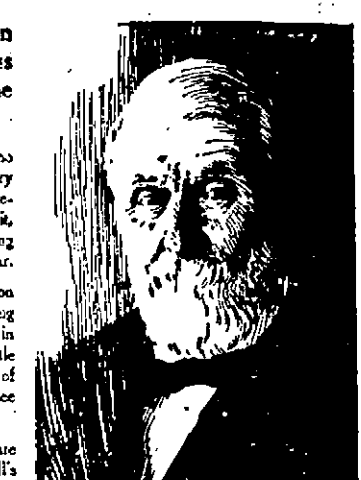

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in the doctor's private practice. Today the third generation is using it.

Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it, for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is selling at the rate of over 6 million bottles a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Syrup Pepsin, and the formulator of that prescription is fortunately living to see its wonderful success.

Women, children and old people are the ones most benefited by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It differs from physics in that its action is mild and gentle and free from gripping. It does not weaken. And while it is promptly effective in the most obstinate case, it is safe for a tiny baby as it contains no narcotics.

Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at 50c and $1 a bottle, the latter the family size and sufficient to last months. Keep a bottle in your home. Where many live someone is sure to need it quickly.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL TODAY

Born Shelbyville, Mo., March 27, 1839. Began the manufacture of his famous prescription in 1892.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 311 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

Wholesale Arrests in H. C. L. Fight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Many new arrests in a number of states for violations of the food and fuel control law are expected soon by the department of justice.

Attorney General Palmer made it clear today that the government's preoccupation with the coal strike had not slowed up the campaign to reduce living costs. Since the criminal amendments to the food and fuel control law have been added, the department of justice has been preparing to prosecute cases on evidence previously obtained. As a result, it was said that indictments might be expected soon throughout the country of persons guilty of flagrant hoarding and profiteering.

Call Cheers For President—

For Home Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—King Albert and President Wilson clasped hands yesterday. The meeting at the president's bedside, brief as it was, proved the climax of the American visit of the Belgian monarch, and he left Washington, late last night, a happy man, to sail for home from Newport News today on the transport George Washington, which brought him to this country.

From the day he landed the pleasure of his tour has been marred by anxiety over the president's condition, and he had abandoned hope of being able to see him.

When he drove to the White House, Albert had little expectation of being able to see the man for whom he has expressed the highest admiration. Only at the last minute at the president's earnest request, did Rear Adm. Grayson, his physician, consent to the brief visit. The king went alone to the sick room, operating the elevator himself. His call lasted 10 minutes.

President Asks to See Queen

After the departure of the king, the president expressed a desire to see Queen Elizabeth, who was having tea with Mrs. Wilson. Dr. Grayson consented and her majesty went eagerly to the executive's bedside where she remained five minutes, seated at the left side of the bed. She told Mr. Wilson with one of her charming smiles that she felt much at home with persons who were ill. One of her hobbies is hospitals.

Leopold Also Visits President

The youthful Prince Leopold entered the room with all a boy's embarrassment, and seemed rather ill at ease in the presence of the president, but he was soon put at ease by questions about his school life at Eton. Mr. Wilson told him how much he looked like his father, adding:

"Your father is every inch a man and I hope you will follow in his footsteps."

Sail Home Today

OLD POINT, Va., Oct. 31.—As the transport George Washington steams out of Hampton Roads late today, bearing King Albert, Queen Elizabeth and Crown Prince Leopold of the Belgians on their homeward voyage, the first visit of a reigning monarch of Europe to the shores of America will have come to a close.

The royal guests arrived here this morning from Washington. After they visit Portsmouth to witness the flooding of two new drydocks at the navy yard, they will board the George Washington which brought them to the United States on Oct. 2.

AUTOMOBILE COMPANY TO BUILD GARAGE

The Lowell Buick Co. with show and sales rooms and garage in Appleton street, has signed an agreement to purchase the C. H. Molloy property in Church street, which includes land and buildings immediately in the rear of the Washington tavern and the H. B. Humphrey livery and bathing business, for the purpose of erecting a large brick garage and storage plant.

Final papers have not been passed as yet and in a like manner, the Buick people have not completed their building plans, but it is said that the new addition to their business will be of considerable area and of strictly modern construction. The property in question is admirably suited for automobile business and is in close proximity to the present buildings of the company.

NOTHING NEW IN DRACUT MURDER

As far as can be learned the state and Dracut police are just as much in the dark regarding the murder of Mrs. Mary Fortuna as at any time since the discovery of her body on Ledge Hill almost two weeks ago. The case is not developing any new clues and all persons who have been detained and questioned have been allowed to go on the establishment of alibis or evident lack of any knowledge of the crime.

The woman's clothes have not been discovered, although several different people have told the police that a pile of clothing was seen in the woods near the spot where the body was found. On close searching, however, no sign of the missing apparel has been disclosed and it is the belief of the police that the clothes were taken from the woods and either burned or buried by the person who committed the crime.

Chemical substitutes for the extract of the vanilla bean are commonly sold, the beans costing as much as $15 a pound.

DUFFY BEATS KETCHELL BOWLING LEAGUE STARTS

Wins Decision in Whirlwind Bout—Avilla Defeats Doyle—Other Bout

Billy Duffy of Everett defeated Al Ketchell of Bridgeport in a whirlwind 10-round bout at the Crescent A. A. last night.

The Duffy-Ketchell bout was the final event of an all-star show and it proved the best of the night. It was replete with action and hard hitting throughout, with both boys showing wonderful ability to give and take punishment.

While Duffy was entitled to the award on points, Ketchell forced him to the limit in order to land on top. Duffy, a little taller, and with a longer reach, proved the better long range fighter, but at in-fighting Ketchell was a "bear." He got under Duffy's long left many times and rained terrific blows to the body. Duffy used a left to the head and a right uppercut to the body that several times reeled his opponent. Ketchell's blows were very effective and in the fifth he caught Duffy on the jaw and sent him to the floor. Duffy was up in a second and continued to wage in, showing no distress as a result of the jolt.

Duffy took an early lead and while Ketchell came to the front about the half-way mark in the final stages, Duffy did the better and more effective battling and deserved the award. Jerry Moore of Boston was the referee. Young Avilla added another K. O. to his list by winning from Tommy Doyle in the fifth round of their scheduled 10-round bout. There was great rivalry between the pair and they lost no time in getting under way. Avilla started right out to win, and in the first round landed a stinging blow over Doyle's right eye, and this blow really settled the contest. It opened a slight wound and bothered Doyle throughout the mill. Avilla showed that he was cool under fire, and that he possesses a terrible wallop. Doyle, however, demonstrated that he is a game and hard working performer, and fought back all the way. Avilla took the first three rounds, but in the fourth Doyle fashed and brought a slight wound to his feet. In the fifth Avilla opened up a heavy attack that had Tommy in a bad way and his seconds tossed in the towel.

Babe Christo of Lowell was stopped in two rounds by Fred Gardner of New York who substituted for Jack Stone of Boston. Christo had the advantage in the opening round, but in the second Gardner came to the front and cut loose a burst of bewildering speed. He caught Christo with his guard down and sent him to the clinch that sent the Lowell boy to the canvas.

Young Panso won from Jackie Clark in the opening round in the preliminary bout. Abe Friedman of New York, who won from Gardner Brooks of Lowell at Lynn last night and Roy Moore of Baltimore, who recently defeated Benny McCoy here in a sensational 12-round bout, will meet in the main event at the local club next Thursday evening.

Pekin Kid Herman, who has fought two thrilling 12-round draws with Roy Moore and who has boxed all the best champions of the country, including Champion Kid Herman, Pat Moore, Joe Lynch and numerous others, is coming east and is anxious to show here. His local representative plans to be at the ringside here next Thursday night to challenge the winner of the Moore-Friedman bout in behalf of Herman. Friedman will land a bout here, Herman will come to Lowell to be trained and handled by Martin Flannery.

FRIEDMAN WINS

Gardner Brooks of Lowell Lost Decision

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—At the Casino A. C. Lynn, last night, Abe Friedman of New York won a decision from Gardner Brooks of Lowell in 12 rounds in the main bout. In the preliminaries Willie Green of South Boston knocked out Al Larue of Salem in five rounds. Tommy Flannery of New Bedford earned a decision in eight rounds over Johnny Sullivan of South Boston and Tommy Joyce of Lynn defeated Red Cronin, also of Lynn, in four rounds.

INDIANS TO PLAY FAST ELEVEN

The Indians of Lowell will line up against the strong St. Mark's Catholic club team of Dorchester on the old fair grounds on Sunday afternoon, and a fast game is expected. The Dorchester eleven is considered one of the best independent teams in that vicinity and already has met and defeated several high class elevens. The Indians have just defeated the "wigwag" within the last week and are confident of winning the state championship. In Dan Coughlin, the former high school star the team has secured a very classy player and already his presence in several games has been felt. Chel Young, recently discharged from the navy and a powerful guard, has been added to the "wigwag". Jackson Palmer, coach, is bringing the team along at a rapid rate. Other players on the team and who will be seen in Sunday's game are Donlan, Boland, Riley, Moore, Turner, McIntyre, Gleason, Lemon, Evans, Eagan, Spence, Cahill, Ferguson and Loucroft. The game will start at 3 o'clock.

The Call-em

Despite all the reiterated assertions of his manager directly after his victory over Willard, Jack Dempsey, the new king, is walking along the same worn path of other champions. He got the biggest title the boxing game offers to her aspirants and now sits back on the throne and watches the no-called off-rat drift by. "Jack will fight anybody, anywhere and at any time," declared his manager, Kearns in Toledo, but now that the offers have come, the Dempsey camp is conspicuously mum. No Jack must

STEAMER DAMAGED

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The shipping board steamer Hoxie, with a propeller stripped to one blade, went word today that she was working slowly toward the coast. Neither the coast guard cutter Seneca, which was sent from New York after the Hoxie called for help three days ago, nor other vessels had reached the steamer. The steamer is believed to be bound from Brazil for New York.

TWO SCHOOL FOOTBALL GAMES SCHEDULED

Lowell will have two school football games tomorrow afternoon; with Textile entertaining Fitchburg, Norwood on the Moody street campus and Lowell high playing Concord high at Spaulding park.

The Textile team, full of life and power after a greuling contest, with Saturday will face Fitchburg confident of its ability as a scoring machine. Not much is known of the visitors, but the team and coaches expect a real battle from whistle to whistle. The team has had a lot of work this week, mainly in correction of weak places which stuck out at Durham. The forward line has been drilled a lot this week on the recovery of fumbles and loose balls.

Marble will pilot the team from the quarterback position, having won the place since Snyder was put out of play with a broken foot. He is light, but fast and handles the men well. Fitchburg has been made for the accommodation of a large crowd. The high school eleven, after being

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 31.—Under instructions from the central department of the army 800 troops of the famous First Division, composing two provisional battalions, were on three trains today, en route to coal fields of West Virginia, where they will patrol disturbed mining districts should a strike of coal miners go into effect Saturday.

Col. W. S. Harrel, commander of the 16th Infantry, is commanding the battalions, which, it is said, will detain at Huntington, W. Va., and scatter in various towns. Infantry and machine gunners, the necessary medical detachment and staff officers left here on the first train shortly after 3 a. m. Two other trains followed, carrying more than 20 army motor trucks and machine guns, rifles, small arms and ammunition.

Ammunition is being taken for extended service, said Maj. Gen. Charles F. Summerall, commander of the First Division. He said he had received on Oct. 17, from the central department headquarters a request from Governor Cornwell of West Virginia for troops in event of a strike.

Held in $2500

Continued
In Boston before Judge Brown and

held in $2500 bail, which had not been obtained early this afternoon.

The charge made against Mrs. Sproule at arraignment this forenoon was violation of the anti-anarchy law, passed this year and which she, herself, strongly opposed, along with a dozen or more socialists, before the legislative committee just prior to its passage.

Mrs. Sproule, who two years ago was an unsuccessful candidate for a position on the Lowell school board and who this year is the socialist party's candidate for lieutenant governor, was arrested late last night on the steps of her home in Webster street by federal officers, assisted by Boston police and Lieut. David Petrie of the Lowell force. She was taken to Boston by automobile and placed in jail to await her arraignment in court this morning.

The warrant which caused her arrest did not specify the date on which the alleged false utterances were made, but it is said that they occurred at a meeting of socialists in Roxbury on Sunday, Oct. 19. The arresting officers waited at the Sproule home from 9 o'clock until 11:40 before Mrs. Sproule, accompanied by her husband, William E. Sproule, a local street car conductor, returned from a meeting they had attended during the evening.

It is said that Mrs. Sproule has been actively connected with the socialist party for some time and also is interested in the so-called communist party in Massachusetts, having but recently been chosen secretary of the state branch.

John E. Chuprina and Solomon Treas were also held in $2500 bonds on charges of promoting anarchy and making revolutionary statements.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—United States District Judge Augustus N. Hand today granted a temporary injunction at the request of the United States district attorney, prohibiting the sale of all liquor containing one-half of one per cent or more alcohol. Under the injunction saloon keepers who violate the prohibition enforcement law can be summarily arrested and imprisoned for contempt of court.

MATRIMONIAL

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place Wednesday evening when Miss Lena Collins, a Dracut school teacher, and Mr. Matthew Wholey, a prominent business man of this city, were married at St. Mary's rectory, Collinsville, by Rev. M. C. Gilbride, assisted by Rev. F. A. McNeil. The bride was attired in white champagne and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Susie Penlan, an aunt of the bride. She was becomingly attired in pink champagne and carried Killarney roses. The best man was Mr. Timothy Wholey, a brother of the groom and a student at Holy Angels' college, Buffalo. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a diamond pendant. The groom's gift to the best man was a pair of cuff links. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother in Mammoth road where a sumptuous wedding supper, served by Caterer Lydon, was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Wholey were the recipients of many beautiful wedding gifts. After the reception they left on an extended wedding trip which will include visits to New York, Washington and other places. After Nov. 25 they will be at home to their friends at 1196 Mammoth road, Collinsville.

JAPAN RATIFIES PEACE TREATY

Ratification by Virtue of Imperial Action—No Action by Parliament

United States Now Only One of Five Great Powers Not To Ratify Pact

TOKIO, Thursday, Oct. 30.—The emperor today ratified the Versailles peace treaty.

Tokio advices received on Thursday announced the ratification of the German peace treaty by Japan. It is clear from the foregoing that the ratification was by virtue of imperial action. It was not preceded by any action by the parliament, the constitution of Japan not requiring the assent of the legislative body.

Previous advices had shown that the treaty had been examined by the privy council and that at a meeting on Monday it was approved by the council without reservation and submitted to the emperor.

Japan's favorable action leaves the pact unrattified by only one of the five great powers signatory to the Versailles convention—the United States. It had previously been ratified by the parliaments of Great Britain and France, which later completed all the processes of ratification. Italy ratified the treaty by royal decree, which, it has been held, must have the approval of parliament. It seems to have been conceded, however, that the royal confirmation of the document was sufficient to bind Italy in her relations with the other powers.

This point, however, loses something in international importance by reason of Japan's ratification. The terms of the treaty stipulate that the ratification by three of the principal powers, puts it into effect as to those powers and Germany. Japan's ratification in addition to the definite approval of the document by Great Britain and France furnishes the required number of agreeing powers without regard to the action of Italy.

The only formality remaining in the issuance by the French government of a process verbal announcing the ratification made and declaring the treaty in effect. The European powers that have ratified have deposited copies of the ratified document in Paris. Japan will not be required to take this action, the treaty providing that powers of which the seat of government is outside Europe will be entitled merely to inform the French government through their diplomatic representative in Paris that their ratification has been given, the instrument of ratification to be deposited as soon as possible later.

Mr. Ziskind has no definite plans at present as to how he shall develop the property.

capally to two issues, one the giving of a bonus to every young man of the commonwealth who served in the world war, and the other, the taking over of the water supply systems by the state.

Relative to the bonus proposition Mr. Nolan said that the $100 which is being given the soldiers and sailors under the present system is not in reality a bonus, but rather a tax on the families of the former service men. In many families, he said, the father and brothers of the men who are getting the $100 will be compelled to pay back a large part of this amount

On the other hand, he pointed out, the bonus plan advocated by Mr. Long would give the soldier or sailor $360, a really substantial amount, and the burden of paying it would fall not on the families of the soldiers and sailors, but upon the wealthy residents of the state who would be taxed by a graduated system of income taxation. This plan, he said, was far more just and far more beneficial to the service men than the plan adopted in Governor Coolidge's administration.

Mr. Nolan also pleaded at length for the taking over of the water supply so that they could be run efficiently and without extravagance as under the present system. Under state supervision industries could be fostered and not impeded as is the case at the present time.

In closing, Mr. Nolan urged his listeners to give full support to the other democratic candidates on the ballot and made particular mention of Hon. John T. Sparks, candidate for senator. With such men as Mr. Sparks to support him, Mr. Long would be able to give a thoroughly American administration of the office of governor, the speaker said.

Union Head Says Court Order Forbidding Strike Will Be Ignored

A. F. L. PROTESTS INJUNCTION

Officials Declare Order Violates Rights of Union Labor
—To Support Miners

ernment's Attitude—Right
to Strike Not Involved

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Officials of the American Federation of Labor protested to Attorney General Palmer today against the action of the government in obtaining an injunction in the coal strike.

Samuel Gompers, president of the federation, did not accompany the delegation, but an engagement was made for him to see the attorney general tomorrow.

The federation officials declared the injunction violated the rights of union labor and indicated that the coal miners would have their support in any fight brought to dissolve the injunction. Mr. Palmer reiterated that the government was proceeding solely against one union which, he declared,
was trying to violate the law. He said
the right to strike was not involved.

It is understood that there will be no change in the policy of the government as a result of the representations of the union men.

Representatives of the four railroad brotherhoods, including Warren S.
Stoie, grand chief of the orders, and
L. E. Shepard, president of the conductors, accompanied the delegation.
Their presence was taken as indicating that although not affiliated with the federation, the brotherhoods would give their powerful support to any action union labor might take.

ORDER WILL NOT PREVENT STRIKE

Lewis Says Injunction Cannot Avert Walkout Set For Midnight

Calls Order Sweeping Abrogation of Rights of Citizens

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 31.—A temporary injunction obtained here today by the government cannot avert the strike of bituminous coal miners set for midnight tonight, according to John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers. Lewis' pronouncement came shortly after he had been served with a writ compelling strike activities at union headquarters here.

Lewis dictated the following statement:

"I regard the issuance of this injunction as the most sweeping abrogation of the rights of citizens guaranteed under the constitution and defined by statutory law, that has ever been issued by any federal court.
This instrument will not avert the strike of bituminous mine workers and will not settle the strike after it occurs. The injunction only complicates to a further degree the problems involved in an adjustment of the controversy.

SUPERIOR COURT ADJOURNS
The civil session of the superior court adjourned this afternoon until next Wednesday morning after the court had ordered a verdict for the defendant in the case of Turnbull vs. the Boston & Maine railroad.

Federal Judge Commands Coal Miners' Union Officials to Cease Strike Activities

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 31.—A temporary injunction restraining all strike activities of the United Mine Workers of America, was issued in the federal district court here today on application of the United States government. Judge A. B. Anderson signed the order on the showing set forth by C. B. Ames, assistant attorney general, that a national disaster was impending and on the broad general grounds that the government has the right to enforce its laws and protect its people from calamity.

EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY

The order was directed against Frank G. Hayes, the incapacitated president of the union; John L. Lewis, acting president; William Green, secretary-treasurer, and all other officials of the organization. It took effect when served, and will continue in force until after the formal hearing which Judge Anderson set for Nov. 8.

Service was had on Lewis, Green and

headquarters a few minutes before
hour after Judge Anderson signed the order.

In presenting the petition, Judge
Ames made it clear that the case will
not involve the general right of work-

GET MILITARY MEDALS

Loyal Wamesit Lodge Honors Service Members at Anniversary Observance

Presented with handsome military medals by Mayor Perry D. Thompson, banqueted and entertained by various local speakers and singers, the fighting sons of Loyal Wamesit lodge, I.O. O.F., M.U., received a royal "welcome home" at the 25th anniversary celebration of the organization, held in Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street, last evening. Twenty members of the lodge answered the call to arms when democracy was threatened, and of these twenty, twelve were present last evening.

The speakers included His Honor, Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Past Grand Frederick G. Humphris, who acted as toastmaster; Rev. N. W. Matthews, pastor of the First Primitive Methodist church; P.G. John Orrell, secretary of the lodge, and Joseph Smith, P.P.G.M. Despite the inclemency of the weather, nearly 200 members and friends of the organization attended the event, and enjoyed in full measure the varied program provided by the committee in charge.

The first speaker was Joseph Smith, P.P.G.M., who, after paying a fitting tribute to the men who had left their Lowell homes to follow the colors, introduced P.G. Frederick G. Humphris, toastmaster of the evening. Mr. Humphris spoke in part as follows:

Toastmaster Fred G. Humphris: Wamesit lodge has now completed 25 years of eventful and interesting history, and as we stand on the threshold we pause for a moment to wonder what the coming year may have in store for us, and the thought comes to us as to how we may make the new year more profitable and productive than the year just closed. The world is naturally conservative and is restlessly content with the good old days

WAS UP LATE SATURDAY NIGHT

WASHINGTON—The job of setting the nation right on the time change fell to Charles C. Wylie, chief of the division of time, naval observatory. This is the standard clock that regulates the time all over the country.

and the old order of things. The things our fathers somehow got along with, impress us as good enough for us, and as long as the old machinery works at all we are slow to displace it with any new contraption. Success must be achieved and well achieved before we are satisfied with any new proposition. But eventually we realize that the world was intended to progress and the wisdom of one generation only reaches to the starting point of the succeeding age. The past has no mortgage upon the future in this respect—and the present is but a step pling stone from the old days to the new. No one need hesitate to solicit members for the order. It is well worthy of our full confidence and loyal support. It has no apologies to offer. The world owes much to the Manchester Unity of Odd Fellows for the example it has set—for the great amount of good it has done. But the lodge and order must continue to grow. It must advance if its future is to be worthy of the past.

Our order stands for what is best in citizenship, charity and morals. It is a fraternity that seeks to make this world better and brighter—a fraternity that exalts manhood and character, expresses love and sympathy, a strong ally to the church and an important factor to the social, educational and moral advancement of its members. It is a friend to the man that needs friendship. It helps men to be men and remain men.

In view of this wonderful record, it is most fitting that we at this time commemorate the 25th anniversary of our lodge with a grand reception and welcome home to our members who gave their services in the world war, so that it can be recorded upon the pages in the history of Wamesit lodge, how we appreciated the sacrifices and services of those who have nobly fought, bled and died, defending their homes and loved ones.

Since our last anniversary the world war has been fought and won, the hand of the despoiler has been stayed, the topography of the earth has been changed as in the twinkling of an eye—the flower of our country have returned to peaceful pursuits—leaving behind many to reshape the destinies of lands so lately riven with strife and also leaving, alas, those heroes who will never return to us again—who lie out there in Flanders and bloodied fields with the dew of heaven falling on their commingled dust. Great heroes—all living and dead—we salute you with those of the storied past who fought on Plateau Plain and at Thermopylae—with those who died at Constantinople—with Washington at Yorktown—with Jackson at New Orleans—with Meade and Lee at Gettysburg. You have fought the good fight—have kept the faith, so that now your fame is secure like as the immortal names "that were not born to die."

Thank God, our order furnished its quota to the list of those who fought, aye, and died, that liberty and freedom might prevail. The worth of the Manchester Unity was felt on the

FREDERICK G. HUMPHRIS,
Toastmaster

Ever since the armistice was signed one year ago we have been looking forward to this event, when we could welcome you home. The information "that the boys were coming home" was the most welcome news that the dear ones at home had received in many months. The question to be then asked was, "We are going to do for them?" We have tried here tonight to make you boys feel that we are glad you are back with us and that our joy is really genuine.

Speaking of the private soldier and the part he played in the world war, one of our allied army officers, Colonel Guthrie, I believe, pays the following tribute: "Lots have been said of the generals who lead the soldiers on the battlefields, but little do we hear of the private soldier; whether he was a British Tommy, French poilu, or the American doughboy."

"Whenever we use the word victory—whenever we think of what the word means, our imaginations must necessarily picture before us the grim edge of 'No Man's Land' with the solitary man of the mud standing in his trench fire, peering out into the night time darkness, always guarding by his presence there—the far off homes. He is the first line of defense in the land force system. He it is who has withstood the brunt and has taken the hard knocks of the war."

"He is the wonder of the world, God bless him, and when we in the homelands begin to think of erecting statues to perpetuate the memories of this great world struggle for civilization—that the children of our race in future may know who did it—let them chisel the form of a private

Report by Board of Trade

Charter Committee—Summary of Plan B

Messrs. Francis M. Qua, Richard Brabrook Walsh and Frederick S. Harvey were appointed by the board of trade to compare the provisions of the present charter with those of Plan B. They have done so and their report has already been summarized in The Sun. The board, however, requests that further publicity should be given the report in order that the voters may get clear ideas of both charters before going to the polls next Tuesday.

As most people who are interested in the subject are already familiar with the present charter, the summary of Plan B is here printed for the information of the public.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

I. Elections

1. Primaries: No Primary. Candidates nominated by petition signed by two voters for each hundred votes cast at last election in district in which candidate is to stand, but in no case by less than fifty nor more than one thousand voters.

II. Contracts

1. Contracts are made by department heads. Contracts involving more than $200 must be in writing and must be approved by the mayor and by the department making the same.

2. Contracts for construction work or the purchase of supplies exceeding $200, except in cases of emergency, can only be awarded after public advertisement.

3. Participation by members of city government, officers, or employees, in any contract with the city renders such contract voidable by the city and is a criminal offense, but ownership of not more than 5% of the stock of a corporation making a contract with the city is not held to be "participation" therein.

4. Officials not forbidden to exceed their appropriations.

III. Initiative

1. On petition of 20% of whole number of registered voters, the city council must submit measure proposed to the people at a special election.

2. On petition of less than 20% but more than 5% of whole number of registered voters, the city council must submit measure proposed to the people at the next regular election.

3. If a measure so proposed is adopted by the people, it becomes a law.

IV. Referendum

1. On petition of at least 12 percent of whole number of registered voters, within 20 days after the final passage of any measure, such measure must be submitted to the people, either at a special election or at the next regular election.

2. The city council or the school committee may, of its own motion, submit any measure to the people.

V. Recall

No corresponding provision.

STRUCTURE OF GOVERNMENT

I. Mayor

1. Election: By and from the qualified voters of the city.

2. Term: Two years.

3. Salary: To be determined by city council, not to exceed $5000 per year.

4. Powers and duties: The mayor is the chief executive officer of the city. He has the power, subject to the approval of the city council, to appoint all heads of departments and members of boards (except the city clerk who is appointed by the city council). He also, subject to the approval of the city council, may remove the same officers. He has a veto on legislative acts of the city council. He is not the head of any particular department and he does not sit as a member of the city council. He may, however, attend meetings and speak, and he must attend and answer questions either personally or by some officer designated for the purpose, if requested.

5. Vacancy:

(a) In case of temporary disability of mayor, the president of the city council shall act as mayor, but shall possess the powers of mayor only in matters not admitting of delay; and, "shall have no power to make permanent appointments."

(b) In case a vacancy in the office of mayor occurs before the last six months of the term of office, the city council shall order a special election. If such vacancy occurs during the last six months of the term of office, the president of the city council serves for the remainder of the term.

II. City Council

1. Election: Composed of 15 members, one member elected by and from the qualified voters of each of the nine wards, and six members elected at large by and from the qualified voters of the city.

2. Term: Each member is elected for the term of two years, except that at the first election following the adoption of "Plan B," the nine ward representatives are to be elected for terms of one year each, so that in succeeding years the elections will alternate, the nine ward representatives being chosen one year and the six members at large the next.

3. Salary: To be determined by a two-thirds vote of the city council itself, taken on a roll call, but not to exceed $500 per year for each member.

4. Powers and duties: (a) The city council is simply the legislative body of the city. Its members are not in charge of particular departments of the government and it has no administrative functions, except concurrence in the appointment and removal of officials.

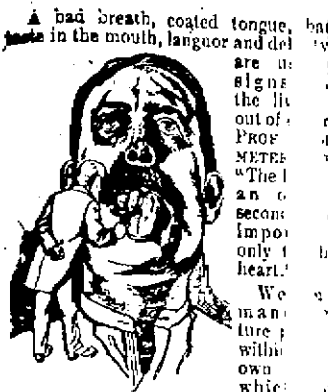

(b) All legislative sessions of the city council must be public.

(c) No yeas and nays vote called for on votes involving over $50 as in present charter.

(d) The city council by two-thirds vote may pass any measure over the mayor's veto.

INTERNAL REVENUE MEN ENFORCING DRY LAW

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—"The purpose of this office is to see that the law is not violated," said Acting Collector of Internal Revenue Andrew J. Casey, addressing the force of field deputies this morning as they were starting upon their second day's duties in the enforcement of the prohibition enforcement act. "I want you to handle this law the same as any other law, treating all alike. The 'big fellow' will receive no more consideration than the smallest dealer and you will not have to show favors to any one."

Mr. Casey reminded the deputies that their duties were established by the law and asserted that he would stand behind them in every way to see that the act was enforced in every detail. "From information reaching this office," continued the collector, "I have every reason to believe that manufacturers and dealers are complying with the new conditions."

Before starting out the first day the deputies were instructed in the law by Attorney Frank Lynch, head of the

EQUAL REPRESENTATION OF MEN AND WOMEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Equal representation for men and women in international councils as well as national legislatures promises to be one of the first requests to be made by the international congress of working women to the international labor conference.

A special committee of the congress today had under consideration a resolution offered by Mme. Jeanne Bouvier, a French delegate, requesting that the international labor conference permit women to be equally represented with men in all future meetings of the conference.

Adoption throughout the world of the eight-hour day, delegates believe, will be another of the recommendations of the congress.

In addition to action on the Bouvier resolution and discussion of the eight-hour day, the congress program for today called for perfection of a permanent organization, including election of officers.

ADMIT DELEGATES OF FORMER ENEMIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Having decided to admit the representatives of Germany and Austria on an equality with those of other nations, the international labor conference was called on today to decide the question of granting seats in the gathering to delegates from Mexico and Finland.

Motions to give representation to both of these nations which are not named in the annex to the Versailles treaty as members of the League of Nations, were introduced late yesterday, but went over under the rules until today.

Decision to admit the representatives of the late enemy powers was reached by the conference last night with only a single dissenting vote, that of Louis Guerin, French capital delegate, who declared that the conference should make a distinction between a people "who violated the neutrality of Belgium and introduced barbarous methods in warfare" and the peoples who respect international law.

Because of a number of separate meetings of delegates, the conference was not called to meet today until 2.30 o'clock.

AVIATOR KILLED

Crashed to Death Into Side of Mountain

DOVER, N. J., Oct. 31.—John P. Charlton, pilot of the air mail from Chalfont, Penn., drove through a heavy fog and crashed to his death into the side of Schooley's mountain near here yesterday. His machine was a total wreck and Charlton was dead when help arrived on the scene.

Long Valley farmers heard the humming motor of the plane, about 500 feet up. They thought the aviator was seeking a landing place. When the sound of the engine suddenly stopped, a hunt for him was started.

FIVE STATES TO ELECT GOVERNORS NOV. 4

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Five states—Massachusetts, New Jersey, Virginia, Maryland and Mississippi—will elect Governors at the "off year" elections next Tuesday, Nov. 4. A congressional election will be held in the Fifth district of Oklahoma on Nov. 3, where a successor is to be chosen to the late Representative Joseph B. Thompson.

Prohibition is the chief issue in Ohio, where the voters will pass upon two amendments and two referendums on the subject. The referendums relate to the legislative ratification of the federal prohibition amendment and the prohibition enforcement act passed by the last legislature. The amendments propose that 2.75 per cent liquor shall not be defined as intoxicating and that constitutional state-wide prohibition be repealed. Kentucky also votes on the question of state-wide prohibition. Massachusetts, New Jersey, Kentucky and Maryland will elect new members of the legislature. New York will vote for members of the state assembly and justices of the state supreme court. Illinois and Nebraska are to elect delegates to constitutional conventions and in Texas voters are asked to approve a call for a constitutional convention.

Why hesitate? All around you is evidence of what clothing prices are; stores think nothing of asking $40, $50, $60 and up for ready mades, and they've got to do it the way the wholesale market is—a man can blow a month's salary for a suit of clothes, and yet I am continuing my offer of a suit or overcoat to measure for $27.50. But this offer lasts only as long as my stock of fabrics lasts. The wools I talk about were bought months ago when the woolen market dropped temporarily, in quantities direct from mills and commission houses, cash buying, and cash selling. No charge accounts, no middleman's profit, and doing the biggest custom tailoring business in New England north of Boston, enable you to save $5.00 to $15.00 on Mitchell's tailored clothes.

soldier that all may know that a grateful nation knew and appreciated who won the war.

The Lodge Secretary

P.G. John Orrell, secretary of the lodge, was the next speaker. Mr. Orrell said he was proud to be able to welcome back the men who had done their bit when Uncle Sam called, and added that the principles for which they had been ready to give their lives "over there" must not be allowed to become forgotten "over here" in the days to come. We must all do our share in the battle against anarchism and Bolshevism, the speaker said, and he knew that the boys who had fought for democracy in the trenches of France would wage a winning fight against the enemies of liberty in America.

Mayor Thompson Speaks

Mayor Thompson, the next speaker, said he considered it a great privilege to be present and participate in welcoming home the service men of the lodge. "I am going to give now the first military order I have ever given," declared His Honor, smilingly, to the boys who had filed out in front of the speaker's dais when he commenced to speak, and who were standing as erect as though undergoing inspection. "At ease!" ordered the mayor, and the boys fell into a more restful position.

Mayor Thompson then told of the work the women of the city had done while their brothers, husbands and sweethearts were fighting across the sea. "We were with you in spirit while you were away," he said to the line of khaki-clad men facing him. "We prayed for you night and day. And we were mighty proud of the work you were doing over there, and mighty proud and glad to have you return to us again."

"There is a great work ahead of you over here, too. The lodge of which you are members asks that you help to spread its teachings—friendship, love and truth—among your fellowmen wherever you may be, and this I know you will do. If we do this, there is no Bolshevism we may fear, and the boys who fought their battles overseas will not have fought in vain. I am proud to be mayor of a city which can produce such men as you."

Rev. Mr. Matthews

Rev. Mr. Matthews was the final speaker and told several interesting stories of the Boer war, some pathetic and others with a generous sprinkling of humor. He referred to the proposed League of Nations, and said that if we needed a league to keep the world at peace while our boys were in the mud of France and Flanders we surely needed it as much as ever now.

Interspersed with the remarks of the speakers were several enjoyable musical selections, given by well-known local artists, including Commissioner James E. Donnelly, Brother Harry Leavitt, Mrs. Charles Young, R. Livingston, Messrs. Boutellier and Vennard and Bertram Nelid.

The committee in charge was: James Smith, P.P.G.M., chairman; P.G. John W. Foster, secretary; P.G. Willis H. Bowles, P.G. A. J. Willis, William Mack, G.M., Richard Holden, Fred Chapman, Harry Leavitt and Harry Stack.

VANITY BAGS FOR MEN

Sprinkle a Little Perfume
on Your Money To Protect It

BY RICHARD SHILLANE
Staff Writer on Business and Finance

Some capacious persons say mean things about the habit women have of carrying vanity bags in which they store perfumes and powders and other aids or supposed aids to beauty.

If they but knew it these vanity bags have virtues beyond the design of their fashions.

For example: There came to Atlantic City the other day a lady who had as many jewels as the Queen of Sheba and who oozed money. Wherever she went she sparkled.

The second or third day after her arrival she thought she wanted a few trifles so she stuffed a lot of bills into her shopping bag along with her vanity kit and other things and got into a roller chair and had one of the obliging gentlemen who push chairs propel her along the boardwalk. She stopped at various shops and made purchases. In course of time she had all the articles she desired and was wheeled back to her hotel. Some hours later she looked for her shopping bag for she wanted something in her vanity box. The bag was gone.

A hunt was made to find the wheel chair and the propeller of the chair. It was discovered and in the chair the shopping bag reposed but the lady upon opening it declared some of her money had disappeared.

Police Captain Lippman "frisked" the chairman. He had considerable wealth. It was his own, he declared. The captain put some of the bills to his nose.

He got the scent of frankincense myrrh and various perfumes.

The captain says the chair pusher confessed.

BY HONORA COSTIGAN

The food which really makes us grow and which is converted through the process of digestion into living matter is protein.

Proteins are combinations of carbon, oxygen and hydrogen with the addition of nitrogen, sulphur, phosphorus, and other elements which are present in various amounts.

Proteins form a most important class of foods, and are very necessary for growing children. They are the bricks and mortar, or the boards and nails which build the human house.

Protein substance is added to protein substance, cell to cell until the body reaches its full growth.

You can't build a very large or useful house without building materials; neither can you build a large and useful body without plenty of protein.

Protein not only builds up the body, but performs the same service to it that the repair man offers the automobile.

Proteins add to the body, and make it stronger and more useful. They also repair the parts of the body which have been used up or worn out.

Protein repairs those parts automatically. Automobiles have not been perfected to that extent, therefore, in having a body which supplies automatically the substances which have been used up or worn out we may say that we possess a most remarkable machine.

The white of egg is an example of protein. Protein is also found in large amounts in milk, meat, fish, grains, plants and in foods made from milk, as cheese and butter. Gelatin also is protein.

Applications may be obtained at the office of the commission, State House, Boston, and from its representatives in the different cities.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come:

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

If you want to know how one man made $5000 a year, go and see the comedy of the same name at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week. It is presented by a very competent company, with Robert Hyman, Virginia Mann and Francis Moray. Laugh-making pair, Frank Kellam and Kitty O'Dare, who are without peers in their particular line, are on this bill, and Barto and Clark in "Columbia and Victor," are specially good in a novelty act. The Sterling Saxophone Four, not least, are good. Others on this delightful bill are Warden Brothers, Martyn & Florence and the Althoff Sisters.

OPERA HOUSE

Of the many excellent characterizations given by the Lowell Players this week in the dramatic hit, "A Woman at Bay," which has been met with such general approval by patrons, is the characterization of the detective by Jack Bennett. We have seen him in many good parts, but this week's efforts are several degrees above any of his past endeavors. Miss Marguerite Fields and John Meehan, the former as "Nancy," the woman at bay, and Mr. Meehan as the upstanding and generous husband, are both excellent, while the other roles are in entirely capable hands. The staging of the play is done with the same care and finish as all others that have been handled by J. Francis Kirk. Order your tickets immediately for the remaining performances.

Next week's production is to be that humorous, rollicking, high-grade comedy, "Here Comes the Bride," in which Miss Fields and Mr. Meehan will be seen in their best comedy parts. And that's saying a good deal after considering what triumphs they have scored up to date. Place your name on the subscription list.

on the subject of shortbread, soiness and freshness, however, are not popular with Scotch and English folk. "But, good as was the old-fashioned kind," remarked our hostess, "it was so extremely rich that the heavy taste lingered long after eating."

"Well," said Peter, "there's nothing to be said for it either. I was saying to me last week," remarked Betsy. "She told me that it was so long ago when the kitchen maid of her time that she got a chance to see a difference between the old-fashioned shortbread and the new-fashioned one."

How far shortbread dates back is uncertain. But it is certain that LORNA DOONE Biscuit introduced an entirely new shortbread quality—in better flavor, in better texture, and in absence of over-richness. The name LORNA DOONE is on every biscuit. Sold by the pound and in the famous In-er-seal Trade Mark package.

MATCH OPPOSED

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The family of the beautiful Mrs. Beatrice M. Benjamin Pratt, a wealthy divorcee, are objecting to her announced engagement to Preston Gibson, Washington society man and playwright. Gibson has been twice married and divorced. Both have been prominent in society and come from families of old standing.

UNCLE SAM M. D.

"Dangerous Night Air" a Discarded Bogey

The following on night air and "questions and answers" are continued in the daily health column conducted under the direction of Rupert Blue, surgeon general, United States public health service.

Breathe all the fresh air you can get, night and day. That's what fresh air is for. The fearsome legend about the baleful influences of "night air" is only another of the carefully nursed insidious bequests from our ancestors.

When this superstition arose may only be surmised. Perhaps it is a survival of the primeval cult of sun worship, which led the ancients to classify anything outside the sphere of solar influence as harmful.

Our forebears were wont to caution their offspring to "be careful about the night air," or children were ordered to "come in out of the night air."

It is perhaps fortunate for the children living in the Arctic circle, where the nights are six months long, that the Esquimaux mothers do not entertain this crude notion about night air, else their progeny would spend half the year indoors.

The night air, minus the sun, is no different from the atmosphere of a sunless day. The atmospheric envelope of the earth does not change from benign to malignant in the twinkling of an eye after sun-down. It is still composed of oxygen, nitrogen, argon and carbon dioxide in the normal proportions for the given locality.

The open air treatment of tuberculosis and its kindred allies had first to combat this venerable jargon about the deadliness of night air, and only the remarkable results of this hygienic aid to its cure brought the superstition to a realization of the silliness of their ingrained noctophobia.

This generation has witnessed the emancipation of human beings in respect to the value of fresh air, whether in bulk or in smaller "drafts." From being a people immersed in hermetically sealed rooms at night breathing our own bodily exhalations over and over again, a constantly increasing number of persons are sleeping in the open, or at least with open windows, summer and winter, to their great benefit.

In the morning they are refreshed with the pure oxygen of the air breathed during sleep, not "stewed" nor "stuffy" after eight hours spent in respiring and re-respiring second-hand and shop-worn air in a closed bedroom.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. Can you tell me the number of cases of diabetes in the United States, and the number in each state?

A. It is practically impossible to give you information concerning the number of cases of diabetes that there are in the United States at the present time. The nearest approach to such information is that contained in the mortality reports published by the United States census bureau. According to this there were, in 1904 (the latest year for which figures are available), 12,199 deaths from diabetes in the United States registration area. These were quite generally distributed throughout the country as you can see by consulting the various tables published by the census bureau.

Q. What is lumbago and how can it be cured?

A. The condition known as lumbago is a form of muscular rheumatism involving the muscles of the back. The cause of this condition has not clearly been determined, but attacks of lumbago are brought about by exposure to cold, damp and wet, and especially to drafts of cold air. In the chronic form of this trouble changes in the weather appear to have definite relations to the attacks.

Cases are also met with in which gout appears to be an underlying cause. The painful condition is usually treated best by the application of dry heat. An efficient home remedy consists in having the patient lie with his face down, covering the back with a dozen or more thicknesses of newspaper and then repeatedly passing a hot iron over the paper.

CARRIES TOOLS IN HER VANITY BAG

CLEVELAND, Oct. 31.—A fair autoist tried to hack out of her parking space at the curb and punctured the gasoline tank on the bumper of the machine behind. She took a look at the damage and then delved into her handbag and brought out a handkerchief and a bit of adhesive tape, stuck the rag into the hole and crisscrossed it with a patch. Then she powdered her nose and drove off.

EATS ARE CHEAP FOR JAP WORKERS

TOKIO, Oct. 31.—Japanese workers can live cheaply. Model restaurants are going up in the industrial sections of the city where workmen may get good meals for ten and fifteen sen (ten or fifteen cents). Mitsubishi Co. donated a half million dollars for the building of the restaurants.

The most northerly settlement in the world is Etah, on the west coast of Greenland. In a good hunting season, it has a population of a dozen Eskimo families.

MORE HOUSES REQUIRED ALL OVER COUNTRY

There is dire need for more houses, more apartments, more buildings of all kinds, says Building Age, New York. From villages, towns and cities all over the country comes the cry for more building.

In response to this urgent demand, various plans have been advanced for the stimulation of building. Perhaps that which has received wider approval than any of the others is the proposal to exempt buildings, erected now from taxation for various terms of years, usually five to seven. This proposal is an artificial stimulant, a stimulant which has little to recommend it. It will probably cause more buildings to be erected. But many of these buildings would have been erected, exemption or no exemption. Furthermore, exemption from taxation of one class of capital will only throw a heavier burden on the rest. If building is exempted, this does not mean that the revenue will not go to the government, but only that an equivalent amount of taxes must be secured from some other source. Taxation is high, and an even rather than an uneven distribution of the burden is the desirable thing.

The trouble with building is the very same trouble that is causing high prices and slackened production all over the country. Sugar coating the trouble will not remove it; any remedy that will do good must strike at the very heart of the reason for lack of sufficient building. That trouble is high prices of materials, high prices of labor, and uncertainty as to when labor will take it into its head to strike, illegally or otherwise.

A man gets paid for what he does. If he lays 1500 bricks a day, he may get $6. If he lays 1000 and gets $10, that does not mean that he is $4 the gainer. No, indeed; the extra cost is tacked on to the building. His rent goes up to meet the cost of new construction, workmen in other industries follow his tactics, and he pays more for his food, his clothing, his pleasures, and he has no more than when he was getting $6, except perhaps temporarily. The amount of money he receives is greater, its purchasing power is proportionately less. But let that man getting $6 a day lay 2000 brick instead of 1500, and the building goes up more quickly. Prices are lower, other industries speed up—food, clothing and rent come down due to the lower cost per unit. And more men are employed. The bricklayer can afford to buy more clothing, more food, more necessities, because prices are lower, and his surplus will go into savings and into luxuries that will make his life happier and his family more comfortable. Curtailment of production means high cost and lessening demand, a lessening demand that throws men out of work instead of creating more jobs.

And that is where the trouble lies—strikes and lessened production. No temporary expedient will serve to better the building situation. Any remedy that will do real and permanent good must go to the very heart of the cause of high material prices and high labor cost, not only in this industry, but in other industries also.

High wages, yes—but greater production, a production that will keep prices low in spite of the high wages paid.

PAGE THE BUG THAT EATS THE BUG THAT EATS THE ORANGES!

(N.E.A. Special to The Sun)
CAPE TOWN.—Not all the American scientists in Africa are members of the Smithsonian expedition.

The state of California has sent one over here to make investigations that will increase the production of California orange groves.

He is E. W. Rust, state entomologist, of Sacramento. His job is to find a bug that will eat the bug that eats the oranges.

Rust, who formerly was government entomologist in Peru, came over on the same boat that brought the Smithsonian expedition.

The bug that makes a meal off orange parasites is known to exist in South Africa, Rust says. His big job will be to transport a live colony of them back to California. He expects to begin sending his first specimens shortly, but he will remain here a year or more engaged in extended studies of bug and insect life that may be beneficial to general fruit and agricultural production in California.

VANITY BAGS FOR MEN

Sprinkle a Little Perfume
on Your Money To Protect It

BY RICHARD SPILLANE
Staff Writer on Business and Finance
Some capricious persons may mean things about the habit women have of carrying vanity bags in which they store perfumes and powders and other aids or supposed aids to beauty.

If they but knew it these vanity bags have virtues beyond the design of their fashions.

For example: There came to Atlantic City the other day a lady who had as many jewels as the Queen of Sheba and who oozed money. Wherever she went she sparkled.

The second or third day after her arrival she thought she wanted a few trifles so she stuffed a lot of bills into her shopping bag along with her vanity kit and other things and got into a roller chair and had one of the obliging gentlemen who push chairs propel her along the board-walk. She stopped at various shops and made purchases. In course of time she had all the articles she desired and was wheeled back to her hotel. Some hours later she looked for her shopping bag for she wanted something in her vanity box. The bag was gone.

A hunt was made to find the wheel chair and the propeller of the chair. He was discovered and in the chair the shopping bag reposed but the lady upon opening it declared some of her money had disappeared.

Police Captain Lippman "frisked" the chairman. He had considerable wealth. It was his own, he declared. The captain put some of the bills to his nose.

He got the scent of frankincense myrrh and various perfumes.

The captain says the chair pusher confessed.

BY HONORA COSTIGAN

The food which really makes us grow and which is converted through the process of digestion into living matter is protein.

Proteins are combinations of carbon, oxygen and hydrogen with the addition of nitrogen, sulphur, phosphorus, and other elements which are present in various amounts.

Proteins form a most important class of foods, and are very necessary for growing children. They are the bricks and mortar, or the boards and nails which build the human house.

Protein substance is added to protein substance, cell to cell until the body reaches its full growth.

You can't build a very large or useful house without building materials; neither can you build a large and useful body without plenty of protein.

Protein not only builds up the body, but performs the same service to it that the repair man offers the automobile.

Proteins add to the body, and make it stronger and more useful. They also repair the parts of the body which have been used up or worn out.

Protein repairs those parts automatically. Automobiles have not been perfected to that extent, therefore, in having a body which supplies automatically the substances which have been used up or worn out we may say that we possess a most remarkable machine.

The white of egg is an example of protein. Protein is also found in large amounts in milk, meat, fish, grains, plants and in foods made from milk, as cheese and butter. Gelatin also is protein.

Applications may be obtained at the office of the commission, State House, Boston, and from its representatives in the different cities.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

J. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

If you want to know how one man made $5000 a year, go and see the comedy comedy of the same name at the J. F. Keith theatre, this week. It is presented by a very competent company, with Robert Hyman, Virginia Mann and Francis Morley. A laugh-making pair, Frank Kellum and Kitty O'Dare, who are without peers in their particular line, are on this bill, and Harry and Clark in "Columbia and Victory" are specially good in a novelty act. The Sterling Saxophone Four pour forth good music. Others on this delightful bill are Worden Brothers, Marilyn & Florence and the Athol Sisters.

OPERA HOUSE

Of the many excellent characterizations given by the Lowell Players this week in the dramatic hit, "A Woman at Bay," which has been met with such general approval by patrons, is the characterization of the detective by Jack Bennett. We have seen him in many good parts, but this week's efforts are several degrees above any of his past endeavors. Miss Margaretie Fields and John Meehan, the former as "Nancy" the woman at bay, and Mr. Meehan as the upstanding and generous husband, are both excellent, while the other roles are in entirely capable hands. The staging of the play is done with the same care and finish as all others that have been handled by J. Francis Kirk. Order your tickets immediately for the remaining performances.

Next week's production is to be that humorous, rollicking, high-grade comedy and freshness, however, are not the only features that recommend them. A still greater consideration is the fact that National Biscuit Company products obviate the necessity for mixing and baking at home and any woman who has spent a good part of her time in the kitchen saving even for a small family knows the comfort, efficiency and economy of buying these uniformly good, ready-to-serve products.

MATCH OPPOSED

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The family of the beautiful Mrs. Beatrice M. Benjamin Pratt, a wealthy divorcee, are objecting to her announced engagement to Preston Gibson, Washington society man and playwright. "Dangerous Night Air" a Discarded Bogey

The following on night air and "questions and answers" are continued in the daily health column conducted under the direction of Rupert Blue, surgeon general, United States public health service.

Breathe all the fresh air you can get, night and day. That's what fresh air is for. The fearsome legend about the baleful influences of "night air" is only another of the carefully nursed insidious bequests from our ancestors.

When this superstition arose may only be surmised. Perhaps it is a survival of the primeval cult of sun worship, which led the ancients to classify anything outside the sphere of solar influence as harmful.

Our forebears were wont to caution their offspring to "be careful about the night air," or children were ordered to "come in out of the night air."

It is perhaps fortunate for the children living in the Arctic circle, where the nights are six months long, that the Esquimaux mothers do not entertain this crude notion about night air, else their progeny would spend half the year indoors.

The night air, minus the sun, is no different from the atmosphere of a sunless day. The atmospheric envelope of the earth does not change from benign to malign in the twinkling of an eye after sun-down. It is still composed of oxygen, nitrogen, argon, and carbon dioxide in the normal proportions for the given locality.

The open air treatment of tuberculosis and its kindred allies had first to combat this venerable jargon about the deadliness of night air, and only the remarkable results of this hygienic aid to its cure brought the superstition to a realization of the silliness of their ingrained noctophobia.

This generation has witnessed the emancipation of human beings in respect to the value of fresh air, whether in bulk or in smaller "drafts." From being a people immersed in hermetically sealed rooms at night, breathing our own bodily exhalations over and over again, a constantly increasing number of persons are sleeping in the open, or at least with open windows, summer and winter, to their great benefit.

In the morning they are refreshed with the pure oxygen of the air breathed during sleep, not "stewed" nor "seedy" after eight hours spent in respiring and re-respiring second-hand and shop-worn air in a closed bedroom.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. Can you tell me the number of cases of diabetes in the United States, and the number in each state?

A. It is practically impossible to give you information concerning the number of cases of diabetes that there are in the United States at the present time. The nearest approach to such information is that contained in the mortality reports published by the United States census bureau. According to this there were, in 1904 (the latest year for which figures are available), 12,199 deaths from diabetes in the United States registration area. These were quite generally distributed throughout the country as you can see by consulting the various tables published by the census bureau.

Q. What is lumbago and how can it be cured?

A. The condition known as lumbago is a form of muscular rheumatism involving the muscles of the back. The cause of this condition has not clearly been determined, but attacks of lumbago are brought about by exposure to cold, damp and wet, and especially to drafts of cold air. In the chronic form of this trouble changes in the weather appear to have definite relations to the attacks.

Cases are also met with in which gout appears to be an underlying cause. The painful condition is usually treated best by the application of dry heat. An efficient home remedy consists in having the patient lie with his face down, covering the back with a dozen or more thicknesses of newspaper and then repeatedly passing a hot iron over the paper.

CARRIES TOOLS IN HER VANITY BAG

CLEVELAND, Oct. 31.—A fair autoist tried to back out of her parking space at the curb and punctured the gasoline tank on the bumper of the machine behind. She took a look at the damage and then delved into her handbag and brought out a handkerchief and a bit of adhesive tape, stuck the rag into the hole and crisscrossed it with a patch. Then she powdered her nose and drove off.

EATS ARE CHEAP FOR JAP WORKERS

TOKIO, Oct. 31.—Japanese workers can live cheaply. Model restaurants are going up in the industrial sections of the city where workmen may get good meals for ten and fifteen sen (ten or fifteen cents). Mitsubishi Co. donated a half million dollars for the building of the restaurants.

The most northerly settlement in the world is Etah, on the west coast of Greenland. In a good hunting season, it has a population of a dozen Eskimo families.

MORE HOUSES REQUIRED ALL OVER COUNTRY

There is dire need for more houses, more apartments, more buildings of all kinds, says Building Age, New York. From villages, towns and cities all over the country comes the cry for more building.

In response to this urgent demand, various plans have been advanced for the stimulation of building. Perhaps that which has received wider approval than any of the others is the proposal to exempt buildings erected now from taxation for various terms of years, usually five to seven. This proposal is an artificial stimulant, a stimulant which has little to recommend it. It will probably cause more buildings to be erected. But many of these buildings would have been erected, exemption or no exemption. Furthermore, exemption from taxation of one class of capital will only throw a heavier burden on the rest. If building is exempted, this does not mean that the revenue will not go to the government, but only that an equivalent amount of taxes must be secured from some other source. Taxation is high, and an even rather than an uneven distribution of the burden is the desirable thing.

The trouble with building is the very same trouble that is causing high prices and slackened production all over the country. Sugar coating the trouble will not remove it; any remedy that will do good must strike at the very heart of the reason for lack of sufficient building. That trouble is high prices of materials, high prices of labor, and uncertainty as to when labor will take it into its head to strike, illegally or otherwise.

A man gets paid for what he does. If he lays 1500 bricks a day, he may get $6. If he lays 1000 and gets $10, that does not mean that he is $4 the gainer. No, indeed; the extra cost is tacked on to the building. His rent goes up to meet the cost of new construction, workmen in other industries follow his tactics, and he pays more for his food, his clothing, his pleasures, and he has no more than when he was getting $6, except perhaps temporarily. The amount of money he receives is greater, his purchasing power, is proportionately less. But let that man getting $6 a day lay 2000 brick instead of 1500, and the building goes up more quickly. Prices are lower, other industries speed up—food, clothing and rent come down due to the lower cost per unit. And more men are employed. The bricklayer can afford to buy more clothing, more food, more necessities, because prices are lower, and his surplus will go into savings and into luxuries that will make his life happier and his family more comfortable. Curtailment of production means high cost and lessening demand, a lessening demand that throws men out of work instead of creating more jobs.

And that is where the trouble lies—strikes and lessened production. No temporary expedient will serve to better the building situation. Any remedy that will do real and permanent good must go to the very heart of the cause of high material prices and high labor cost, not only in this industry, but in other industries also.

High wages, yes—but greater production, a production that will keep prices low in spite of the high wages paid.

PAGE THE BUG THAT EATS THE BUG THAT EATS THE ORANGES!

(N.E.A. Special to The Sun)
CAPE TOWN.—Not all the American scientists in Africa are members of the Smithsonian expedition.

The state of California has sent one over here to make investigations that will increase the production of California orange groves.

He is E. W. Rust, state entomologist, of Sacramento. His job is to find a bug that will eat the bug that eats the oranges.

Rust, who formerly was government entomologist in Peru, came over on the same boat that brought the Smithsonian expedition.

The bug that makes a meal off orange parasites is known to exist in South Africa, Rust says. His big job will be to transport a live colony of them back to California. He expects to begin sending his first specimens shortly, but he will remain here a year or more engaged in extended studies of bug and insect life that may be beneficial to general fruit and agricultural production in California.

POLICE STRIKERS
APPEAL TO COURT

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Contending that Commissioner Curtis has violated a law of the commonwealth of Massachusetts in attempting "to coerce or compel a person into a written or oral agreement not to join or become a member of a labor organization as a condition of his securing employment or continuing in employment," the 19 discharged members of the Boston Police union, through their attorneys, have petitioned the supreme judicial court for a writ of mandamus that would compel Commissioner Curtis to restore them to their positions.

The petitioners contend that in their discharge for the alleged violation of rule 36 the commissioner exceeded his "authority to make all needful rules and regulations" for the conduct of the department. The writ is returnable Nov. 11.

The petitioners point out that at the hearings, after which they were discharged, they admitted the facts in the complaint; that is, that they were members of the American Federation of Labor, which is an organization outside the police department of the city of Boston. The petitioners assert, however, that section 19 of rule 35 is "derogative to the constitutional rights and violative of the constitutional protection afforded by the bill of rights of this commonwealth and the constitution of the United States and the amendments thereto."

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE
NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

Weak, thin people—men or women—are nearly always nervous wreckers; thus conclusively proving that thinness, weakness, debility and neurasthenia are almost invariably due to nerve starvation. And all these symptoms due to nerve starvation will disappear.

By strengthening the nerves, weak, tired people regain energy and vigor; thinness and angularity give way to plumpness and curves; sleep returns to the sleepless; confidence and cheerfulness replace debility and gloom; dull eyes become bright, and pale, sunken cheeks regain the pink glow of health.

CAUTION.—Bitro-Phosphate, the use of which is inexpensive, also wonderfully promotes the assimilation of food, so much so, that many people report marked gains of weight in a few weeks. Those taking it who do not desire to put on weight, should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.—Adv.

A very pretty musical program was rendered by Miller-Doyle's orchestra throughout the day, so that it was a common sight to see some of the younger purchasers dancing merrily from one attractive department to the other.

Mr. Keith, the manager, has been in business in Nebraska for 20 years and is in a position to capably supervise this market and see that everyone receives good service and satisfaction.

The fruit, cooked meal, cracker and cereal, butter and egg, and tea and coffee departments are all in the front of the store. In the center will be found the roast beef and fresh shoulder specials, while steaks and chops can be seen just inside the entrance. The vegetable department is in the center with the groceries over on the right. All of these various departments may be easily located by signs which hang over them. Last but not least the remodelled fish department in the rear of the store, where one has a choice selection of delicious seafood to choose from.

LEATHER IS THE NEWEST DRESS MATERIAL

The very latest thing in the way of dress trimming is leather. Sometimes it is used as outside facings as in the case of cuffs, outside pockets and collars. It is used as piping and is most effective. It is pierced in an all over pattern and is fashioned into whole suits. This latter does not seem so astonishing in these days of leather motor coats.

TO MEND CURTAINS
In making new window curtains of any material always save the scraps for mending. When curtains are torn, take scraps of the same material, or material as nearly like as possible, dip in this starch, and paste it over the rent while wet. Iron the patch on instead of sewing it. The mend is neater and shows less.

ORIENTAL TRADE PRIZE

BY JACK JUNGMEYER
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—Shortage of passenger vessels on the Pacific is seriously hampering American trade expansion in the Orient at its most critical stage.

petition the richest commercial prize in the world today.

And this concerns not alone, not even primarily, the west coast, but must affect the factory worker, the shipper and the consumer of Ohio, New York and Massachusetts as well as those of California, Washington and Oregon.

Touching Pacific ports there are now 27 passenger ships. Of this number but three are American owned—running on a 28-day schedule from San Francisco to the Orient.

At present, and for the past six months, one in every three prospective passengers has had to be turned away for lack of berths.

Of 12,000 applicants—suplicants, rather, for large bonuses are constantly being offered for any kind of room

—$733 have been accommodated, after a fashion.

Every berth, even cot space, has been sold out up to and including next March.

These applicants are the men on whose efforts and pioneering capacity our national trade expansion in China, Japan and the far east depends. Few of them are mere tourists.

The only immediate relief, and immediate relief is essential if the United States is to keep its "new front door" from rusting on its hinges, lies in allocating to the west coast vessels now under construction by the shipping board.

Twelve of the new "535" type are being built in the New York ship plant, the first to be completed about April 1. Shippers trying to elench their precarious hold in the Orient and to expand, as well as trade experts studying world markets and America's competitive problems, contend that at least seven of the twelve "535" passenger boats should be allocated to the Pacific.

To date the shipping board has not assigned a single passenger vessel to the Pacific coast.

They ask this not as a favor, but as a just distribution and on the ground of national urgency.

The American owned ships are obsolete, slow and of restricted cargo space as compared to the 8000-ton, 13-knot "535s" with their 610 passenger capacity.

Meantime Japan, running three lines and 17 passenger boats to west coast ports, is rapidly clinching the commercial supremacy of the Pacific which she has gone far to establish.

She is taking adequate care of her interests, helping her nationals realize the place in the commercial sun which she has visioned. Thousands of Americans are compelled to use the Japanese lines, for lack of other accommodations, thus helping America's only formidable competitor on the Pacific.

Freight tonnage is regarded by American shippers as somewhere near adequate, but commercial expansion in the far east depends, more than in any other quarter of the globe, on the salesmanship and personal cultivation of our trade pioneers. And, under present conditions, they must wait with folded hands, while other nationals are striking root in the rich fields of the far east.

JURY DISAGREES IN AUTO ACCIDENT CASE

The jury in the triple action of tort brought by John A. Saba, administrator for the estate of Asber Saba and Ruth and John Paul vs. Amos Best, which was started at the civil session of the superior court in this city last Tuesday, this morning returned a disagreement. In this case the ad damnum was for $20,000. Mr. Saba suing for $10,000 for the death of his son, while Ruth and John Paul were endeavoring to recover $10,000 for alleged injuries received by Ruth. The case was a result of an automobile accident on the Lowell-Lawrence boulevard, when a jitney owned and operated by Mr. Best crashed into a fence and went over an embankment. The next case to go to trial was an action of tort against the Boston & Maine railroad in the sum of $10,000 brought by Isabelle Turnbull of Somerville, administratrix for the estate of William R. Turnbull, deceased, in an endeavor to recover for the death of her husband, which she claims occurred as a result of a railroad accident at Prospect Hill crossing, Somerville, December 12, 1916.

LAFAYETTE CLUB HAS HALLOWEEN PARTY

Another of those enjoyable socials under the auspices of Club Lafayette was held last evening in the club's quarters in upper Merrimack street, probably the last to be conducted in the present quarters, for the club expects to move into its new quarters in the old Bowers castle in Wainwright street some time next month, and as usual the event was marked with great success. Last evening's affair was in the form of a Halloween party and most of those present were attired in special costumes, some of a very pretty nature and others of the burlesque type. The party was for the members of the club and a few friends and among the latter was Mayor Perry D. Thompson, who quickly got into the spirit of the evening and provided his part of the entertainment.

for the occasion by Arthur G. Leveille, window trimmer at the A. G. Pollard company, who was warmly congratulated for his work. The costumes of those present blended nicely with the decorations, making the appearance of the old quarters very unique.

In the early part of the evening games were played, the feature attractions being pool and billiards, while whist was also enjoyed. A match game on the pool table, which at first it was thought would be a lively contest was staged by Eugene Labrie and Eugene Canlin, but it proved to be of very short duration, for Mr. Canlin was not even given a chance to handle the cue. The contest was for 50 points and Mr. Labrie was the first to "shoot," and he handled his cue in such an artistic and skillful manner that before his opponent had time to realize it he put in 50 balls and won the match. There were other pool and billiard contests but nothing to beat the Labrie-Canlin match.

Instrumental and vocal selections were given by some of the talent of the club as well as by visitors and particularly enjoyable was the singing by Mr. Rodolphe Janson Lapalme of Lawrence. He rendered several operatic selections and each number was well received. He was accompanied by Mr. Louis N. Gullbault. Mr. Lapalme is now on a concert tour throughout New England and it is expected that within a short time he will sing in Lowell. Others who took part in the entertainment program were Dr. G. E. Gagnon, Joseph F. Pelletier of Salem, Z. A. Normandin, Arthur G. Leveille, Arthur Brassard, Dr. J. E. Lamoureux, Dr. G. O. Lavallee, Willie Rousseau, Telephone Beaupreant, Armand Dupont and others.

In the latter part of the evening a buffet luncheon prepared by Chef Bert Grey was served and later more games were played and more entertainment numbers were given. The success of the evening was due to the following officers of the club: F. N. Labelle, president; Ovilla Morin, vice president;

Dr. G. E. Gagnon, treasurer; Arthur J. Lambert, secretary; P. A. Lamoureux, J. R. Poinault, E. Gaston Campbell, Willie Rousseau and Omer J. Smith.

Tomorrow had been set by the trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. as the date for the discontinuance of the electric car service to Tyngsboro, but it was learned today that through the efforts of the board of selectmen the cars will operate as usual tomorrow and until further notice, for the matter will be thrashed out at a special town meeting which will be held next Monday night.

follows: "DON'T MISS THIS. Cut out this slip, enclose with 5c and mail it to Foley & Co., 2835 Sheffield Ave., Chicago, Ill., writing your name and address clearly. You will receive in return a trial pack of Foley's Kidney Pills for pain in back and back; rheumatism, backache, kidney and bladder ailments; and Foley's Cathartic Tablets, a wholesome and thoroughly cleansing cathartic, for constipation, biliousness, headache and sluggish bowels."

to whether or not the town should assist the company financially in meeting the running expenses of the road. It is understood that the meeting will be a lively one, for there is a difference of opinion among the townsmen. The people living on the North Chelmsford side of the river feel that they should be given street car privileges even though it would cost the town something, while others, who are living on the other side of the river, and who are being taken care of by the Nashua line, are of the opinion that they should not be assessed for privileges they don't need. Unless favorable action is taken on the matter Monday night, however, it is believed that the Tyngsboro line will be ordered discontinued.

AMERICAN LEGION, BILLERICA POST

Commander Thomas Q. Nickerson presided over the regular meeting of Billerica Post 116, American Legion, which was held last evening in the town hall. Several interesting reports were received and in order to stimulate interest among the members of the organization it was decided to organize a series of social events, which will be conducted during the winter season, the first of which will be held in Union hall on the evening of Nov. 7 at which time a musical and athletic program will be given. Arrangements are now under way for the first annual ball of the organization, which will be held in the town hall on the evening of Armistice day. On this occasion the town hall will be handsomely decorated. The Billerica chapter of the American Red Cross will be requested to co-operate for the event.

DRUGGISTS CALL BEGY'S MUSTARINE TRIPLE EXTRACT OF HEAT

But It's Non-Blistering Heat and It Won't Hurt the Tenderest Skin

Grandmother's old-fashioned mustard plaster did the work all right, but it blistered the skin and was a mighty nasty remedy.

Begy's Mustarine is the original mustard prescription that has made grandmother's mustard plaster but a relic of bygone days.

It's ten times better, cleaner and cannot blister; it is made of true, honest yellow mustard combined with other well known destroyers of pain and a box does the work of 50 mustard plasters.

Why suffer for days using plasters or continuously rubbing on liniment when one application of Begy's Mustarine will take out soreness in chest or any part of the body and will limber up stiff neck or rusty joints. It banishes backache, toothache, headache in ten minutes---many times in five. If you want to get rid of sore throat, neuralgia, neuritis, tonsillitis, pleurisy or rheumatic agony and swollen joints---rub on Begy's Mustarine right away. It's the quickest pain killer in the world---and the cheapest. Get Begy's Mustarine in the yellow box at any drug store. One box is equal to 50 messy, blistering mustard plasters, and money back if it isn't the quickest painkiller you ever used. 30 cents and 60 cents. Always in the yellow box.

SENATE BACKS UP PRES. WILSON IN STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—After nearly four hours' debate, the senate yesterday adopted a resolution assuring the administration of the support of congress in maintaining order during the "present industrial emergency."

Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, offered, but later withdrew, an amendment proposing assurance to the coal miners of their lawful rights.

As finally approved, the senate resolution, which requires the concurrence of the house, but not the approval of President Wilson, provides:

"That we hereby give the national administration and all others in authority the assurance of our constant, continuous and unqualified support in the use of such constitutional and lawful means as may be necessary to meet the present industrial emergency and in vindicating the majesty and power of the government in enforcing obedience to and respect for the constitution and the laws, and in fully protecting every citizen in the maintenance and exercise of his lawful rights and the observance of his lawful obligations."

One of the preambles retained of the many in the original Thomas draft recites that protection of life and property is the government's paramount duty.

La Follette Protested

Adoption of the resolution was preceded by debate, which took up virtually the entire session of the senate. Senator La Follette entered an emphatic protest against the resolution on the ground that it carried an intimation and presumed that the miners were about to engage in something unlawful.

"Up to this hour, it was lawful for labor to strike," he said, adding that the strike was the only weapon labor had to deal with capitalistic organizations.

"The government moved very slowly and cautiously against the coal operators and the United States Steel Trust," said Senator La Follette, "but summarily against this body of wage workers."

Senator Owen, democrat, Oklahoma, approved the La Follette amendment, but Senator Townsend, republican, Michigan, said it singled out the miners for special consideration by name. Declaring he was "tired of seeing 110,000,000 people get down on their hands and knees and crawl for 500,000," Senator Myers, democrat, Montana, declared he was in hearty accord with the evident intention of the administration to use force, if necessary, to vindicate the law.

Won't Haggle Over Verbiage

"The least the senate can do," said Senator Townsend, "is to express our approval of the president's statement, and I don't care to haggle over verbiage, either."

Senator Pomerene, democrat, Ohio, declared the issue seemed to be: "Shall the government control Lewis, or shall Lewis control the government?"

Every vote against the resolution, he added, would encourage strikes.

Republican Leader Lodge said he thought "this a very appropriate moment to have congress declare it was prepared to stand behind the administration in enforcement of the law."

"I think the administration would do it anyway," he added, "but it is a very good time to say it—and to say it over and over."

Senator Williams, democrat, Mississippi, said congress should back up the president and that the public should make itself felt. He urged merchants in the strike districts to refuse to sell necessities either to a capitalist or laborer who refuses arbitration.

Asserting that the present situation did not present a mere controversy between labor leaders and the government, Senator France defended the six-hour day and placed responsibility for the present crisis on "lack of administrative capacity on the part of the government."

NEW TYPE OF THE SCREEN VAMPIRE

One might call Lurline Lyons, who plays the beautiful villainess, Mrs. Talne, in "The Eyes of the World," the film version of Harold Bell Wright's popular novel which the William M. Cline company has so successfully produced for the screen, a new type of screen vampire.

In the prologue of the story, we find her a "child of shame," the daughter of James Rutledge, a married libertine who is forced to bring her to his home. Brought up in the lap of luxury and surrounded with worldly pleasures, she sees no wrong in marrying her father's boon companion, the repulsive and wealthy Talne, who bestows his riches upon her. Her conventional mode of living and her apparent devotion for her husband permit no criticism. In the eyes of the world she is a model wife. But when Aaron King, the artist, comes into her life the inborn passions of her inheritance assert themselves and she uses her wiles and ways to entrance him. Her husband's death freeing her from the shackles of bondage in which she has lived for several years, she immediately visits the artist's studio, where she finds Sybil Andres, the sweet child of nature, whose beautiful portrait, which the young artist has painted, arouses her unconquerable jealousy and the green-eyed monster casts its sting. As if stepping from a throne to counsel one totally ignorant of the world's ways, she warns the girl of her position in the eyes of the world, and the danger of ruining the artist's career through her association with him. And the girl believes.

The part calls for restrained emotion poignantly but, finely sustained. Miss Lyons' interpretation of the character invites discussion. Is she a new type of vampire? The answer must be left to those who witness her creditable performance. The manner in which she clothes her part, the potency of her repose, the depth of her despair, the smile that means so little yet so much—are only incidentals to her acting, which would grace any screen.

The "Eyes of the World" will have its first showing at the Owl Theatre on Monday next, Nov. 3.

LABOR DEPENDS ON RELIGION

Profiteering by inferiority

WHEN raw materials and labor cost more, the finished product costs more. And "costs more" has to go all the way thru to the consumer; it just has to, or business stops

But profiteering is another thing; it charges more in proportion to cost than a fair margin; or worse, it charges more for merchandise that is not up to a high grade. That's the meanest form of profiteering

Another Lowell Man Praises GOLDINE

Mr. Thomas McNamara, 75 years old, 797 Gorham St., a well known machinist in this city, said: "I have suffered with kidney trouble for 20 years. My back felt lame and sore and I had to get up five or six times a night, and during the day I had no control myself. I heard so many people praising GOLDINE for kidney trouble here in Lowell I decided to try it. I got my first bottle on April 24 and before that was gone I was a lot better."

Pierre Messier

I was so bad before I started taking GOLDINE that I couldn't hold my water more than three hours and it used to distress me. Now I can go five hours or more and feel no distress whatever. I wouldn't have believed one bottle of any medicine would have done so much if I hadn't proven it. Ask Pierre Messier what he thinks of GOLDINE for rheumatism. Remember, GOLDINE is sold in Lowell by Carter & Sherburne, F. H. Butler & Co., W. P. Caisse, Jr., Fred Howard, Wm. R. Kierman, Frank E. McLaughlin, Wm. H. Noonan, R. F. Webster, Frye & Crawford Co. It is also sold by Roland G. Wright in Billerica, John S. Wentwood in Chelmsford, Conn. & Co. in Littleton, Edward A. Woodside in Wilmington and dealers in Ayer, Westford, Dracut, Tewksbury and other towns. If your dealer does not carry GOLDINE in stock, have him secure it through the Lawrence Drug Co.—Adv.

ARREST TWO ALLEGED "REDS" IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—John R. Schuprina, 24 years, of 60 Leverett street, West End, was arrested last night by Inspector Kilday of headquarters and Lieut. O'Neill of the district attorney's office on an indictment warrant, which charges him with violating Chapter 191, Section 1, of the Acts of 1919. This chapter prohibits "advocating, advising, counselling and inciting the unlawful destruction of real and personal property and the overthrow by force and violence of the government of the commonwealth."

It is said Schuprina violated this law "by exhibiting and distributing a certain printed document and paper styled The Voice of Labor, being the fourth number of the first volume of said paper, dated Oct. 1, 1919."

After Schuprina was locked up the two officers went to Stoughton and there arrested a man who was booked as Solomon Press, 18 years, of 54 Morton street, Stoughton, who is charged with the same offense.

It is claimed by the officers that when they went to Schuprina's house

HALLOWE'EN PARTIES LAST EVENING

Not for some time has the Y.W.C.A. planned an affair which produced so much real merriment and genuine pleasure as the Halloween party held in Kitson hall last evening. More than 100 girls in costume attended and the true spirit of the festival was manifested throughout the evening. Features, such as "The Den of Dead Demons," "Ruler of the Lower Regions" and "Chamber of Real Horrors" added to the fun and there was not an idle minute during the entire program. The building was gallily dressed in appropriate colors and Foley's orchestra furnished music for marchings, games and dancing in the gymnasium.

Dance at Highland Club

Wood's Business College

The first steps toward the forming of an alumni association among the former pupils of Wood's Business college, were taken last evening at a Halloween party held in Highland hall. There were about 100 young men and young women present and all were enrolled in the new organization. During the evening dancing was enjoyed and later refreshments were served.

Another Party

Under the direction of Mrs. Dena Colburn the young folks of the Centralville M. E. church were delightfully entertained last evening, the event being a Halloween party. Enjoyable games were played and Halloween stunts were put through, much to the pleasure of the boys and girls. In the course of the evening refreshments were served.

LISBON CLUB DANCE
The third annual dancing party of the Lisbon club was held in Associate hall last evening, and the large crowd of members and friends of the organization present were unanimous in pronouncing the event "the best ever." Miner-Doyle's jazz band furnished music. The officers of the dance were:

THE MINERS' STRIKE

If the miners persist in making good their threat to strike, they will thereby enter upon a war against the people of this country, in defiance of the government thereof and not only this, but in violation of their own solemn contract and the laws of the nation specially made and provided.

Fortunately, the government has the power to keep the mines running should the regular force insist on going out; and it is expected that this power will be firmly used for that purpose.

We are not here expressing any judgment upon the merits of the claims made by the miners. We do not know the precise nature of their work. Coal mining must be quite laborious, and it may be that the men are underpaid or that they have other grievances, but all this would not justify them in declaring war upon the lives of the people throughout the land. They fixed a date for their strike before they presented their claims to the mine operators.

The soldiers conscripted for service during the war had to work often twenty-four hours a day and yet their pay was small. Did they threaten to strike? No, they simply followed the orders given whether that meant to enter the trenches or east themselves upon the foe.

The miners have been receiving big wages during the war and yet they propose to break their contract and, by striking, cut off the coal supply of the country unless they are promptly guaranteed 60 per cent increase together with a six hour day and a five day week with time and a half for overtime. If these demands were granted now, it would probably be but a short time until they would make demands for another radical increase and a reduction in the working hours to three or five per day.

By rescinding the strike order, they might receive a voluntary increase from the operators, but as a result of the strike, they are sure to lose and, in addition, they will inflict a severe blow upon organized labor throughout this nation.

The time has arrived when congress must frame legislation to protect the public against strikes in all public utilities. It is the cowardice of congress alone that is to blame for the boldness shown by the miners.

The right to strike under such conditions must be overruled in the interest of all the people. When all labor strikes shall be prohibited in public utilities, the operation of coal mines upon which the people depend for fuel, must be classed under that head.

There should be a sufficient number of labor courts to which such controversies could be brought for adjudication. Only in this way can labor and capital be brought out of the fog with which their action has been enveloped by agitators and the extravagant claims and counter claims on either side. Thus eventually labor as well as capital will understand just what the law sanctions and what policies are in open violation of law and liable to bring a penalty to those who try to enforce them.

This republic has reached a point beyond which it cannot safely pass without protecting itself against radicals working through labor organizations to bring about the overthrow of our government. It is pertinent in case of the miners to find how many are citizens and, if necessary, to deport a number of the aliens—and they are in the majority—who have made no move towards getting naturalized although in this country over five years.

TELEPHONE PROGRESS

We are moving fast.

The fact is indicated by the fact that the men who invented and introduced the telephone and electric light are still actively among us, although we have made vast strides upon the original inventions.

The other day in Washington, a gray-haired man in the middle sixties, fast on his feet and in his head, stepped up to the public telephone in one of the hotels and gave a number to the operator.

The young woman at the switchboard gave some facial indication of irritation, took the receiver from her ear, looked at it, readjusted

the band over her head and said in jest:

"I wish I had the man here who invented this thing."

The inventor of this type of operator's headpiece was actually before the young woman.

This gray-haired man, still active, had installed the world's first telephone exchange in Boston in 1877.

He was the man who displayed to Alexander Graham Bell the first commercial application of his own invention.

This man was Walter D. McKinney, now of Columbus, Ohio.

Under the direction of Thomas A. Edison, he wired the first public building ever lighted completely by electricity—the old Bijou theatre of Boston in 1882.

The reason Boston was selected for the first commercial application of the telephone was that it formed the hub of a very large number of New England communities, and there were at the time nearly 300 separate express companies carrying package freight by wagon or by contract with railroads to these towns and cities, almost one separate carrier for each route or town.

The first practical use of the telephone was in connecting up these separate express companies with the merchants who commonly patronized them.

The introduction of general telephone exchange service into Boston was very slow.

Even by giving free service at first, its use could not be induced; for merchants and bankers claimed it was an undignified means of transacting business.

It was not until telephones were also installed free in the homes of those who already had them in their business houses, and business men made accustomed to them by family communication, that their commercial use was started.

And just think of the progress that has given us the wireless telephone by which we can converse with persons on the other side of the Atlantic—N.E.A.

THE REFERENDA

The people of this state made a strong fight for the initiative and referendum which has been adopted by the constitutional convention and made part and parcel of the constitution of the state. In the coming election, each voter will have to pass upon a number of important questions submitted under the referendum law for decision. It is important that all voters should realize the importance of this function of deciding such very important questions. It is a great privilege they have won and they should appreciate it sufficiently to use their best judgment in passing upon every one of these matters.

For residents of Lowell the two referendum questions of most importance are those referring to the change of charter and the double platoon system for firemen. Plan B with amendment providing for primary elections would be a good charter; without amendment there is no telling just what kind of government it might bring. Perhaps the results would be very disappointing. There is this element of uncertainty involved which the voters must consider very carefully.

On the matter of the double platoon system, the chief objection to that is that the firemen are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor although their constitution provides that under no condition will strikes be authorized. Here then is another question on which the voters should exercise their best judgment on election day.

On the question relative to instructing our senators and representatives to vote in favor of a measure authorizing 4 per cent beer, it is plain that since federal prohibition has taken effect, such instruction would be futile. It is plain that a negative vote on this question will be in accord with the law and yet cannot affect it in any respect.

The war prohibition law provides that no beverage having more than half of one per cent alcohol, can be offered for sale. Hence the idea of voting in favor of 4 per cent beer is peculiarly absurd, but the question was placed on the ballot before the present law was passed by congress and cannot be changed now. Either vote no or let that question pass.

TO DEAL WITH MEXICO

Once we shall have finished our war with Germany, it will be in order to hold a conference with one Carranza, presumed to be at the head of what is supposed to be a government in Mexico, relative to the kidnapping and holding for ransom of American consuls and other Americans who happen to be in the republic to the south of us.

Time was, when any such incident would be regarded as a clear case belli, but of late there has been perhaps far too much indulgence exercised towards Mexico. The fact was, that with the greatest of all wars ahead of us, we did not care to be tied up with any Mexican middle; but in a month or two we shall have wound up the odds and ends of our war with Germany and will then be ready to protect our consuls and our citizens legally found in Mexico, and ready, too, to bring Carranza to his senses by whatever line of treatment may be found most effective, barring only the paying of ransoms and the toleration of outrages upon our citizens or Americans resident in Mexico.

TROLLEY EXPRESS

It is to be hoped that the plan of establishing a trolley express service for Lowell will not fall through for want of a terminal. Local business men would undoubtedly be greatly benefited by such a service. It should not be difficult to find a proper location. Of course the task is primarily up to the company which would derive a source of revenue from the business that might help to meet the deficit on the passenger end of the service.

The petition of a local hotel to conduct dances in its assembly hall brings a question of more or less importance before the license commission. The hotels, of course, are losing the business of selling intoxicating liquors and will have to resort to other means of increasing their revenues. It is hardly advisable at this juncture to encourage the practice of running dances in hotels. If one hotel be licensed for such a purpose, it will be difficult to draw the line against others that may ask for a similar privilege. We do not believe there is any great scarcity of halls suitable for dancing purposes by select parties wishing to maintain partial seclusion from the public gaze. When, however, any organization holds a banquet at a hotel and wishes to wind it up with a dance in the assembly hall of that hotel, we do not see why it would not be wholly permissible.

Victor Berger is to be ejected from the house of representatives at Washington. Berger was quite active in opposition to the interests of the United States when we decided to enter the war. Whether or not his final court appeal succeeds, the fact is plain that he is not a fit person to hold a seat in the congress. He is under a sentence at Fort Leavenworth which, if sanctioned by the court of appeals, he will have to serve, so that congress would be relieved of his presence in this manner without formal action of expulsion.

When Prescott street is lined with autos on either side and a few others are moving between towards the square and a few electric cars round the corner at the Sun building, you have all the elements necessary for a temporary blockade in which either the railway cars or the moving autos must back out. Is there no way of preventing this congestion? When autos are parked closely on both sides of a narrow street and electric cars pass through in the centre, there results a condition that is not only an obstruction to public traffic, but one that is likely to result in accidents.

The president of the Austrian republic having signed the treaty of peace with the allied and associated governments, the treaty becomes effective when the formal notices of ratification by Austria and three of the allied powers have been deposited in the French foreign office and the fact made public in a formal announcement. Thus, gradually, the peace conference is working towards the end of its program.

The fourteen reservations of the peace treaty will fare even worse than did President Wilson's fourteen points.

SEEN AND HEARD

Foot Man says the less you think about what you did yesterday, the more time you'll have to plan what you ought to do tomorrow.

To strike or not to strike? That is the question. Is it better To stick to the good old job, or Walk out And take a chance?

Early last spring Victor Luke of Lash, Pa., planted a little seed. It grew.

And grew. Now it's some sunflower—48 inches in circumference, 18 inches in diameter and 113 inches in height.

We read that the Amalgamated Boys Combine (up-to-date a.b.c.) has served notice upon that notoriously unjust bunch of employers, Pa. & Ma. that work done after school must be paid for (time and a half), and that no Saturday work can interfere with the football team's practice.

Couldn't Hold 'Em

"Mother," exclaimed Susie McGossy, rushing home from school, "teacher said we should eat 3000 calories every day."

"What does that teacher think we are, millionaires?" asked Mrs. McGossy. "I never saw any such things at the market, but I'll look next time and buy a half dozen."

"But teacher said to eat 3000," Susie urged.

"Land sakes, child, you couldn't hold 3000 of anything."

Shoe on Other Foot

George L. Donellan, New York lawyer, was pleading the cause of an accused pickpocket. He told the court policemen were too suspicious, always thinking somebody was going to walk away with something belonging to someone else. Then Donellan went back to where he had left his new $10 derby. It was gone. So also was one of the witnesses for the defense.

"I would suggest that this honorable court put up a sign warning persons entering this room to beware of thieves," said Donellan, with no little irony in his voice.

Missed His Dinner

The Salt Lake Consolidated ticket office contributes the following amusing item as a recital of an actual conversation which took place in that office:

"A few days ago an elderly gentleman from 'back east,' evidently a backwoodsman, recited the following:

"When I started from way down east, I brought along a big lunch. By the time I reached Denver the lunch gave out. As you know, one gets a little hungry traveling. After leaving Denver, a man came through the chair car stating in a loud voice: 'First call for the dining car.' I waited, but he didn't bring on any dinner; he came in the second time and added to his remark: 'Last call for the dining car' and still no dinner arrived. In a case of this kind what should I do? I am pretty old and have not traveled very much. When I reached Salt Lake I was very hungry."

After being informed concerning proper procedure in relation to dining cars, he asked about sleeping on the train. He was also given information as to sleeping accommodations and, when he applied at the ticket company, the clerk asked him "standard or tourist?" he replied: "I am just an old farmer from down east." Moral: Begin traveling while young. —Railroad Administration Bulletin.

If All Dreams Came True

Would you be happier or not, If all your dreams came true? Would you have more than you have got, If all your dreams came true? Some dreams, of course, are very sweet, But some you'd rather not repeat— For you, would it be joy complete, If all your dreams came true?

You might be very, very sad, If all your dreams came true, And long for peace that you have had, If all your dreams came true. You'd better take things as they come, Although some things may jar you some, For other things might make you gloom, If all your dreams came true. —Somerville Journal.

GIRL MESSENGER BRINGS MEDALS

Miss Gladys Sheridan of Elmhurst, L. T., yesterday presented to William P. Larkin, overseas director of the Knights of Columbus, a small jewel case containing a medal of the Order of St. Gregory.

Miss Sheridan, who was an interpreter for the legal department of the Knights in France, recently had an audience with Pope Benedict and was given three jewel cases—the medallions. The other two have been presented to James A. Flaherty of Philadelphia, supreme knight and Joseph C. Pelletier of Boston, supreme advocate of the order.

It is believed that Miss Sheridan has won a signal honor in being the first woman messenger appointed to carry papal honors from the Vatican.

NOTE INVITING GERMANY TO JOIN IN BLOCKADE

PARIS, Oct. 30.—The text of the note sent by Marshal Foch to General Nudant for transmission to the German government, inviting Germany to participate in the blockade of Bolshevik Russia, is similar to that sent to the neutral states with the exception of the last paragraph. The note follows:

"The president of the peace conference has been requested by the conference to inform the neutral governments of a decision taken by the supreme council of the allied and associated powers, in regard to the economic pressure which is to be exerted on Bolshevik Russia.

"The German government is asked to take measures similar to those indicated.

"The avowed hostility of the Bolsheviks toward all governments and their international program of revolution which they are spreading abroad constitute grave danger for the national security of all powers. Every increase of strength of the Bolsheviks would increase the danger and would be contrary to the desire of all peoples who are seeking to re-establish peace and social order.

"It is in this spirit that the allied and associated governments after studying the commercial relations with Bolshevik Russia find these relations indeed, could only be effected through the agency of the chiefs of the Bolshevik government, who, disposing at will of the products and resources which commercial liberty would bring them, would thereby achieve considerable increase in their tyrannical strength, which they are exercising over the Russian populations.

"Under these conditions the allied and associated governments request the Swedish, Norwegian, Danish, Dutch, Finnish, Spanish, Swiss, Mexican, Chilean, Argentinian, Colombian and Venezuelan governments to be good enough to make an immediate agreement with them in measures to prevent their nationals from engaging in any commerce with Bolshevik Russia and to assure that this policy will be rigorously executed.

"To refuse clearance papers to every ship going to Russian ports in the hands of Bolsheviks or coming from said ports.

"To establish similar measures for all merchandise destined to be sent to Bolshevik Russia by any other route.

"To refuse passports to all persons going to Bolshevik Russia or coming from it, except through understanding with the allied and associated governments.

"It is the disposition, with a view to preventing banks from doing business with Bolshevik Russia, as far as possible to request refusal by each government to its own nationals of facilities for correspondence with Bolshevik Russia by post, telegraph or wireless."

The note sent to Germany contains the following final paragraph:

"The British and French warships to change the route of ships bound for ports of Bolshevik Russia."

LOWELL WILL NEED
70 ENUMERATORS

Lowell will need 70 enumerators to carry on the work entailed in the taking of the government census of 1920. One enumerator is able to handle approximately 3000 people in his district, and is paid according to the number he handles. The work begins Jan. 2, and will last about two weeks in the cities and a month or more in the rural districts. Rates of pay will vary depending upon the locality and the character of the district to be canvassed. The average pay per enumerator at the census of 1900 was about $70. At this coming census it will probably be not less than $100.

Applications for the position of census enumerators may be still made, and men and women between the ages of 18 and 70 can apply.

The general qualifications of the enumerators should be of the best. They should be active, energetic persons of good address and must be thoroughly trustworthy, honest, and of good habits. They must have at least an ordinary education, and be able to write plainly and with reasonable rapidity. Persons having previous census experience are urged to apply. There are certain classes of people who are especially adapted to become good enumerators.

Substitute public school teachers make excellent enumerators, persons who are awaiting civil service appointments would be able to get in a few weeks' work in connection with the enumeration, and possibly from the experience gained prove better qualified for other clerical positions. Interpreters of the various languages will be selected from the applicants, and many will be needed for this district. Any person who can speak foreign languages fluently should apply.

In order to determine the applicant's qualifications for appointment as an enumerator a practical test will be given in all cities and towns in the Middlesex district on Saturday, Nov. 8. The director of the census wants to emphasize the fact that this is a simple, practical test of the ability of the applicant to make from a narrative to be supplied legible and correct entries on a schedule similar to the one he would be called upon to use in the actual work of enumeration should he be appointed.

Applications, blanks, information and instructions, will be forwarded to any person on the receipt of a post card or better hearing his or her name and address.

The supervisor's office telephone is Concord 433, and he may be reached any day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

CONGRESS PLEDGES AID

To Support "National Administration and All in Authority" in Strike

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—By an overwhelming vote, the house today adopted the senate resolution pledging support to the "national administration and all others in authority" in their efforts to meet "the present industrial emergency."

Two Big Rallies Here

figures in two big rallies to be staged here this evening, one by the democrats in Crescent rly in Hurd street, and the other by the republicans in Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street.

At the democratic rally Senator David I. Walsh, former governor of Massachusetts and for many years a close student of the state's governmental affairs, is scheduled to be the principal speaker. It has not been definitely decided that the senator will be able to be present, although the committee in charge is making an earnest effort to have him here. The senatorial luminary at the republican get-together will be Senator Miles Poindexter of the state of Washington, who only a few days ago declared himself a candidate for the presidency.

The rallies tonight are expected to bring about the apex of the present campaign as there have not been speakers of such calibre at any of the previous rallies held here this season.

The democrats will preface their convalesce with an old-fashioned red fire street parade. It will be headed by those who are to speak at the rally, will have a band and will form at city hall at 8 o'clock. Everybody is invited to take part in the march. The route will be down Merrimack to Central, to Gorham, to Appleton, to Central, to Hurd street and the Crescent rink.

At the rally the speakers will include Richard H. Long, democratic candidate for governor; Major Thomas Walsh, brother of the senator; Col. John F. J. Herbert, democratic candidate for lieutenant governor; Hon. James Brennan of Boston; Charles H. McGhee, democratic candidate for secretary of the commonwealth; Chandler M. Wood, democratic candidate for state treasurer; Arthur J. B. Cartier, democratic candidate for auditor; Joseph A. Conry, democratic candidate for attorney general; Hon. John T. Sparks, democratic candidate for senator in the eighth district, and others.

The republican rally will have as its presiding officer Congressman John Jacob Rogers, who will also make an address. Other speakers will include Senator Poindexter, District Attorney Nathan A. Taft, who is a candidate for re-election on the republican ticket; Fred J. Burrell, republican candidate for treasurer, and others. The Lowell Military band will be present to furnish music and there will also be community singing. Seats have been reserved for the ladies.

begin tomorrow," Mr. Wilson said, "will affect principally the soft coal miners and for the present the mining of anthracite will go on as usual. There is a reasonable supply of soft coal on hand in New England and Lowell, I think, will get her share of it."

"The government has taken a very firm grasp on the situation and I don't believe the strike will be of great duration. There is no occasion for anybody here to get gray hairs over the strike because of worry about a possible shortage."

The local mills, at least, those who have not yet started burning oil instead of coal, would be the first to be affected here were there a serious shortage of soft coal. A large number of apartment houses, office buildings, etc., also burn this coal and the street railway company is dependent to a great extent on it. However, all these have a fairly good supply on hand and look for no immediate shortage.

A great deal depends on the length of the strike and also how far it will extend. But for the present there is no occasion for local worry.

The commission on the necessities of life, a state organization, yesterday sent out communications to dealers of the state asking that they use discretion in their distribution and to give preference to hospitals and similar institutions. As soon as the local dealers receive this communication, they will undoubtedly do as requested.

public improvement committee. This committee will meet a representation of the policemen at the board of trade rooms in Spaulding street next Tuesday evening and the matter will be gone over at that time.

In making their request, the policemen pointed out the fact that chambers of commerce in many other cities had assisted the policemen in having their wages raised.

The local police recently had their wages raised 15 per cent in common with other municipal employees, increasing their pay from $1 to $4.60 per day.

"And I don't remember nothing about it." Matthew added that he and John had reached the aforesaid heights of alcoholic bliss through the consumption of various and sundry bottles of "Jakey."

Court fined John $10 for drunkenness, and ordered Matthew, also charged with drunkenness, to furnish bonds of $200 until tomorrow, when his case will be disposed of.

CHERRY & WEBB

12-18 JOHN STREET

George Kouloukias, Catherine Georgioulis pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $5.

George said that he had met the woman, a neighbor of his, in a bakeshop one afternoon recently, and without the least bit of provocation she had bounced bottles, mops, brushes—in fact, almost everything in the shop—against his head. He exhibited several marks on his face as evidence that her aim had been good.

Catherine admitted that she had beaten George up somewhat, but allowed that there was justification in plenty for her act.

Had not George bought some apples from her husband some time ago and failed to settle? Had he not told her organization with quarters at Willow street, which was started a few years ago and which was composed solely of women, that he was coming to a Benedict club, if the number of weddings that have taken place among its members recently is to be taken as a criterion. Of course, there are a few members of the club who swear they will never enter matrimonial life, but those who have deserted the ranks aver that these hardened bachelors will soon follow suit.

Only a month ago two members of the club, Ernest Brown and Fred Bechard, were married to two well known young women of this city, and now comes the announcement of the marriage of two others, Joseph Landry and Larry Boule. The former will be married next week to Miss Pearl Ellison of Hildreth street, while the latter will be united in marriage to Miss Jennie Payette of Gardner avenue some time in November.

Last evening the members of the club and a few invited friends gathered at their well appointed quarters on the shores of Lake Massawepic and tendered a farewell party to Messrs. Landry and Boule. Lawyer Albert Blazon, who has not yet deserted the ranks, acted as master of ceremonies over the festivities and in his usual happy vein he congratulated his brethren for their choice and extended to them the best wishes of the club, but he did not close his remarks without accusing them of being traitors to the club, which, he said, was organized purely as a bachelor organization. In behalf of those present he presented Mr. Landry a handsome travelling bag, and to Mr. Boule a beautiful easy chair.

Following the presentation a bountiful dinner was served by Caterer R. J. Harvey and later under the direction of Mr. Blazon speeches and vocal and instrumental selections were given. Hibbard's orchestra furnishing an excellent musical program. Among those who spoke were Mr. Fred Gragoire, who briefly but interestingly explained to the two future bachelors what would be expected of them by their wives and he predicted that the happy days spent by both at the Lafayette camp were practically over. Mr. Alphonse Coutu also spoke briefly, taking for his topic "The freedom of a bachelor vs. the entanglements of a married life," and his remarks were most interesting. Games were enjoyed and the party broke up at a seasonable hour, extending their best wishes to both Messrs. Landry and Boule.

Present at the festivities were Albert J. Blazon, Wilfrid Achin, Ernest Landry, J. B. Pelnauld, Arthur Pelletier, Fred Gragoire, Ernest Brown, Alphonse Coutu, A. E. Landry, Louis Payette, Louis Lebourdais, Arthur Turcotte, Henry Turcotte, Aubin Belanger, Fred J. Landry, Alfred Descheneaux, Ernest Descheneaux, George Descheneaux, Joseph Conlon, Eugene Richard, Frank Primeau, Wilfrid Cognac, Fred Fortin, Herve D. Parthenais, Henry Landry, Arthur J. Lambert and Fred Dechard.

SUGAR EQUALIZATION REPORT ON SINN FEIN BOARD TO QUIT PARLIAMENT ISSUED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The United States sugar equalization board yesterday telegraphed Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, that it was preparing to wind up its activities in view of inability to obtain sufficient sugar from Cuba to warrant further government control.

In spite of the board's advice Senator McNary said the senate would proceed to enact legislation designed to aid the public in the sugar shortage and also provide for the continuation of the board, even if the present members resign. A meeting of the senate agriculture committee was called for Saturday to act on pending legislation.

Senator McNary said the sugar board's plans evidently were due to the committee's refusal to enact legislation to provide for the licensing of sugar refiners and dealers. The committee now plans, he said, to present a bill continuing the board and authorizing it to purchase Cuban sugar.

The board in its telegram to Senator McNary, said it was impossible to acquire "any great amount of the new Cuban sugar crop at this time at a reasonable price," and that the board was planning to close its affairs except in a minor way, including supervision of equitable distribution of sugar left on its present Cuban contract.

The first letter written in America by Christopher Columbus to King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella in 1492 was shown recently at the Chicago Historical society.

DUBLIN, Oct. 31.—The meeting of the Sinn Fein parliament Wednesday night was in direct defiance of the government's proclamation and the people are interested to know what the government will do about it. The meeting being illegal, the Irish papers are forbidden to mention it.

A report circulated by the Sinn Fein says that a national inspector of fisheries will be appointed; that a civil service scheme is being arranged to embrace all local officers and also that national arbitration courts and constabulary bodies will be formed. "Estimates for the coming financial period," says the report, "were laid before the house and the necessary votes of credit adopted."

The six Sinn Fein members for Dublin have sent to the American consul a copy of the alleged instructions for searching the effects of American seamen. The letter says: "As these instructions constitute a hindrance to lawful trade of America with Ireland, we, the elected representatives of the city of Dublin, request that you will transmit copies of them to your government."

RUSSELL RALLY LAST EVENING AT THE PAWTUCKETVILLE SOCIAL CLUB IN MOODY ST.

William E. Russell of Cambridge, son of the late Governor William E. Russell and a candidate for district attorney for Middlesex county on the democratic ticket, held a rally in the rooms of the Pawtucketville Social Club in Moody street last evening. Mr. Russell addressed the gathering in the French language and in the opening of his remarks he begged to be excused if his French was not so good as it might be for, he said, he had not spoken the language for several years until a couple of years ago when he landed at Brest, France, with the American Marine corps.

The speaker did fairly well, however, and made quite a hit with his listeners. In the course of his address he referred to the "slip-shod" way in which the office of the district attorney is being conducted at the present time. He said he did not enter the contest for his own personal satisfaction, but simply as a duty and only after great solicitation on the part of many voters. In closing he urged the voters to go to the polls next Tuesday and cast their ballot for William E. Russell for district attorney.

STRAIGHT LINES FOR NEW BAGS

BY BETTY BROWN
NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—"Bags, purses, hold-alls!"

In answer to the call from business woman, shopper and afternoon caller, New York designers are bringing forth new outlines and variations of the old. Sketched above are four of these new models on display in Fifth avenue shops.

First, the bag. The large, one sketched with double straps extending around it, is a utility bag of moleskin. It has a patent leather finish, and fastens half-way down one side, with two arm clasps. With an inside pocket to hold letters, powder puff, stamps or cards, it is a roomy, satisfying bag, with a trimly tailored outline.

On the same side is shown a smaller bag of soft brown cordovan with straps to slip over the wrist. It fastens with a silver clasp. Within are sufficient compartments for all the needs of a woman's bag.

In the "hold-all" class is the diletto bag with roomy depths, and neat pockets concealed in the sides. It fastens with a draw cord, and hangs from the wrist conveniently.

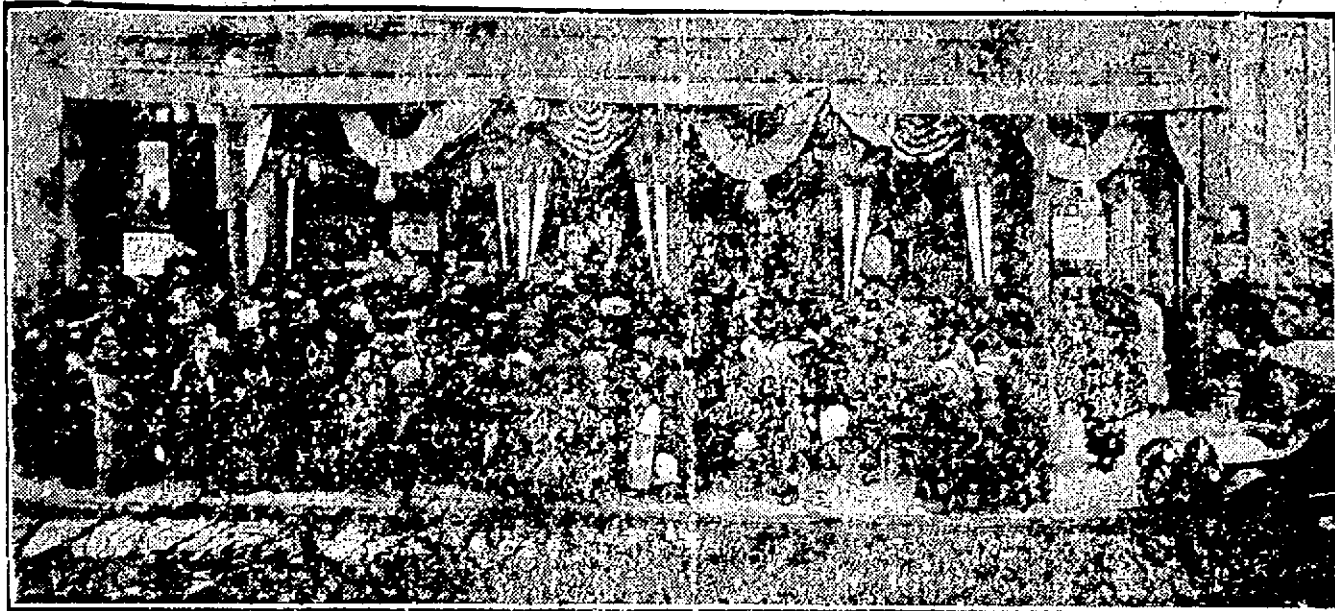

Then there must always be a small purse. This is of patent leather and is called an envelope purse, from its mode of fastening on the side.

MOLLY VARNUM CHAPTER CELEBRATES

A quarter century of active life yesterday was celebrated by Molly Varnum chapter, D.A.R., when members and guests gathered at the Spaulding house in Pawtucket street to observe the 25th anniversary of the founding of the chapter. A formal meeting, presided over by Mrs. Charles E. Howe, the present regent, preceded the reception and luncheon held in the lower rooms.

Mrs. Howe introduced Mrs. Franklin P. Shumway of Melrose, vice regent of the State D.A.R., who spoke a few words of congratulation. Patriotic songs were sung by Mrs. Nettie L. Roberts. The feature of the meeting was a most comprehensive historical sketch of the life of the

Its war work service and contributions to good civic enterprises were touched on and its expansion and purchase of the Spaulding house as the chapter home.

LONG PREDICTS VICTORY BY OVER 50,000

FITCHBURG, Oct. 31.—Richard H. Long, democratic candidate for governor, and Col. John F. J. Herbert, Worcester, were the principal speakers at a largely attended rally in Chamber of Commerce hall last night. Marcus A. Coolidge presided and the other speakers were Charles M. McEllis, candidate for Secretary of state; Joseph A. Maynard, George I. Kane, candidate for representative; Representative Ahern, Max Nash of Framingham and Sergt. Russell, who served with the Fitchburg men overseas.

Mr. Long predicted that he will carry Boston by 15,000 and the state by from 50,000 to 100,000 plurality. He said in part:

Sees Republican Tactics

"The low standard to which the republican party has dropped is shown as this campaign is nearing an end. The fair name of Massachusetts and Boston, the right of free speech and decent political ideals are being sacrificed to keep in power the corrupt monopolies that have so long been plundering the public and Governor Coolidge so mistrusts the voters that so far as he is concerned the campaign is almost a secret."

"I stand for the American citizen, particularly the man and woman who works and only wants the right to live as decent individuals of the country ought to live and enjoy with all others equal opportunities under the law."

"The political campaign by lobby interests of Massachusetts, conceived and worked out by unscrupulous republican politicians at Washington, will not be approved by any fair-minded Massachusetts voters."

"Even in Russia, the reputation of a candidate for office would not be so foully attacked without notice or warning. The republicans in their districts are using all the power of a congressional committee for low and contemptible purposes."

"Republican Chairman Graham was so surprised and confused to see me in Washington that he could not even answer the simple question 'Did you authorize the published statement attacking me?'"

Haps Visiting Governors

"The backers of Gov. Coolidge, insult Massachusetts voters by importing governors and others from outside the state to bring forth disgrace and shame on Massachusetts by charging our citizens generally with anarchy and with being reds. The voters will decide on next Tuesday, and on the one hand you will find every exponent of corrupt monopoly from the Standard Oil interests to the cheap lobbyists supporting our weak and helpless Gov. Coolidge, who is personally presenting no campaign issues for himself, and on the other side, supporting the democratic candidate, will be found all fair-minded republicans and democrats, particularly the working man and working woman, whether belonging to the labor unions or not, including city, town and state employees, teachers, clerks and others who are not now receiving a fair day's pay."

"Gov. Coolidge stands for the Prussian law and order that were used in high office to crush justice and humanity."

"Richard H. Long stands for justice and humanity and trusts the voters and citizens of Massachusetts will protect the fair name of our commonwealth and every citizen within its borders."

TEST SUBSTITUTES FOR 2.75 PER CENT BEER

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Samples of the alcoholic beverages that are being substituted for the legally extinct 2.75 per cent brand were given to a chemist for analysis today by Acting Collector of Internal Revenue Andrew J. Casey. The samples were obtained in various parts of the state during the past two days by the prohibition enforcement staff of the internal revenue bureau. A chemist was sent here from Washington to establish a laboratory for the immediate analysis of samples. Besides the enforcement organization established from the field force of the bureau, Acting Collector Casey has requested co-operation of all state, county and municipal officials engaged in the prosecution of the criminal law in checking violation of the prohibition legislation.

GERMAN BUDGET

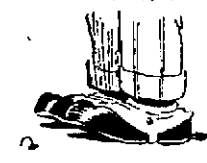

Passed Third Reading by National Assembly

BERLIN, Thursday, Oct. 30.—(By Associated Press)—The National Assembly today passed the third reading of the budget, notwithstanding the vote of the two parties of the Right and the Independents, and then adjourned until Nov. 20.

Mathias Erzberger, minister of finance, reviewing the financial situation, said new taxes were expected to yield nine billion marks. As the interest on the national debt would be $317,000,000 marks, Herr Erzberger said his estimate of the revenue of 1919 had previously been fully covered. He added that the national debt amounted to 204,000,000,000, and by the end of March, 1920, it probably would aggregate 212,512,000,000 marks.

SMALL CHANGE CRISIS IN PARIS AT END

PARIS, Thursday, Oct. 30.—With the arrest today of five speculators in silver coin, the small change crisis in Paris seems to have passed. The police found the men purchasing silver coins from street car and automobile bus conductors, waiters and other persons.

The trail led to a bank where the silver was melted. One silver bar weighing 50 pounds, still bearing the marks of one and two francs pieces, was found.

At the Auteuil race course today, the racing public was informed that each person must have the exact amount of the admission fee, two francs, which would be reserved for the pari-mutuel machines, which had been unable to pay several winning tickets owing to the lack of silver.

The minister of finance today opened a bureau for distributing nickels. The bureau was crowded all morning.

GOVERNOR OF KANSAS TALKS OF STRIKE

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The refusal of Alexander M. Howat, president of District No. 14, United Mine Workers of America, to negotiate with the Southwest Coal Operators' association means that Kansas will have to meet the threatening strike of miners along the lines proposed by the federal government, Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas said here today. He asserted that the offer of the operators to negotiate for a new contract for the Kansas district independent of action in other fields, made through his office to President Howat was thoroughly sincere. The governor who came here to assist in the republican state campaign, declined to comment further on the situation until he had heard directly from Topeka.

The offer of the Operators' association to negotiate was characterized by

TOWN IN SARRE REGION FINED

MAYENCE, Thursday, Oct. 30.—(French wireless service).—General De Goutelle, the French commander, has imposed a fine of 50,000 marks on the town of Kaiserlautern, in the Sarre region, on account of recent disorders in that locality fomented by German political agents.

YOUR GOVERNOR

Is not merely the candidate of a political party in this contest in Massachusetts.

He is the candidate of all the people of Massachusetts who believe in law and order.

He stood in the breach when law and order were attacked.

He stood for you, citizens of Massachusetts—not as Democrats or Republicans, not as Capitalists or Laborers, not as Union men or Non-Union men, but as citizens entitled to protection under the authority of your government.

It is the highest duty now of every good citizen to back him up in that stand.

Remember

The forces seeking the defeat of Calvin Coolidge are, consciously or unconsciously, seeking the defeat of law and order.

Their success would be accepted by the red radicals of the land as proof that the people of Massachusetts had repudiated their own government.

Calvin Coolidge's re-election by an overwhelming majority will be proof to all that the people of Massachusetts will permit no attack upon their sovereign authority.

Calvin Coolidge

Stands for a government founded upon truth and justice, and against a government founded upon terrorism, political mendacity and reckless promises.

He stands for Americanism.

Every Massachusetts voter who believes in Americanism, who believes in law and order as essential to liberty, should defend that belief with his ballot. Vote for

Calvin Coolidge

Four ladies found health and strength

Her friend for ten years

It is now ten years since I started taking RED PILLS, and they have certainly done me an immense amount of good, by building me up, and ridding me of the headaches which had made me suffer so. Under their influence, I rapidly took on flesh. Through overwork and frequent pregnancies, I had become so pale and weak and run-down that a good tonic was badly needed, as very often throughout the day, I felt so weak that I was compelled to lay down and rest for a while. I therefore took RED PILLS, which first helped me somewhat, and then gradually relieved me immensely.—Mrs. JEREMIE CHAPUT

517 Clinton Ave., Woonsocket, R.I.

The ideal medicine

I have been taking RED PILLS for years now, and thanks to the excellent results obtained from their use, I have been able to do all my own housework and bring up a family. It was through the medium of the newspapers that I learned their worth, and since taking them, I always have a few boxes ready on hand in case they should be needed. I find they are the ideal medicine and a health-building tonic.—Mrs. E. DUHAINE

456 Cartier Street, Manchester, N.H.

A mother's good advice.

It is now three years since I became acquainted with RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women. Before my marriage, they proved a boon to me, by strengthening my constitution and giving me vitality. My mother had already taken them, and had obtained such satisfactory results from their use, that I was tempted to try them, and with the above result. I am taking them again to-day, to build up my strength which I have lost through some recent trouble. I feel that I will be as fortunate in obtaining good results from their use.—Mrs. HENRI CARRIER

90 Page Street, Woonsocket, R.I.

Weakness, headaches, backaches

Six years ago, I was suffering very much from general weakness, headaches, backaches, sore legs, and poor digestion, and was advised by some of my friends to try RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women. I therefore tried them, and after taking three boxes I was greatly astonished to note that I was getting much better. I continued taking them regularly and after using eighteen boxes, I was completely recovered. Since that time I have been feeling fine and have regained the strength and vitality which I had long ago.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE

End of November May See Close of Sessions—Rumania Sends Delegate

PARIS, Oct. 31.—The end of November may see the close of the Paris peace conference, which has negotiated the peace treaties with Germany and Austria and has carried the negotiations with Bulgaria well towards completion.

Unless the conference can speedily reach an agreement with Rumania and compel it to discontinue its interference in Hungarian affairs there seems little chance that a peace treaty can be negotiated with Hungary at present, in which case the conference will probably close without making that treaty.

The Adriatic question will not necessarily prolong the life of the conference and there is no disposition among many of the peace delegates to drag out the conference much longer for the discussion of the European political questions involved in the Rumanian and Italian difficulties.

December 1 is now looked upon as the latest probable date for the adjournment of the conference. Rumania is sending a special delegate to Paris to discuss its differences with the conference and a definite settlement of the Rumanian tangle or the abandonment of the effort at disentanglement is expected very shortly.

Indications are that the Bulgarian treaty will be signed within a week or 10 days. Then the discussions will begin with Rumania in the attempt to settle the questions arising from its seizure of Hungarian property and its objection to guaranteeing the rights of minorities, which was the cause of its refusal to sign the Austrian peace treaty.

BOUDOIR ATTIRE IN SOFT SHADES

BY BETTY BROWN

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—When hours of relaxation come, every woman enjoys them the more in the silken folds of a dainty boudoir costume. Soft colors in combination make the atmosphere of comfort complete.

In the sketch above, one of the most restful and at the same time chic, boudoir gowns is shown. Charmeuse satin, of softest lavender verging on a delicate pink, is combined with hazy blue, satin bindings at neck and cuff and streamers tying at the throat. Deep patch pockets, which gives the appearance of holding down in shape the loose tunic-like blouse, are covered with embroidery in merging shades. Each pocket is topped with a pet bow of blue satin. A small collar of the same embroidery finishes the neck.

KING AND QUEEN CALL ON WILSON

Visit President at Sick Bed Before Starting

Call Cheers For President—
Degrees For Rulers—Sail
For Home Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—King Albert and Queen Elizabeth called on President Wilson yesterday. The meeting at the president's bedside, brief as it was, proved the climax of the American visit of the Belgian monarch, and he left Washington late last night, a happy man to sail for home from Newport News today on the transport George Washington, which brought him to this country.

From the day he landed the pleasure of his tour has been marred by anxiety over the president's condition, and he had abandoned hope of being able to see him.

When he drove to the White House, Albert had little expectation of being able to see the man for whom he has expressed the highest admiration. Only at the last minute at the president's earnest request, did Rear Adm. Grayson, his physician, consent to the brief chat. The king went alone to the sick room, operating the elevator himself. His call lasted 10 minutes.

President Asks to See Queen

After the departure of the king, the president expressed a desire to see Queen Elizabeth, who was having tea with Mrs. Wilson. Dr. Grayson consented and her majesty went eagerly to the executive's bedside where she remained five minutes, seated at the left side of the bed. She told Mr. Wilson with one of her charming smiles that she felt much at home with persons who were ill. One of her hobbies is hospital.

Leopold Also Visits President

The youthful Prince Leopold entered the room with all a boy's embarrassment and seemed rather ill at ease in the presence of the president, but he was soon put at ease by questions about his school life at Eton. Mr. Wilson told him how much he looked like his father, adding:

"Your father is every inch a man and I hope you will follow in his footsteps."

Sail Home Today

OLD POINT, Va., Oct. 31.—As the transport George Washington steamed out of Hampton Roads late today, bearing King Albert, Queen Elizabeth and Crown Prince Leopold of the Belgians on their homeward voyage, the first visit of a reigning monarch of Europe to the shores of America will have come to a close.

The royal guests arrived here this morning from Washington. After they visit Portsmouth to witness the flooding of two new drydocks at the navy yard, they will board the George Washington which brought them to the United States on Oct. 2.

AUTOMOBILE COMPANY TO BUILD GARAGE

The Lowell Buick Co. with show and sales rooms and garage in Appleton street, has signed an agreement to purchase the C. H. Molloy property in Church street, which includes land and buildings immediately in the rear of the Washington tavern and the H. D. Humphrey livery and baiting business, for the purpose of erecting a large brick garage and storage plant.

Final papers have not been passed as yet and in a like manner, the Buick people have not completed their building plans, but it is said that the new addition to their business will be of considerable area and of strictly modern construction. The property in question is admirably suited for automobile business and is in close proximity to the present buildings of the company.

NOTHING NEW IN DRACUT MURDER

As far as can be learned the state and Dracut police are just as much in the dark regarding the murder of Mrs. Mary Fortuna as at any time since the discovery of her body on Lodge Hill almost two weeks ago. The case is not developing any new clues and all persons who have been detained and questioned have been allowed to go on the establishment of alibi or evident lack of any knowledge of the crime.

The woman's clothes have not been discovered, although several different people have told the police that a pile of clothing was seen in the woods near the spot where the body was found. On close searching, however, no sign of the missing apparel has been disclosed and it is the belief of the police that the clothes were taken from the woods and either buried or buried by the person who committed the crime.

who was given away by Mr. A. B. Stanhope, was becomingly attired in white georgette crepe. She wore a veil with coronet of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Jessie Stanhope, who looked charming in a gown of pink georgette crepe and carried pink roses. Mr. Thomas Barton acted as best man. As the bridal party entered the church Mr. David Brown played the Lohengrin wedding march. The gift of the bridegroom to the best man was a silver ring, while the bridesmaid received a necklace of pearls from the bride. The happy couple received many beautiful gifts. Late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Herdman left on a wedding trip to Canada.

SOLICITOR IN BOSTON

City Solicitor William D. Regan was in conference today in Boston with Gilbert A. A. Povey, who served as auditor in the case of Edward D. Lyons and the Lowell Trust Co. vs. the city of Lowell, an action in which the plaintiffs sought to recover for damages alleged to have been caused their property by the bursting of a city water main in Central street several years ago.

KANSAS GOVERNOR SPEAKS FOR COOLIDGE

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The eyes of the west are closely following the Massachusetts campaign this year to see whether the commonwealth "is going to stand for this sinister thing from disordered Europe," according to Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas, candidate for the republican nomination for president, speaking in behalf of Gov. Coolidge at Odd Fellows hall, Cambridge, last night.

"Are you going to vote to adopt soviet government?" he asked, "or are you going to vote in this campaign to stand on your feet as American citizens?"

"Is Massachusetts going to continue her leadership in predetermining the issues of the national contest next year?"

"You will find that your stand here next week will be the most important incident in the political history of this state. You will find also that the democratic party as it goes forward will try to begot the issue."

"The strongest, bravest note that is being struck in this country today is being sounded by the American Legion, and when its membership reaches 2,000,000 it will outweigh in its possibilities the American Federation of Labor."

800 TROOPS GO TO COAL FIELDS

First Division Veterans En Route to Mines of West Virginia

Will Patrol District Should Strike Go Into Effect Tomorrow

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 31.—Under instructions from the central department of the army 800 troops of the famous First Division, composing two provisional battalions, were on three trains today, en route to coal fields of West Virginia, where they will patrol disturbed mining districts should a strike of coal miners go into effect Saturday.

Col. W. S. Harrel, commander of the 16th Infantry, is commanding the battalion, which, it is said, will detain at Huntington, W. Va., and scatter in various towns. Infantry and machine gunners, the necessary medical detachment and staff officers left here on the first train shortly after 3 a. m. Two other trains followed, carrying more than 20 army motor trucks, and machine guns, rifles, small arms and ammunition.

Ammunition is being taken for extended service, said Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, commander of the First Division. He said he had received on Oct. 17, from the central department headquarters a request from Governor Corwell of West Virginia for troops in event of a strike.

Text of Order

The president's executive order follows: "Whereas, the United States fuel administrator acting under the authority of an executive order issued by me, dated the 23rd of August, 1917, appointing the said fuel administrator and of subsequent executive orders; and in furtherance of the purpose of said orders and of the act of congress thereon referred to and approved August 10, 1917, did on January 31, 1919, and on February 20, 1919, execute and issue orders suspending until further order by the president certain rules, regulations, orders and proclamations theretofore promulgated relating to the fixing of prices, the production, sale, shipment, distribution, apportionment, storage and use of coal, and whereas it is necessary to reissue and maintain during the war certain of said rules, regulations, orders and proclamations:

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, acting under authority of the aforesaid act of congress approved Aug. 10, 1917, do hereby revoke and annul said orders of Jan. 31, 1917, and February 20, 1919, to the extent necessary to restore all of the said rules, regulations, orders and proclamations therein suspended concerning:

"(a)—Extending prices of bituminous and lignite coal at the mines;

"(b)—Fixing or regulating commissions of persons and agencies performing the functions of middlemen dealing in bituminous and lignite coal;

"(c)—Fixing or regulating gross margins or prices of wholesale and retail dealers in bituminous and lignite coal; and do hereby restore all of said rules, regulations and proclamations to the extent herein provided, to full force and effect, as if they had not been suspended.

"Inasmuch as it is contemplated that it may be necessary from time to time to revoke other portions of said orders of Jan. 31, 1917, and Feb. 20, 1919, and to restore to full force and effect rules, regulations, orders and proclamations or portions thereof regulating the production, sale, shipment, distribution, apportionment, storage or use of bituminous and lignite coal, the fuel administrator shall on occasion arise, restore, change or make such rules or regulations relating to the production, sale, shipment, distribution, apportionment, storage or use of bituminous and lignite coal as in his judgment may be necessary.

Continued

In Boston before Judge Brown and

held in $2500 bail, which had not been obtained early this afternoon.

The charge made against Mrs. Sproule at arraignment this forenoon was violation of the anti-anarchy law, passed this year and which she, herself, strongly opposed, along with a dozen or more socialists, before the legislative committee just prior to its passage.

Mrs. Sproule, who two years ago was an unsuccessful candidate for a position on the Lowell school board and who this year is the socialist party's candidate for lieutenant governor, was arrested late last night on the steps of her home in Webster street by federal officers, assisted by Boston police and Lieut. David Petrie of the Lowell force. She was taken to Boston by automobile and placed in jail to await her arraignment in court this morning.

The warrant which caused her arrest did not specify the date on which the alleged false utterances were made, but it is said that they occurred at a meeting of socialists in Roxbury on Sunday, Oct. 19. The arresting officers waited at the Sproule home from 9 o'clock until 11:40 before Mrs. Sproule, accompanied by her husband, William E. Sproule, a local street car conductor, returned from a meeting they had attended during the evening.

It is said that Mrs. Sproule has been actively connected with the socialist party for some time and also is interested in the so-called communist party in Massachusetts, having but recently been chosen secretary of the state branch.

John R. Chuprina and Solomon Press were also held in $2500 bonds on charges of promoting anarchy and making revolutionary statements.

PROHIBITS SALE OF ALL LIQUOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—United States District Judge Augustus N. Hand today granted a temporary injunction at the request of the United States district attorney, prohibiting the sale of all liquor containing one-half of one per cent or more alcohol. Under the injunction saloon keepers who violate the prohibition enforcement law can be summarily arrested and imprisoned for contempt of court.

MATRIMONIAL

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place Wednesday evening when Miss Lena Collins, a Draught school teacher, and Mr. Matthew Wholey, a prominent business man of this city, were married at St. Mary's rectory, Collinsville, by Rev. M. C. Gilbride, assisted by Rev. F. A. McNeill. The bride was attired in white champagne and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Susan Fenlon, an aunt of the bride. She was becomingly attired in pink champagne and carried Killarney roses. The best man was Mr. Timothy Wholey, a brother of the groom and a student at Holy Angels' college, Buffalo. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a diamond pendant. The groom's gift to the best man was a pair of cuff links. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother in Mammoth road where a sumptuous wedding supper, served by Caterer Lydon, was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Wholey were the recipients of many beautiful wedding gifts. After the reception they left on an extended wedding trip which will include visits to New York, Washington, and other places. After Nov. 25 they will be at home to their friends at 1106 Mammoth road, Collinsville.

JAPAN RATIFIES PEACE TREATY

Ratification by Virtue of Imperial Action—No Action by Parliament

United States Now Only One of Five Great Powers Not To Ratify Pact

TOKIO, Thursday, Oct. 30.—The emperor today ratified the Versailles peace treaty.

Tokio advices received on Thursday announced the ratification of the German peace treaty by Japan. It is clear from the foregoing that the ratification was by virtue of imperial action. It was not preceded by any action by the parliament, the constitution of Japan not requiring the assent of the legislative body.

Previous advices had shown that the treaty had been examined by the privy council and that at a meeting on Monday it was approved by the council without reservation and submitted to the emperor.

Japan's favorable action leaves the pact unratified by only one of the five great powers signatory to the Versailles convention—the United States. It had previously been ratified by the parliaments of Great Britain and France, which later completed all the processes of ratification. Italy ratified the treaty by royal decree, which, it has been held, must have the approval of parliament. It seems to have been conceded, however, that the royal confirmation of the document was sufficient to bind Italy in her relations with the other powers.

This point, however, loses something in international importance by reason of Japan's ratification. The terms of the treaty stipulate that the ratification by three of the principal powers, puts it into effect as to those powers and Germany. Japan's ratification in addition to the definite approval of the document by Great Britain and France furnishes the required number of agreeing powers without regard to the action of Italy.

The only formality remaining in the issuance by the French government of a process verbal announcing the ratification made and declaring the treaty in effect. The European powers that have ratified have deposited copies of the ratified document in Paris. Japan will not be required to take this action, the treaty providing that powers of which the seat of government is outside Europe will be entitled merely to inform the French government through their diplomatic representative in Paris that their ratification has been given, the instrument of ratification to be deposited as soon as possible later.

cially to two issues, one the giving of a bonus to every young man of the commonwealth who served in the world war, and the other, the taking over of the water supply systems by the state.

Relative to the bonus proposition Mr. Nolan said that the $100 which is being given the soldiers and sailors under the present system is not in reality a bonus, but rather a tax on the families of the former service men. In many families, he said, the father and brothers of the men who are getting the $100 will be compelled to pay back a large part of this amount in $5 poll taxes for the next several years.

On the other hand, he pointed out, the bonus plan advocated by Mr. Long would give the soldier or sailor $300, a really substantial amount, and the burden of paying it would fall not on the families of the soldiers and sailors, but upon the wealthy residents of the state who would be taxed by a graduated system of income taxation. This plan, he said, was far more just and far more beneficial to the service men than the plan adopted in Governor Coolidge's administration.

Mr. Nolan also pleaded at length for the taking over of the water supply systems in Massachusetts by the state so that they could be run efficiently and without extravagance as under the present system. Under state supervision industries could be fostered and not impeded as is the case at the present time.

In closing, Mr. Nolan urged his listeners to give full support to the other democratic candidates on the ballot and made particular mention of Hon. John T. Sparks, candidate for senator. With such men as Mr. Sparks, he said, to support him, Mr. Long would be able to give a thoroughly American administration of the office of governor, the speaker said.
